Hydrogen Bomb Could Destroy Largest City

Strauss Tells Of Destructive Force Of Blast

Tests Add 'Enormous' Potential To Military Strength Of Nation

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said today this nation now can make hydrogen bombs so stupendously powerful that one can "destroy" the biggest city.

The two new hydrogen weapons tests have added an "enormous" potential to American military strength, he revealed.

Appearing at a White House news conference with President Eisenhower, the AEC chief did two things:

1. Gave an official estimate of the destructive force of the new thermonuclear bomb. He said it is possible to "destroy," "take out," even the vast metropolitan area of New York. Later he said he meant "put a city out of commission, not level it." Thus he used several descriptive phrases, leaving his listeners a choice.

Seeks To Allay Fears

2. Read a formal statement, the object of which appeared to be to allay fears at home and abroad about the two H-bomb tests conducted this month. Reaction is mounting in several nations, including Japan and England. A full-scale debate in Britain's Parliament on the subject of hydrogen bombs is scheduled.

Strauss told newsmen both the March 1 and March 26 hydrogen "shots" were successful; that no test is made without a definite purpose of improving military strength and readiness and that "there are no idle or wanton tests."

Of the March 1 blast, which flung fission ashes far outside the then established safety zone around the Marshall Islands proving grounds in the Pacific, Strauss insisted that reports of this explosion going out of control were exaggerated and mistaken. He commented:

Blast In Megaton Range

"I would not wish to minimize it. It was a stupendous blast in the megaton range, but at no time was the testing out of control."

A megaton is energy equaling that produced from an explosion of a million tons of standard TNT. The first atomic bomb was measured as 20 kilotons, or 20,000 tons.

Questioning converged on the power of the hydrogen explosive. How big is the area of destruction? Strauss said:

"Well, the nature of an H-bomb is that, in effect, it can be made as large as you wish, as large as the military requirement demands; that is to say, an H-bomb can be made large enough to take out a city, to destroy a city."

How big a city?

"Any city."

"The metropolitan area, yes."

T-H Act Revision Bill Is Approved By Senate Group

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee today approved, along straight party lines, a 12-point Taft-Hartley revision program which would give the states broad new powers to deal with labor dispute "emergencies."

Voted out of committee over violent protests of committee Democrats, who charged the Republicans with "steamroller" tactics, the measure incorporates most of President Eisenhower's Taft-Hartley recommendations sent to Congress last Jan. 11

The bill marks the first time since 1949 that the Senate Committee has reported out a bill changing the controversial 1947 law. The 1949 amendments were never enacted.

Broader Powers For States

Major points of controversy in the bill are two new sections which would appear to give the states extensive powers to deal with labor disputes, both those involving emergencies and those dealing with unfair labor practices and representation elections.

Language adopted by the committee only today, on a 7-6 party-line vote, spells out the right of states to pass and enforce laws to handle emergencies which "if permitted to occur, or continue, will constitute a clear and present danger to the health or safety of the people of the state." The Supreme Court has ruled state laws unconstitutional which go beyond provisions in the Taft-Hartley law. States may not legislate only in the field of compulsory unionism.

Applies To "Emergencies"

The new section would apply to all "emergencies" except those which the federal government is handling under the Taft-Hartley national emergency strike section, under which 80-day no-strike court orders may be obtained.

The other new section dealing with states rights would give the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) discretion to "decline to assert jurisdiction over any labor dispute where . . . the effect on commerce is not sufficiently substantial to warrant the exercise of its jurisdiction." If the board declined to assert its jurisdiction, state agencies could take the dispute over.

Bill Slashing Excise Taxes Signed By Ike

President Declares Reduction Of Levies Should Aid Business

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower signed today a bill that will cut excise taxes by 999 million dollars and save money for nearly everyone who spends any.

Eisenhower announced to a news conference that he would sign the measure. This and other tax reductions, he said, should help business.

Five hours later, the President put his name on the bill.

The Chief Executive made the tax announcement and one or two others, answered a few questions, and then turned over his news conference to Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission for a disclosure that:

The United States now can make a hydrogen bomb large enough to "destroy" any city in the world—put it out of commission, that is, if not actually flatten it.

Eisenhower himself told a questioner that some persons believe the degree to which Russia has opened up on details of hydrogen weapon explosions indicates some slight change of policy and a willingness to negotiate earnestly and honestly on turning atomic energy into peaceful channels. If there is any such intention, the President said, we would certainly welcome it in the situation the world is in today.

On taxes, Eisenhower said that along with other reductions already put into effect this year, the trimming of excise taxes puts a huge $7,400,000,000 into the hands of the people and he thinks this certainly will be a stimulating factor for business.

Some congressional Democrats have been needling the administration on grounds it didn't really want excise tax cuts but now is claiming credit for them and adopting the idea they will help business.

Three Senate Democrats, Humphrey of Minnesota, Douglas of Illinois and Long of Louisiana, accused the administration yesterday of failing to demonstrate leadership and take a firm stand on excise tax cuts while they were being debated in Senate and House. Now, they said, it is trying to reap the political benefit of the reductions.

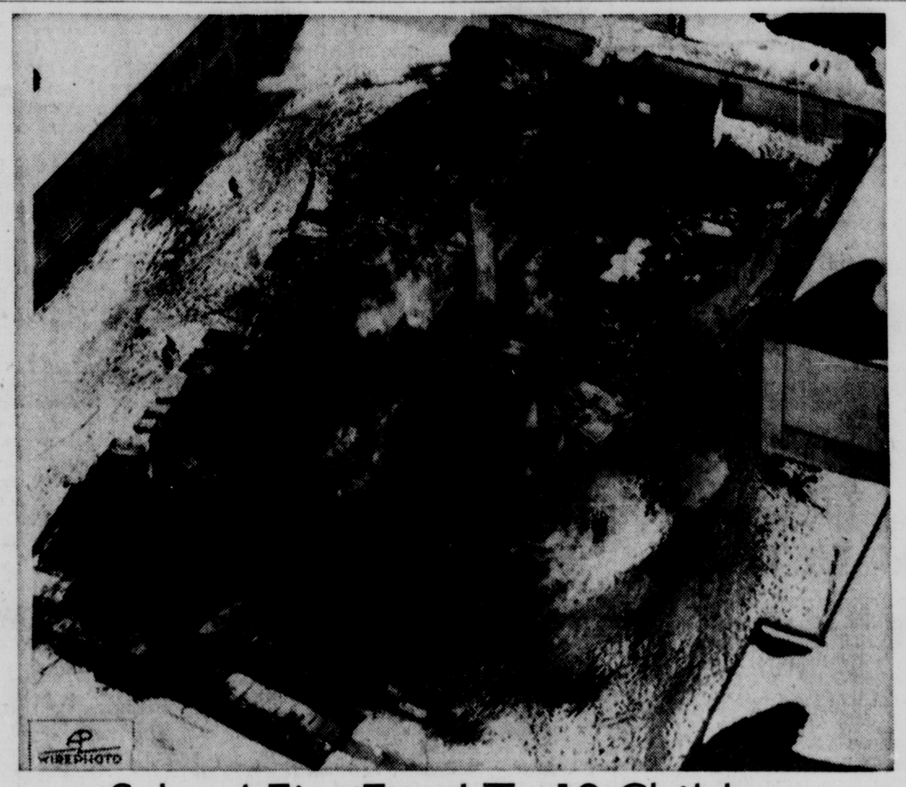
Churchill Sets H-Bomb Debate

LONDON, March 31 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today yielded to Laborite pressure and scheduled a debate in Parliament on the H-bomb. He hoped thereby to provide a safety valve for mounting pressure of British public concern over the awesome weapon.

The Laborite opposition had demanded a complete airing of the subject. The demands were fanned by calls in a wide section of the press for a new British initiative in international diplomacy to end the threat of nuclear warfare.

Churchill set the debate for next Monday and said "I propose to make a further statement myself and describe first of all the position which this country occupies and secondly the policy we are adopting in those circumstances."

10 Children Die In School Fire



School Fire Fatal To 10 Children

This air view shows charred remains of the elementary school annex at Cheektowaga, N. Y., in which 10 children lost their lives yesterday. Nineteen pupils and three teachers were injured in the fire. The eight-room frame building was between two brick wings of the main building.

19 Other Pupils, Three Teachers Injured In Blaze

CHEEKTOWAGA, N. Y., March 31 (AP)—Fire of explosive force ripped through the frame annex of the Cleveland Hill elementary school today, burning out the lives of 10 sixth grade pupils.

Nineteen pupils and three teachers were burned or injured, some seriously.

Hundreds of other youngsters, ranging from kindergarten tots to high school seniors, escaped injury although they were attending classes in new brick buildings only yards away.

The bodies of the victims were found pressed hopelessly against what was left of the window wall of the room in which they had been attending a music class. Scattered around them were smashed phonograph records and scraps of charred sheet music.

Building Completely Wrecked

School officials released the following list of names, reporting them only as "unaccounted for," since the bodies had not been specifically identified:

John Mendofik and Blaine Possl each 10, and Bruce Brand, Vern Bagley, Marlene Du Pont, Michael Hause, Elizabeth Lies, Reba Smith, Patricia Steger and Barbara Watkins, each 11.

The one-story building, about 100 feet long, was completely wrecked. Nothing was left standing but rows of blackened studs and a chimney.

The huge, yellow brick buildings of Cleveland Hill high school and Cleveland Hill elementary, connected with the burned-out annex by a long, enclosed walkway, were not seriously damaged.

Cause Of Fire Undetermined

The fire started just before classes were to be dismissed for the lunch hour. Nearby residents said they heard a soft, booming sound. One high school student called it a "thud-like puff."

Flames burst from the small-paned windows and quickly enveloped the structure.

The cause was not determined, but firemen said it might have started in a furnace or boiler in the building. The Board of Education of this rapidly expanding Buffalo suburban community promised a prompt investigation and report.

Russian Offer To Join NATO Termed Trick

Proposal Contingent On West Taking Part In Red Security Plan

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A surprise Moscow proposal for a "security" system drew a flat rejection tonight from the United States, which called it in effect a Trojan Horse trick to ruin the defenses of the Western world.

The Soviet Union offered to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) if the Western Powers would join a Russian-sponsored European security plan from which Germany would be barred.

Moscow dispatches said that as part of the same deal, the Soviet Union also called on the Western Powers to junk their plan for setting up a European Defense Community (EDC) to which a rearmed Germany would contribute troops.

The Russian proposals were contained in a 10-page note handed to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France by Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at Moscow.

"Inspires No Confidence"

A few hours later a State Department spokesman read newsmen a statement, saying:

"The present proposal of the Soviet Union inspires no confidence in the face of the continued iron grip of the Soviet Union on its captive peoples. It is a maneuver to gain admittance within the walls of the West to undermine its security."

In Washington there were many who regarded the Russian move as an attempt to deal a death blow to EDC, already bogged down in the French Parliament, and to trade on fears in many lands as a result of the growing potency of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The division of opinion in France over EDC was highlighted tonight as the French Cabinet, in extraordinary session, reprimanded Marshall Alphonse Juin and stripped him of two high posts for his criticism of the EDC plan for a united European army.

In a speech last weekend, Juin said EDC was unwieldy and should be replaced by some substitute measure. He said, however, he recognized the need of strengthening Western defenses with German manpower. Many Frenchmen balk at the idea of rearming Germans.

Attempt To Retrieve Failure

The American reaction to the Russian proposals was swift.

The United States' reply, which Secretary of State Dulles helped to draft, labeled the Russian proposal as an effort by Molotov to retrieve "diplomatic failure" at the Berlin Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

The statement recalled that, at Berlin last month, Molotov "adopted two lines of attack":

"First, he insisted that NATO was aggressive and should be abandoned.

"Secondly, he proposed, as a substitute, a 32-nation European security pact, from which the United States would be excluded other than as an 'observer' along with Red China."

But these maneuvers, the statement added, were unsuccessful and Molotov "now proposes that instead of doing away with NATO the Soviet Union should join it." Further, it said, Molotov now would include the United States as a participant in its "all-European security treaty."

Reds Lose 1,350 Men In Assault On Dien Bien Phu

HANOI, Indochina, March 31 (AP)—Thousands of Vietminh troops smashed at the French defenders of Dien Bien Phu today in a second big try at overwhelming the northwest Indochina fortress. At nightfall, the French — standing firm under the assault—announced they had killed 1,350 Communist-led rebels.

Fighting Still Rages

The rebels suffered their heaviest losses before two strongpoints of the fortress, where they hurled two divisions—up to 20,000 men—in the attack. The French counted 300 Vietminh bodies dangling in barbed wires at one eastern position.

Wildly screaming rebel troops sprang from foxholes and long winding trenches around the fortress, and came down from the hills in the new effort to score a major victory in the 7-year-old Indochina War. Violent fighting still raged almost 24 hours after the attack was launched at dusk yesterday.

Earlier Red Attempt Failed

A first attempt to crush the fortress under massive infantry assault failed a little over two weeks ago. The French said they inflicted at least 12,000 casualties on the rebels before they broke off their attack. Since then the rebels have been bringing reinforcements and supplies into the jungle hills ringing the oval-shaped plains fortress, and digging fox holes and trenches within 200 yards of Dien Bien Phu's barbed wire barricades.

Eisenhower Accepts Warren's Resignation

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower today accepted with "great regret" the resignation of Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren, effective April 30.

Warren had disclosed earlier that he wanted to retire because of ill health after serving 13½ years as "congressional watchdog" over federal spending during the Roosevelt, Truman, and Eisenhower administrations.

Eisenhower said in a letter made public by the White House it was "unfortunate from every viewpoint" that Warren's health would not permit him to serve out his full term.

House Unit Approves Wiretapping Measure

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A bill to legalize wiretapping in national security cases was approved by the House Judiciary Committee today and sent to the House, where it seemed sure of passage probably next week.

Under present law, evidence obtained by wiretapping is not admissible in federal courts.

Transcontinental Prop Plane Speed Record Shattered

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Joe Debona set a transcontinental speed record for piston-engined planes today by flashing an F51 Mustang fighter from Los Angeles to New York in 4 hours, 24 minutes and 17 seconds.

The old record of 4 hours, 52 minutes and 53 seconds was set in 1950 by Paul Mantz. Debona fell short of his goal of also smashing the jet plane record of 4 hours, 8 minutes and 5 seconds.

He said he flew at an altitude of between 33,000 and 34,000 feet at an average speed of about 550 miles an hour. He hit a top speed of 585 miles an hour. Tailwinds helped.

House Approves Agencies' Funds

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Beating down efforts to raise the total, the House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill carrying $5,566,118,765 to finance various independent government agencies during the year starting July 1.

The figure, the exact amount recommended by its appropriations committee, is $363,604,837, or 6.2 per cent, below the amount President Eisenhower has asked for the agencies.

Major efforts to change the money total were made on behalf of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). Its supporters sought primarily to provide money for new steam generating plants in the TVA system, but they were outvoted.

The TVA ended up with an appropriation of $103,582,000 for the fiscal year, a figure $38,218,000 less than Eisenhower has asked and 84 millions below the current appropriation.

The greatest single allotment went to the Veterans Administration. That agency was voted $3,779,432,800, or more than two-thirds of the bill's total.

The Atomic Energy Commission's share was $1,189,960,700, mainly for its weapons program.

The remaining $493,143,263 is to be shared by 25 other federal agencies.

Two Diverted Liners Dock At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP)—Passenger business in Baltimore harbor continued to soar today as two more liners docked from here to take aboard a total of 1,150 ocean travelers.

The Moore-McCormack liner Brazil and the Holland-American liner Ryndam were in port, both due to sail tomorrow. The Brazil will take on 250 passengers brought here by special train from New York and the Ryndam will embark 900.

Both vessels were diverted here because of the strike on New York docks.

New York Dock Strike Appears Near Collapse

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP) — A 27-day-old waterfront strike, longest in New York's history, appeared to be breaking up. The striking union found itself staring bankruptcy in the face.

In Federal Court, the National Labor Relations Board demanded nearly 1½ million in fines against the striking International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind). The ILA is so broke it has been running on money advanced by John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers (Ind).

In Washington, President Eisenhower said the federal government is ready to move in if necessary. His statement at a news conference was his strongest to date on the multimillion dollar strike.

In the vast harbor itself, there was a slow but steady back to work trend.

By court order, 4,000 tugboat men ended their strike in sympathy with the ILA. Warehousemen also were back on the job after their sympathy walkout fizzled in less than 24 hours.

On the piers themselves, nearly 4,500 non-striking AFL dockers were at work — the second day in a row their numbers passed the 4,000 mark. Normally, about 20,000 of the port's 24,000 longshoremen are working ships.

There were reports the battered ILA was about ready to throw in the sponge. But the union, itself, showed no signs of giving up the struggle with its AFL rival.

Cancer Control Month

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower today proclaimed April as cancer control month and urged everybody to unite "in public dedication to a program for the control of cancer."

Northern Half Of U. S. Continues To Shiver

[By The Associated Press]

A wintry chill continued in the northern half of the nation Wednesday, extending southward in the central portion into Texas.

Midday temperatures were below freezing over the northern Rockies eastward through the Upper Mississippi Valley and northern Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were generally in the 40s in the Ohio River Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Readings in the Far West ranged from 43 at Seattle to 62 in Los Angeles. Warm weather prevailed in the Gulf states with readings in the 70s, 80s and 90s.

305 Witnesses Balked

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Rep. Busbey (R-Ill) told the House today 305 witnesses before congressional committees last year refused to answer questions and claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

Jordan Protests Israeli Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 31 (AP) — Jordan today called for "drastic and immediate action" to prevent Israel from making any more raids similar to the one on the village of Nahalin Sunday which took nine Arab lives.

Foreign Minister Hussein F. Khalidi of Jordan filed a complaint with the U. N. in which he described the attack of Nahalin as a "murderous, aggressive, unwarranted military action" on the part of Israel. He did not make any formal request for a meeting of the Security Council or other U. N. body, but asked that his complaint be sent to the council and all 60 U. N. members.

Abba Eban, Israel's ambassador to the U. N., lodged a counter-complaint, alleging violations of the Israel-Jordan general armistice agreement. Eban accused the Arab Legion of Jordan and armed marauders from Jordan of attacks on Israeli villages and border patrols.

Factory Layoff Rate Goes Down

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — The Labor Department reported today that the layoff rate of factory workers showed the first decline in February since employment began its downturn in mid-1953.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the layoff rate dropped from 28 per 1,000 employes in January to 23 in February. The bureau said this is somewhat grreater than the usual decrease between these months in the post-war years.

February hiring was slightly less than in January, and remained at a post-war low for the season.

The bureau said that among industries reporting fewer layoffs in February than in January were primary and fabricated metals, transportation equipment, food, tobacco, textiles, paper, petroleum, and miscellaneous manufacturing.

Russia Again Cuts Prices

MOSCOW, March 31 (AP)—The Soviet government tonight announced price cuts ranging from 5 to 45 per cent on a few foods and numerous consumer goods in state retail stores. It was the seventh consecutive price reduction since the end of World War II.

"Stupid Accident"

Corinne Calvet Denies She Attempted To Take Own Life

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 31 (AP) — Corinne Calvet, voluptuous French actress who got her name on a police blotter today as an attempted suicide, told a press conference it was all "a stupid accident. I love life."

Reporters were called to her home in Beverly Glen less than eight hours after a stomach pump at Santa Monica Emergency Hospital removed what police said was an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Calvet, 27, always one of Hollywood's most publicity-wise actresses, met a roomful of newsmen while she was wearing a flimsy negligee over a low cut chiffon nightie.

Police had been summoned to her home early today by her roommate, Miss Betty Woods, who found her lying unconscious on the bathroom floor. Miss Calvet, speaking softly in her famed French accent, said she made the rounds of three nightclubs last night with her ex-husband, John Bromfield. She and the actor were divorced only two weeks ago.

"My doctor had told me to take two sleeping pills at night to help me sleep. I came home, took two but started shaking. I thought maybe I was getting used to them so took two more."

She said there is no reconciliation in sight with Bromfield but added:

"After six years of living together it gets to be a habit discussing your affairs with someone. John and I go out at least once a week. John is such a nice habit."

Helped Arrest Hall

Ex-Cop Convicted Of Lying About Greenlease Ransom

KANSAS CITY, March 31 (AP)—Elmer Dolan, one-time policeman hero of the Greenlease kidnaping case, today was found guilty of lying about how he handled the ransom money.

A Federal District Court jury returned the verdict late this afternoon against the former St. Louis policeman after deliberating three and a half hours.

Dolan's attorney said he would file a motion for a new trial. Judge Albert A. Ridge deferred sentencing and set April 15 as the deadline for filing the motion. Dolan is free on $7,500 bond.

Dolan helped arrest Carl Austin Hall, one of the kidnap-slayers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease. He was convicted of giving false testimony to a federal grand jury when he said he carried into a St. Louis police station one of the suitcases containing ransom money shortly after Hall was arrested and booked.

Dolan had told the grand jury that it was only a matter of minutes before he took the suitcase into the police station after Hall and Lieut. Louis Shoulders went into the station.

The grand jury indictment of Dolan and Shoulders stemmed from the disappearance of $303,720 of the record $600,000 ransom paid to Hall and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady. Shoulders goes on trial on a similar charge April 12.

Hall and Mrs. Heady were executed for the kidnaping and slaying of the son of a wealthy Kansas City motor car dealer.

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A surprise Moscow proposal for a "security" system drew a flat rejection tonight from the United States, which called it in effect a Trojan Horse trick to ruin the defenses of the Western world.

The Soviet Union offered to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) if the Western Powers would join a Russian-sponsored European security plan from which Germany would be barred.

Moscow dispatches said that as part of the same deal, the Soviet Union also called on the Western Powers to junk their plan for setting up a European Defense Community (EDC) to which a rearmed Germany would contribute troops.

The Russian proposals were contained in a 10-page note handed to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France by Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov at Moscow.

"Inspires No Confidence"

A few hours later a State Department spokesman read newsmen a statement, saying:

"The present proposal of the Soviet Union inspires no confidence in the face of the continued iron grip of the Soviet Union on its captive peoples. It is a maneuver to gain admittance within the walls of the West to undermine its security."

In Washington there were many who regarded the Russian move as an attempt to deal a death blow to EDC, already bogged down in the French Parliament, and to trade on fears in many lands as a result of the growing potency of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The division of opinion in France over EDC was highlighted tonight as the French Cabinet, in extraordinary session, reprimanded Marshall Alphonse Juin and stripped him of two high posts for his criticism of the EDC plan for a united European army.

In a speech last weekend, Juin said EDC was unwieldy and should be replaced by some substitute measure. He said, however, he recognized the need of strengthening Western defenses with German manpower. Many Frenchmen balk at the idea of rearming Germans.

Attempt To Retrieve Failure

The American reaction to the Russian proposals was swift.

The United States' reply, which Secretary of State Dulles helped to draft, labeled the Russian proposal as an effort by Molotov to retrieve "diplomatic failure" at the Berlin Big Four foreign ministers meeting.

The statement recalled that, at Berlin last month, Molotov "adopted two lines of attack":

"First, he insisted that NATO was aggressive and should be abandoned.

"Secondly, he proposed, as a substitute, a 32-nation European security pact, from which the United States would be excluded other than as an 'observer' along with Red China."

But these maneuvers, the statement added, were unsuccessful and Molotov "now proposes that instead of doing away with NATO the Soviet Union should join it." Further, it said, Molotov now would include the United States as a participant in its "all-European security treaty."

Reds Lose 1,350 Men In Assault On Dien Bien Phu

Fighting Still Rages

The rebels suffered their heaviest losses before two strongpoints of the fortress, where they hurled two divisions—up to 20,000 men—in the attack. The French counted 300 Vietminh bodies dangling in barbed wires at one eastern position.

Wildly screaming rebel troops sprang from foxholes and long winding trenches around the fortress, and came down from the hills in the new effort to score a major victory in the 7-year-old Indochina War. Violent fighting still raged almost 24 hours after the attack was launched at dusk yesterday.

Earlier Red Attempt Failed

A first attempt to crush the fortress under massive infantry assault failed a little over two weeks ago. The French said they inflicted at least 12,000 casualties on the rebels before they broke off their attack. Since then the rebels have been bringing reinforcements and supplies into the jungle hills ringing the oval-shaped plains fortress, and digging fox holes and trenches within 200 yards of Dien Bien Phu's barbed wire barricades.

Eisenhower Accepts Warren's Resignation

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower today accepted with "great regret" the resignation of Comptroller General Lindsay C. Warren, effective April 30.

Warren had disclosed earlier that he wanted to retire because of ill health after serving 13½ years as "congressional watchdog" over federal spending during the Roosevelt, Truman, and Eisenhower administrations.

Eisenhower said in a letter made public by the White House it was "unfortunate from every viewpoint" that Warren's health would not permit him to serve out his full term.

House Unit Approves Wiretapping Measure

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A bill to legalize wiretapping in national security cases was approved by the House Judiciary Committee today and sent to the House, where it seemed sure of passage probably next week.

Under present law, evidence obtained by wiretapping is not admissible in federal courts.

Transcontinental Prop Plane Speed Record Shattered

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—Joe Debona set a transcontinental speed record for piston-engined planes today by flashing an F51 Mustang fighter from Los Angeles to New York in 4 hours, 24 minutes and 17 seconds.

The old record of 4 hours, 52 minutes and 53 seconds was set in 1950 by Paul Mantz. Debona fell short of his goal of also smashing the jet plane record of 4 hours, 8 minutes and 5 seconds.

He said he flew at an altitude of between 33,000 and 34,000 feet at an average speed of about 550 miles an hour. He hit a top speed of 585 miles an hour. Tailwinds helped.

House Approves Agencies' Funds

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Beating down efforts to raise the total, the House passed and sent to the Senate today a bill carrying $5,566,118,765 to finance various independent government agencies during the year starting July 1.

The figure, the exact amount recommended by its appropriations committee, is $363,604,837, or 6.2 per cent, below the amount President Eisenhower has asked for the agencies.

Major efforts to change the money total were made on behalf of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA). Its supporters sought primarily to provide money for new steam generating plants in the TVA system, but they were outvoted.

The TVA ended up with an appropriation of $103,582,000 for the fiscal year, a figure $38,218,000 less than Eisenhower has asked and 84 millions below the current appropriation.

The greatest single allotment went to the Veterans Administration. That agency was voted $3,779,432,800, or more than two-thirds of the bill's total.

The Atomic Energy Commission's share was $1,189,960,700, mainly for its weapons program.

The remaining $493,143,263 is to be shared by 25 other federal agencies.

Two Diverted Liners Dock At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP)—Passenger business in Baltimore harbor continued to soar today as two more liners docked from here to take aboard a total of 1,150 ocean travelers.

The Moore-McCormack liner Brazil and the Holland-American liner Ryndam were in port, both due to sail tomorrow. The Brazil will take on 250 passengers brought here by special train from New York and the Ryndam will embark 900.

Both vessels were diverted here because of the strike on New York docks.

New York Dock Strike Appears Near Collapse

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP) — A 27-day-old waterfront strike, longest in New York's history, appeared to be breaking up. The striking union found itself staring bankruptcy in the face.

In Federal Court, the National Labor Relations Board demanded nearly 1½ million in fines against the striking International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind). The ILA is so broke it has been running on money advanced by John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers (Ind).

In Washington, President Eisenhower said the federal government is ready to move in if necessary. His statement at a news conference was his strongest to date on the multimillion dollar strike.

In the vast harbor itself, there was a slow but steady back to work trend.

By court order, 4,000 tugboat men ended their strike in sympathy with the ILA. Warehousemen also were back on the job after their sympathy walkout fizzled in less than 24 hours.

On the piers themselves, nearly 4,500 non-striking AFL dockers were at work — the second day in a row their numbers passed the 4,000 mark. Normally, about 20,000 of the port's 24,000 longshoremen are working ships.

There were reports the battered ILA was about ready to throw in the sponge. But the union, itself, showed no signs of giving up the struggle with its AFL rival.

Cancer Control Month

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower today proclaimed April as cancer control month and urged everybody to unite "in public dedication to a program for the control of cancer."

Northern Half Of U. S. Continues To Shiver

[By The Associated Press]

A wintry chill continued in the northern half of the nation Wednesday, extending southward in the central portion into Texas.

Midday temperatures were below freezing over the northern Rockies eastward through the Upper Mississippi Valley and northern Great Lakes region.

Temperatures were generally in the 40s in the Ohio River Valley eastward to the Atlantic Coast. Readings in the Far West ranged from 43 at Seattle to 62 in Los Angeles. Warm weather prevailed in the Gulf states with readings in the 70s, 80s and 90s.

305 Witnesses Balked

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Rep. Busbey (R-Ill) told the House today 305 witnesses before congressional committees last year refused to answer questions and claimed the protection of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

Factory Layoff Rate Goes Down

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — The Labor Department reported today that the layoff rate of factory workers showed the first decline in February since employment began its downturn in mid-1953.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said the layoff rate dropped from 28 per 1,000 employes in January to 23 in February. The bureau said this is somewhat grreater than the usual decrease between these months in the post-war years.

February hiring was slightly less than in January, and remained at a post-war low for the season.

The bureau said that among industries reporting fewer layoffs in February than in January were primary and fabricated metals, transportation equipment, food, tobacco, textiles, paper, petroleum, and miscellaneous manufacturing.

Russia Again Cuts Prices

MOSCOW, March 31 (AP)—The Soviet government tonight announced price cuts ranging from 5 to 45 per cent on a few foods and numerous consumer goods in state retail stores. It was the seventh consecutive price reduction since the end of World War II.

"Stupid Accident"

Corinne Calvet Denies She Attempted To Take Own Life

WEST LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 31 (AP) — Corinne Calvet, voluptuous French actress who got her name on a police blotter today as an attempted suicide, told a press conference it was all "a stupid accident. I love life."

Reporters were called to her home in Beverly Glen less than eight hours after a stomach pump at Santa Monica Emergency Hospital removed what police said was an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Calvet, 27, always one of Hollywood's most publicity-wise actresses, met a roomful of newsmen while she was wearing a flimsy negligee over a low cut chiffon nightie.

Police had been summoned to her home early today by her roommate, Miss Betty Woods, who found her lying unconscious on the bathroom floor. Miss Calvet, speaking softly in her famed French accent, said she made the rounds of three nightclubs last night with her ex-husband, John Bromfield. She and the actor were divorced only two weeks ago.

"My doctor had told me to take two sleeping pills at night to help me sleep. I came home, took two but started shaking. I thought maybe I was getting used to them so took two more."

She said there is no reconciliation in sight with Bromfield but added:

"After six years of living together it gets to be a habit discussing your affairs with someone. John and I go out at least once a week. John is such a nice habit."

Helped Arrest Hall

Ex-Cop Convicted Of Lying About Greenlease Ransom

KANSAS CITY, March 31 (AP)—Elmer Dolan, one-time policeman hero of the Greenlease kidnaping case, today was found guilty of lying about how he handled the ransom money.

A Federal District Court jury returned the verdict late this afternoon against the former St. Louis policeman after deliberating three and a half hours.

Dolan's attorney said he would file a motion for a new trial. Judge Albert A. Ridge deferred sentencing and set April 15 as the deadline for filing the motion. Dolan is free on $7,500 bond.

Dolan helped arrest Carl Austin Hall, one of the kidnap-slayers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease. He was convicted of giving false testimony to a federal grand jury when he said he carried into a St. Louis police station one of the suitcases containing ransom money shortly after Hall was arrested and booked.

Dolan had told the grand jury that it was only a matter of minutes before he took the suitcase into the police station after Hall and Lieut. Louis Shoulders went into the station.

The grand jury indictment of Dolan and Shoulders stemmed from the disappearance of $303,720 of the record $600,000 ransom paid to Hall and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady. Shoulders goes on trial on a similar charge April 12.

Hall and Mrs. Heady were executed for the kidnaping and slaying of the son of a wealthy Kansas City motor car dealer.

Jordan Protests Israeli Attack

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., March 31 (AP) — Jordan today called for "drastic and immediate action" to prevent Israel from making any more raids similar to the one on the village of Nahalin Sunday which took nine Arab lives.

Foreign Minister Hussein F. Khalidi of Jordan filed a complaint with the U. N. in which he described the attack of Nahalin as a "murderous, aggressive, unwarranted military action" on the part of Israel. He did not make any formal request for a meeting of the Security Council or other U. N. body, but asked that his complaint be sent to the council and all 60 U. N. members.

Abba Eban, Israel's ambassador to the U. N., lodged a counter-complaint, alleging violations of the Israel-Jordan general armistice agreement. Eban accused the Arab Legion of Jordan and armed marauders from Jordan of attacks on Israeli villages and border patrols.

Ike Urges Readiness To Meet Red Menace

Does Not Rule Out Use Of American Forces In Asia

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower declared today that the free nations should be prepared to meet any kind of Communist attack against southeast Asia because of that area's great value to the free world.

He did not completely rule out the possibility of using some American forces under a plan of united action.

In the light of the President's comments at a news conference today and Secretary of State Dulles' heavy emphasis on the vital importance of southeast Asia in a speech Monday night, the impression is growing here that the United States will eventually become more deeply involved in the Indochina war than it now is.

Discussion over moves that might be taken to assist the native Indochinese and French forces to stand off the Reds spread to Congress today. Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said the United States should get the forces of Pacific free nations into the fight if they are needed.

President Eisenhower discussed the situation when he was asked to comment on Dulles' statement of Monday night that the loss of southeast Asia would be a "grave threat" to the free world and that the free nations should take "united action" to meet the threat.

The President endorsed Dulles' statement without reservation and explained his own views in terms which not only covered southeast Asia but also other local or limited conflicts which might arise in the future.

He made clear that the "new look" or "massive retaliation" policy which the administration has laid down as the heart of its grand strategy for opposing Communistic expansion does not by any means preclude the fighting of small wars. But it does heavily stress the importance of the United States not becoming involved in those conflicts with any very great commitment of forces.

Reports Add To Tension In Holy Land

JERUSALEM, March 31 (AP)—Reports of Palestine border shootings and of Arab and Israeli troop movements heightened tension in the Holy Land today.

The Jewish Telegraph Agency said Arab Legion troops in full battle dress moved into the Jordan-held old city of Jerusalem and began digging fortifications.

In Damascus, Syria's Defense Minister Marone Dawaleeby said Israeli troops are massing along the Syria-Israel frontier.

"Our information confirms a Jewish troop concentration in the frontier area and we have received a report that they are also digging trenches close to our frontier," Dawaleeby said.

An Israeli army spokesman in Tel Aviv made no reference to the Syrian border but said the situation along the Israel-Jordan armistice line has "deteriorated" further.

He said there have been 25 incidents on the Israeli side of the border by Jordanians in the past two weeks.

Gen. Cannon Retires

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Four star general John K. Cannon, the officer of highest permanent rank in the U. S. Air Force, retired today. He is 62. The commander of the Tactical Air Command ended a 37-year military career at retirement ceremonies at nearby Bolling Air Force Base.

35,000 Housing Units Authorized, Ike, Martin Say

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — President Eisenhower and House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) struck through a mob of confusion today to declare that the House in effect has authorized construction of 35,000 public housing units in the next year.

Others, among them Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the House Appropriations Committee, had contended that House action yesterday in knocking out a 20,000-unit limit had killed any provision for new starts. Without that, Taber said, "The housing program will be dead."

President Eisenhower has recommended construction of 35,000 units a year for each of the next four years.

Martin said 35,000 units could be constructed in the year starting July 1 under authority of laws passed in previous years. And he said Republicans would move to amend an omnibus housing measure now pending before the House to authorize another 35,000 units the following year.

The speaker said that was satisfactory to the Eisenhower administration. He said the administration had no objection to taking up the later years on a year-by-year basis.

President Eisenhower spoke out at his news conference. He expressed delight that House Republican leaders were able, as he put it, to assure funds for construction of 35,000 public housing units during the next year. He did not go into detail.

Fairchild Acquires Helicopter Company

HAGERSTOWN, March 31 (AP) — Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp. formally announced today the acquisition of the American Helicopter Co., Manhattan Beach, Calif., and its subsidiary, Plastics Research, Costa Mesa, Calif.

Richard S. Boutelle, Fairchild president, said the transaction resulted from more than a year of planning by Fairchild to enter the field of rotary-wing aircraft.

He added that it was the first time in recent years that a major Eastern aircraft corporation had set up a West Coast division. The company will be operated as Fairchild's American Helicopter Division, with Corwin D. Denney, American's president, becoming general manager of the division.

The new division also has a plant at Mesa, Ariz., 26 miles east of Phoenix. American Helicopter designed, built and flight tested the first successful pulse-jet propelled, two-place experimental helicopter, the XA5 Top Sergeant.

HOLLYWOOD, March 31 (AP) — Multimillionaire Howard Hughes wrote a personal check for $23,489,478 today to become the sole owner of RKO pictures.

The actual transfer of the stock, one of the largest single deals in history of American finance, took place at Wilmington, Del., between Hughes' representatives and officers of the movie corporation.

300 Inoculated Against Jaundice

POOLESVILLE, Md., March 31 (AP)—Montgomery County health authorities gave gamma globulin shots to more than 300 students and teachers here today in a move to check an epidemic of yellow jaundice that has struck 50 since January.

More than half the 636 students, teachers and employes of the elementary and high schools were given the injections. The remainder will be inoculated tomorrow.

The operation is the first of its kind in the county.

Mrs. Virginia Hersperger, elementary school director, said the shots were being given only with parental consent. Parents of 90 per cent of the children agreed, she said.

Dr. Audrey McDonald, assistant county health officer, is conducting the inoculations. She said the gamma globulin should provide protection from yellow jaundice for about a month. It is expected the epidemic will have waned by then, she said.

SANTA FE, N.M. March 31 (AP)—Capt. David French Boyd, last survivor of the battleship Maine disaster, died yesterday in Albuquerque. He was 77.

A Santa Fean for years, he had lived in Albuquerque the last four months.

Boyd, then a midshipman, and 77 others escaped when the Maine blew up in Havana harbor, Feb. 15, 1898, precipitating the Spanish-American War.

Jurors Consider Fraud Charges Against Piracci

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — A jury of four women and eight men deliberated tonight the case of Dominic Piracci, Baltimore contractor charged with conspiracy to defraud the city of nearly $43,000 in construction of an off-street parking garage.

The jury retired after hearing five hours of judicial charge and legal arguments climaxing seven days of testimony.

No word had been received more than five hours later.

State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro argued in closing the State's case that it was "an inescapable conclusion that Albert Haar and Samuel Winik in promoting their parking garage known as Baltimore Garages, Inc., had entered into a conspiracy and agreement with Piracci and the Piracci Construction Co. so that Haar and Winik could get a $300,000 garage property on city financing without putting up the 15 per cent proportion which the city required of private promoters."

He contended Piracci made it possible for the operators to erect their garage "without hardly putting up a nickel."

Haar and Winik and Baltimore Garages, Inc. were convicted two weeks ago on the same fraud-conspiracy charge. Piracci and his firm were tried separately after asking a jury trial.

The trial was before Circuit Judges John T. Tucker and Emory H. Niles who convicted Haar and Winik.

Sodaro and his assistants argued Piracci used money advanced by the city as 85 per cent of the building cost to supply Haar and Winik with the $42,996 they needed to meet their 15 per cent obligation.

Vandals Break Window In Home Of Liberace

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif., March 31 (AP)—Vandals yesterday tossed a beer can through a picture window in the new $150,000 home of pianist Liberace, his mother told police.

Mrs. Frances Liberace said four youngsters had been bothering her four days by ringing the doorbell, shouting obnoxious comments and stealing a mailbox which had been decorated with her son's baby grand piano symbol.

Liberace, who moved into the ultra-modern home last December, is currently on tour.

Grocery Chain Drops Butter Price 10 Cents

PHILADELPHIA, March 31 (AP)—Food Fair Stores, Inc., announced today it has reduced butter prices in its 150 markets in a five-state area up to 10 cents, effective immediately.

The company said its most popular grade of butter was cut from 73 cents a pound to 63 cents and its highest grade from 75 to 66 cents a pound in stores in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland Pennsylvania.

The action anticipated by one day an eight-cents-a-pound drop in government price supports: from 66½ to 58¼.

Navy Plans Third Atom Sub, Another Mammoth Flattop

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A third atomic submarine and a third 65,000-ton aircraft carrier of the Forrestal Class are included among 30 ships the Navy will start building during the year starting July 1.

Rear Adm. B. E. Manseau, acting chief of the Bureau of Ships, outlined the construction plans to the House Armed Services Committee. He said the new construction all will be done by private shipyards because the Navy wants to keep "a nucleus of private yards skilled in the construction of large combatant types."

Butter Supports Will Drop Today

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Two Democratic senators tried vainly today to get Senate action on moves to prevent the scheduled drop in government price supports for dairy products tomorrow.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) told the Senate speculators stand to make great profits when the support price for butter, cheese and dried milk is cut from 90 per cent of parity to 75.

Declaring "a scandal is brewing," Humphrey asked Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader who usually sets the Senate's work schedule, to allow immediate Senate consideration of steps to void "this foolish act."

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) also protested what he described as the refusal of the GOP leadership to permit a vote today on various resolution to suspend the order, issued by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, while Congress works out permanent dairy legislation.

HAGERSTOWN, March 31 (AP) — Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp. formally announced today the acquisition of the American Helicopter Co., Manhattan Beach, Calif., and its subsidiary, Plastics Research, Costa Mesa, Calif.

Richard S. Boutelle, Fairchild president, said the transaction resulted from more than a year of planning by Fairchild to enter the field of rotary-wing aircraft.

He added that it was the first time in recent years that a major Eastern aircraft corporation had set up a West Coast division. The company will be operated as Fairchild's American Helicopter Division, with Corwin D. Denney, American's president, becoming general manager of the division.

The new division also has a plant at Mesa, Ariz., 26 miles east of Phoenix. American Helicopter designed, built and flight tested the first successful pulse-jet propelled, two-place experimental helicopter, the XA5 Top Sergeant.

It made Hughes the first individual ever to become sole owner of a major motion picture producing company.

300 Inoculated Against Jaundice

POOLESVILLE, Md., March 31 (AP)—Montgomery County health authorities gave gamma globulin shots to more than 300 students and teachers here today in a move to check an epidemic of yellow jaundice that has struck 50 since January.

More than half the 636 students, teachers and employes of the elementary and high schools were given the injections. The remainder will be inoculated tomorrow.

The operation is the first of its kind in the county.

Mrs. Virginia Hersperger, elementary school director, said the shots were being given only with parental consent. Parents of 90 per cent of the children agreed, she said.

Dr. Audrey McDonald, assistant county health officer, is conducting the inoculations. She said the gamma globulin should provide protection from yellow jaundice for about a month. It is expected the epidemic will have waned by then, she said.

Jurors Consider Fraud Charges Against Piracci

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — A jury of four women and eight men deliberated tonight the case of Dominic Piracci, Baltimore contractor charged with conspiracy to defraud the city of nearly $43,000 in construction of an off-street parking garage.

The jury retired after hearing five hours of judicial charge and legal arguments climaxing seven days of testimony.

No word had been received more than five hours later.

State's Attorney Anselm Sodaro argued in closing the State's case that it was "an inescapable conclusion that Albert Haar and Samuel Winik in promoting their parking garage known as Baltimore Garages, Inc., had entered into a conspiracy and agreement with Piracci and the Piracci Construction Co. so that Haar and Winik could get a $300,000 garage property on city financing without putting up the 15 per cent proportion which the city required of private promoters."

He contended Piracci made it possible for the operators to erect their garage "without hardly putting up a nickel."

Haar and Winik and Baltimore Garages, Inc. were convicted two weeks ago on the same fraud-conspiracy charge. Piracci and his firm were tried separately after asking a jury trial.

The trial was before Circuit Judges John T. Tucker and Emory H. Niles who convicted Haar and Winik.

Sodaro and his assistants argued Piracci used money advanced by the city as 85 per cent of the building cost to supply Haar and Winik with the $42,996 they needed to meet their 15 per cent obligation.

Vandals Break Window In Home Of Liberace

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif., March 31 (AP)—Vandals yesterday tossed a beer can through a picture window in the new $150,000 home of pianist Liberace, his mother told police.

Mrs. Frances Liberace said four youngsters had been bothering her four days by ringing the doorbell, shouting obnoxious comments and stealing a mailbox which had been decorated with her son's baby grand piano symbol.

Liberace, who moved into the ultra-modern home last December, is currently on tour.

Grocery Chain Drops Butter Price 10 Cents

PHILADELPHIA, March 31 (AP)—Food Fair Stores, Inc., announced today it has reduced butter prices in its 150 markets in a five-state area up to 10 cents, effective immediately.

The company said its most popular grade of butter was cut from 73 cents a pound to 63 cents and its highest grade from 75 to 66 cents a pound in stores in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland Pennsylvania.

The action anticipated by one day an eight-cents-a-pound drop in government price supports: from 66½ to 58¼.

Navy Plans Third Atom Sub, Another Mammoth Flattop

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP)—A third atomic submarine and a third 65,000-ton aircraft carrier of the Forrestal Class are included among 30 ships the Navy will start building during the year starting July 1.

Rear Adm. B. E. Manseau, acting chief of the Bureau of Ships, outlined the construction plans to the House Armed Services Committee. He said the new construction all will be done by private shipyards because the Navy wants to keep "a nucleus of private yards skilled in the construction of large combatant types."

Butter Supports Will Drop Today

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Two Democratic senators tried vainly today to get Senate action on moves to prevent the scheduled drop in government price supports for dairy products tomorrow.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) told the Senate speculators stand to make great profits when the support price for butter, cheese and dried milk is cut from 90 per cent of parity to 75.

Declaring "a scandal is brewing," Humphrey asked Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader who usually sets the Senate's work schedule, to allow immediate Senate consideration of steps to void "this foolish act."

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) also protested what he described as the refusal of the GOP leadership to permit a vote today on various resolution to suspend the order, issued by Secretary of Agriculture Benson, while Congress works out permanent dairy legislation.

Tawes Reminds State Taxpayers Deadline April 15

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes reminded Maryland taxpayers today that the deadline for filing state income tax returns is April 15.

State law requires all Maryland residents who had a gross income of more than $1,000, if single, and of more than $2,000, if married, to file a return.

The form for filing provides two methods of preparing a return. One method, open to taxpayers whose gross income was not more than $10,000 from salaries and wages and not more than $500 from dividends, interest and annuities, permits the taxpayers to find his tax due from a simplified table.

The tables provide allowance for personal exemption and deductions amounting to about 10 per cent of the gross income to a maximum of $500.

Under the other method, the taxpayer fills out schedules of allowable deductions. Maryland taxes wages and salaries at 2 per cent and investment income of more than $500 at 5 per cent.

Tawes said representatives of the Income Tax Division have visited more than 50 cities and towns in the state during the current filing period to aid taxpayers in preparing their returns. Permanent offices are maintained in Baltimore, Dundalk, Cumberland, Easton, Salisbury and Washington, D. C.

Temporary offices have been set up in the Hagerstown and Frederick courthouses where taxpayers can get help up to the April 15 deadline.

Tawes said the state income tax brought in about 41 million dollars last year, of which more than 9 million went back to the counties and incorporated cities and towns.

There will be no deduction from total tax this year as there was last year and in 1952 when slashes in income taxes were charged off to surplus revenues in the state treasury.

Gov. McKeldin will highlight the speaking program with an address on "What Is Recreation."

The program includes group meetings on what must be done to obtain better recreational facilities in the state and discussions on whether or not existing facilities are being used to capacity.

Aged Man Moves, Giving Up Fight Against Project

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — Eighty-nine-year-old Henry Herzinger, who refused to move from his house in the midst of a slum clearing project, has given up the fight and retired to a home he owns in the country.

Herzinger's house was the last of dozens of buildings torn down to make way for a multi-million-dollar slum clearance project.

He has consistently refused to move, telling city officials, "This is where I live . . . and this is where I'm going to stay."

The Redevelopment Commission said today Herzinger's friends had persuaded him to move and he vacated his quarters yesterday.

Judge Sues Lewis, Radio Station, MBS

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Wilson Knight, acting magistrate at Leonardtown, Md., filed suit today for $400,000 defamation damages against Fulton Lewis Jr., radio commentator, Radio Station WWDC, Washington, and the Mutual Broadcasting System.

Papers in the suit filed in Federal District Court asserted that Knight was deframed in a letter allegedly written by Lewis and in a broadcast last Feb. 26. Both the letter and the broadcast, the papers said, mentioned Knight in connection with criticism of enforcement of laws against drunken driving.

McCarthy Pays $200 Postage

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield said today Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) has paid slightly more than $200 for postage on franked mail which was challenged by the previous Democratic administration.

Summerfield told a news conference that McCarthy "voluntarily forwarded his check for 200-odd dollars" after an exchange of correspondence with the solicitor's office of the Post Office Department.

"We wrote him a little note and he wrote a note back and sent the check and that is all there is to it," the postmaster general said, adding that was about a month ago.

The original challenge of the franked material was raised in October, 1952, by former Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson.

Donaldson said he acted on complaints from some persons receiving material which was handled as free congressional mail during the last presidential campaign year.

The mailings, Donaldson said, included reprints of some of McCarthy's Senate speeches—entitled to free mail—together with reprints of a magazine review of McCarthy's book, "McCarthyism, the Fight for America."

Federal Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson and Gen. K. P. Bergquist, deputy for operations of the Air Defense Command, will be speakers.

Also on the program are Donald W. Riegle, mayor of Flint, Mich., which was hit by a tornado last year; Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, State adjutant general, and Robert Gordon, briefing officer of the United States Department of State.

Wives Decline To Testify In Court Hearings

Does a wife have to testify against her husband in an assault case?

This point, brought interesting developments in Circuit Court yesterday during hearings for two men accused of violating paroles by beating their wives.

Both wives declined to give evidence against their mates when advised of this privilege.

However Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, brought out Hockheimer, the criminal law "Bible" of lawyers, which said that it has been proved that a woman is compelled to testify against her mate when the charge is assault.

He quoted the general law of all states on this point from the legal authority.

At this point, during the hearing for Wilbert Stevenson of Frostburg, accused of beating his wife, Blanche, 29, the defendant's attorneys, Gorman E. Getty and Earl E. Manges, produced decisions of the Maryland Court of Appeals citing that the intent of the Maryland law is that it is the privilege of the woman not to testify.

Associate Judge Morgan Harris ruled that the court felt it was the intent of the law to give the woman the right to decline to appear against her husband.

Judge Harris then found Stevenson not guilty of violating his parole as the wife was the state's sole witness.

Stevenson received a suspended sentence for an assault on a Frostburg Police Department officer in 1953.

This same ruling held in the case of William W. Wharton, 27, who was given a six-month sentence in the Maryland Reformatory for Males when he was arrested for operating a car on a suspended license. He was charged with assaulting his wife, Reba, who appeared yesterday and declined to testify.

Long Will Help Plan For Safety-Health Meet

Long was appointed to the group by Governor McKeldin who said needless accidents continue to cost millions of dollars and much suffering. The Governor said because the state should lend every effort to protect its citizens, he was asking a number of individuals, civic clubs and organizations to join with the State Industrial Accident Commission and city departments in sponsoring the conference.

Unit Aiding Handicapped Children Meets Friday

Today the Powers Girls offer "Secrets of Charm" for men to heed.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

I called several of the Powers Girls into my office this morning to ask their help. I wanted to direct a column to men. I told them, and solicited their ideas.

"Oh, an April Fool joke!" laughed Patti Martin. "You're giving the women's team a chance to gang up on the males."

"Quite right, Patti," said I. "Where shall we begin?"

"You wrote a column recently about the little things that women neglect," Patti reminded me. "What about the little things that men ignore, appearance-wise? Any bachelor can have the laundryman mend his socks. Unless he's color blind, he can match ties and socks. And he certainly can avoid wearing a frayed shirt."

Being Considerate

"Don't forget another kind of 'little thing' ", chimed in another of the Girls. "No matter how many hints a man gets about remembering birthdays and anniversaries, does he remember? And what about sending flowers now and then? No matter how long a woman has been married, she appreciates a dozen roses, and she likes to have her husband phone from the office if he'll be late for dinner."

One of the newer Powers Girls, Jill Allen, brought in her pet peeve: "Why won't a man ever tell you where you're going, so you can dress to the occasion? Many's the time my escort has arrived in sports coat and slacks, when I thought we were attending a gala party and I've really taken pains to dress for it!"

Helpful Deeds

"Is it too obvious to remind the male that he's not too weak to open a door for a girl, and that it's not old-fashioned to take off his hat in an elevator when there's a lady present?" added another member of the group.

"What about the man who hides behind a newspaper when your friends come to call? Or the one who doesn't even make a pretense of being pleasant to people he doesn't like?" This was Patti speaking again.

"And the man who thinks only a woman has any responsibilities around the house?" continued Sally Payne. "My husband is wonderful about pitching in with dishes and even dusting, but I know a lot of others who aren't!"

The girls decided they could go on with a lengthy list of petty complaints, but they all agreed with Patti's final comment: "We women have our little faults, too, don't forget!"

And with that remark, our April Fool's Day session broke up.

TEN SECRETS OF CHARM

Wives Decline To Testify In Court Hearings

Does a wife have to testify against her husband in an assault case?

This point, brought interesting developments in Circuit Court yesterday during hearings for two men accused of violating paroles by beating their wives.

Both wives declined to give evidence against their mates when advised of this privilege.

However Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, brought out Hockheimer, the criminal law "Bible" of lawyers, which said that it has been proved that a woman is compelled to testify against her mate when the charge is assault.

He quoted the general law of all states on this point from the legal authority.

At this point, during the hearing for Wilbert Stevenson of Frostburg, accused of beating his wife, Blanche, 29, the defendant's attorneys, Gorman E. Getty and Earl E. Manges, produced decisions of the Maryland Court of Appeals citing that the intent of the Maryland law is that it is the privilege of the woman not to testify.

Associate Judge Morgan Harris ruled that the court felt it was the intent of the law to give the woman the right to decline to appear against her husband.

Judge Harris then found Stevenson not guilty of violating his parole as the wife was the state's sole witness.

Stevenson received a suspended sentence for an assault on a Frostburg Police Department officer in 1953.

This same ruling held in the case of William W. Wharton, 27, who was given a six-month sentence in the Maryland Reformatory for Males when he was arrested for operating a car on a suspended license. He was charged with assaulting his wife, Reba, who appeared yesterday and declined to testify.

Long Will Help Plan For Safety-Health Meet

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long will be a member of a committee on arrangements for the Safety-Health Conference and Exhibit in Baltimore May 5-7.

Long was appointed to the group by Governor McKeldin who said needless accidents continue to cost millions of dollars and much suffering. The Governor said because the state should lend every effort to protect its citizens, he was asking a number of individuals, civic clubs and organizations to join with the State Industrial Accident Commission and city departments in sponsoring the conference.

Officials emphasized that the meeting is open to parents and friends of physically and mentally handicapped children in Allegany County and the entire tri-state area.

Today the Powers Girls offer "Secrets of Charm" for men to heed.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

I called several of the Powers Girls into my office this morning to ask their help. I wanted to direct a column to men. I told them, and solicited their ideas.

"Oh, an April Fool joke!" laughed Patti Martin. "You're giving the women's team a chance to gang up on the males."

"Quite right, Patti," said I. "Where shall we begin?"

"You wrote a column recently about the little things that women neglect," Patti reminded me. "What about the little things that men ignore, appearance-wise? Any bachelor can have the laundryman mend his socks. Unless he's color blind, he can match ties and socks. And he certainly can avoid wearing a frayed shirt."

Being Considerate

"Don't forget another kind of 'little thing'", chimed in another of the Girls. "No matter how many hints a man gets about remembering birthdays and anniversaries, does he remember? And what about sending flowers now and then? No matter how long a woman has been married, she appreciates a dozen roses, and she likes to have her husband phone from the office if he'll be late for dinner."

One of the newer Powers Girls, Jill Allen, brought in her pet peeve: "Why won't a man ever tell you where you're going, so you can dress to the occasion? Many's the time my escort has arrived in sports coat and slacks, when I thought we were attending a gala party and I've really taken pains to dress for it!"

Helpful Deeds

"Is it too obvious to remind the male that he's not too weak to open a door for a girl, and that it's not old-fashioned to take off his hat in an elevator when there's a lady present?" added another member of the group.

"What about the man who hides behind a newspaper when your friends come to call? Or the one who doesn't even make a pretense of being pleasant to people he doesn't like?" This was Patti speaking again.

"And the man who thinks only a woman has any responsibilities around the house?" continued Sally Payne. "My husband is wonderful about pitching in with dishes and even dusting, but I know a lot of others who aren't!"

The girls decided they could go on with a lengthy list of petty complaints, but they all agreed with Patti's final comment: "We women have our little faults, too, don't forget!"

And with that remark, our April Fool's Day session broke up.

Judge Harris Finds Bender Guilty Of Literature Sale

A 68-year-old Cumberland newsstand operator yesterday was found guilty of violating a parole imposed January 9 in Allegany County Circuit Court on the sale and handling of pornographic literature.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ordered Alphonso Bender held in the Allegany County Jail until the sentencing.

Three witnesses appeared for the state in the prosecution of the parole violation. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher charged that Bender violated the stipulations of his probation by selling and having in his possession indecent literature and cards.

Had Suspended Sentence

On January 9 Bender was found guilty on this same charge and given a two-year suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction.

The state's attorney presented one witness who said he bought two books and a deck of cards, all of which contained indecent material, from Bender on Monday, March 22 at his newsstand.

Another witness said Bender gave him a suitcase to keep for him. The witness said he did not know what was in the bag until he opened it a day later. He said he attempted to return the bag but Bender refused to accept it.

A third witness said he took the bag at Bender's request, kept it for a couple of days and then turned it in to the Cumberland Police Department when he found out its contents.

Claims No Sale

Bender testified that he did not sell the cards and books to the first witness but admitted he had attempted to get rid of the suitcase full of literature which he said was left over from his previous "venture" into the business.

He told the judge the first witness tried to sell him the cards and books.

Judge Harris said he found Bender guilty from the evidence presented and commented that it was a difficult thing to sentence a man who is 68 years of age and who is not in good health.

However, he added, he couldn't have Bender continuing to sell this literature.

William L. Wilson was attorney for the defendant.

RC Bloodmobile Unit Will Visit Here Next Week

The Red Cross mobile unit from the Johnstown Regional Blood Center will be here Monday and Tuesday to collect blood from local donors in the first two-day visit in Cumberland this year.

One-day stops were made here in January, February and March, with other county visits being made to Westernport, Lonaconing and Frostburg in those months.

Allegany County Red Cross Chapter officials yesterday morning pointed out that although contributions locally have exceeded the established quota for the three-month period, the amount of blood used at the local hospitals has been correspondingly heavy.

At the January visit, 101 pints of blood were processed, 49 pints less than the quota of 150 pints. A one-day record of 217½ pints of productive blood was established in the following month, boosting the amount donated by local residents for the two-month period to 318½ pints.

Even though this amount exceeded the set quota, chapter officials reported blood usage in both local hospitals was far in excess of the 318½ pints. During January, Memorial Hospital received 115 pints from the Johnstown Center, and Sacred Heart Hospital, 50 pints. For the following month, Memorial Hospital used 136 pints, and Sacred Heart Hospital, 52 pints. This brought local usage to 353 pints, 34½ less than was actually donated.

There were 194 pints processed here at the visit of the mobile unit earlier this month, again surpassing the 150-pint quota. The amount of blood used at the hospitals here during March was not available, but chapter officials reported it as being heavy.

In view of the heavy usage locally, the Red Cross has issued an appeal for all persons to keep scheduled appointments. Residents who wish to donate blood may call the Red Cross office for definite appointments or else report at the Eagles Home as "walk-ins" during the time of the visits—from noon to 6 p. m. on both days.

County Agrees To Furnish Pipe In Cresaptown Area

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday agreed to furnish pipe to carry off surface water in Cresaptown if the property owners affected install it at their own expense.

Paul Snyder, Mrs. Roy Bowman and J. Whitaker appeared before the board to complain that since the work done on a county road above their properties a large amount of drainage from the higher section has on occasion inundated their grounds.

The recent heavy rains have also caused damage to the county road upon which they live and for this reason the commissioners decided to alleviate the situation by furnishing the pipe. About 130 feet of 15-inch pipe will be used. A six-inch pipe carried off excess water prior to the work done on the county road above the protesting residents.

Whitaker said the water at one time was at least three feet deep in his yard. He and the other two persons told the board that some sewage has also seeped in from properties above them. They were told by the board that this matter has been placed before the Allegany County Health Department as a danger to public health.

William H. Johnston, district forester, appeared before the board concerning a complaint against the county in the cutting of brush and trees along a road adjacent to the Green Ridge State Forest. The foliage which was cut was left along the road contrary to forestry regulations.

J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of the County Roads Department, said it is the intention of his department workers to burn all brush and large trees or stumps are to be bulldozed off the right-of-way of roads. The comissioners and Johnson came to a general understanding of the problem and agreed to cooperate in the future.

Cumberland Man Accused Of Assaulting Boy

Phillip Taylor, 300-block Frederick Street, was arrested Tuesday night on a West Virginia warrant charging him with assaulting a 12-year-old boy.

Police said Taylor is accused of striking and kicking James Brant of the Frankfort district, Mineral County, January 28.

North End Water Tank Is Being Sterilized

Water Department workers began to sterilize the North End water tank Tuesday, according to William J. Edwards, water commissioner.

Some 45 pounds of dry chlorine mix was added to the 75,000 gallons of water impounded in the tank. The chlorine must remain for 48 hours, and sterilization is considered complete when Health Department tests disclose at least 50 parts of chlorine per million at the end of the process.

One section of supply tank is yet to be sterilized. The work is scheduled next week.

The tank was filled to the brim on Monday by the City Fire Department.

Settlement Made In Damage Suit

Settlement for $92 was made in a $300 damage suit filed Monday in Allegany Circuit Court for John Gilbert Baker, an infant, by his father and next friend, Gilbert C. Baker, Frostburg, against Robert S. Sturtz, also of Frostburg.

The suit alleged the infant fell from a car driven by Sturtz March 2 on Route 36 near Zihlman when the back door of the car flew open as Sturtz was driving in an allegedly careless manner. The baby sustained head lacerations and abrasions of the left arm, requiring hospital and medical attention, the suit stated.

Milton Gerson was attorney for the plaintiff and Harold E. Naughton for the defendent.

First Tax Sales Listed In Book

The first sales by a tax collector in Allegany County this year were recorded this week in a new volume in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

Boden has had such a book in his office since January but the first sales have just been recorded. They are five sales by Tax Collector James Park of Lonaconing.

Colorful Parade To Feature Maple Sugar Festival Friday

Coronation Scheduled For 2:15 P. M. With Grand Revue And Queen's Ball In Evening

MEYERSDALE — Under swaying colored maple leaves hanging overhead and with a background of beautifully decorated store fronts, the annual Maple Festival parade will take place Friday evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Bands, drum corp and bugle corps, marching units and floats from far and wide will march in what will be one of the highlights of the seventh annual Somerset County Maple Festival.

Starting on Beachley Street on the southside of Meyersdale the parade will march to Center Street, continue to Broadway, thence to Grant and finally disband.

From early reports, indications are the parade will be one of the largest held in the history of the festival with the famed Shrine Band of Ali Ghan Temple, Cumberland, leading the spectacle. The Shrine band consists of approximately 100 pieces.

In order that the thousands of persons expected here on the night of April 2 will have the best possible chance of viewing the parade, 10 or 11 big floodlights are being erected on poles to better illuminate Center Street.

Competition will be keen among the various organizations participating this year.

Somerset county high school bands will compete for the big trophy to be awarded for the best majorette, which is furnished by Gimbel Brothers of Pittsburgh.

For high school bands outside of Somerset county two prizes first, $75 and second, $50, will be awarded to the best.

Drum and bugle corps from the area will compete for a first prize of $75 and a second of $50. There will also be similar prizes for all marching units, such as veterans' groups, fire departments and auxiliaries. To compete for prizes in this class, there must be 20 or more in the line of march.

The committee is working to have a number of floats entered in the parade, in which class the following prizes are to be given: first, $50; second, $25; third, $15 and fourth, $10.

Entries in the float division may depict the maple syrup industry and agriculture.

Big features of the Maple Festival parade will be the beautiful Queen's Float, on which Queen Maple VII will ride and the first showings of the Oldsmobile "98 Starfire" and the Chevrolet Corvette.

John Imhoff and Dan Critchfield are co-chairmen of the festival parade committee.

Miles Horst, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture since 1943, will speak at the coronation ceremonies for Miss Florabelle Walker, Queen Maple VII, in Meyersdale Friday at 2:15 p. m.

Secretary Horst will also be the main speaker at the Meyersdale Rotary-Farmer's night, Thursday, at 6:30 p. m. in the Methodist Church.

The coronation program on Friday is scheduled to open with a band concert at 12:45 by the Berlin-Brothersvalley Joint High School Band under the direction of William Schaefer. Secretary Horst will give an address at approximately 1:25 p. m., shortly before the coronation.

Halt Production At Keyser Plant For Short Time

Lack Of Orders Causes Shut-Down

KEYSER — The Perfection Garmet Company will close its local plant, on West Piedmont and North Mineral Streets, for an indefinite period, according to a statement from the company yesterday.

Present orders will be filled, and when they are completed the plant will go on vacation. An official, from the company's home office in Martinsburg, told the employes that the closing is only temporarily, but that no time could be announced as to when operation can be resumed, and the reopening depending on orders. He also made it clear that the company does not intend to discontinue the Keyser plant and will not move it to any other location.

The local plant staff of workers was informed that the shut down is not for the Keyser plant alone, as the company's plant at Ranson has not been operating for some time and the Martinsburg plant will work on a short week schedule.

This is the first break in production of the company's production since 1950. The Keyser plant has been in continuous operation since that time.

Apple Growers Want Place In Price Supports

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Spokesmen for Eastern apple growers asked today that they be included in government price support programs in the future.

They asked, during a hearing by the Senate Agrriculture Committee, that the secretary of agriculture be given authority to buy or offer to buy apples whenever prices dropped below 60 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for assuring farmers a fair return in relation to the cost of things they must buy.

Carroll R. Miller of Martinsburg, W. Va., manager of the Appalachian Apple Service said the price protection was needed on the half of the apple crop processed into jellies, juices and similar products.

He said apple growers in Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland had gotten only about one third of the parity price in recent seasons because of large crops.

Judge Harris Finds Bender Guilty Of Literature Sale

A 68-year-old Cumberland newsstand operator yesterday was found guilty of violating a parole imposed January 9 in Allegany County Circuit Court on the sale and handling of pornographic literature.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris ordered Alphonso Bender held in the Allegany County Jail until the sentencing.

Three witnesses appeared for the state in the prosecution of the parole violation. State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher charged that Bender violated the stipulations of his probation by selling and having in his possession indecent literature and cards.

Had Suspended Sentence

On January 9 Bender was found guilty on this same charge and given a two-year suspended sentence in the Maryland House of Correction.

The state's attorney presented one witness who said he bought two books and a deck of cards, all of which contained indecent material, from Bender on Monday, March 22 at his newsstand.

Another witness said Bender gave him a suitcase to keep for him. The witness said he did not know what was in the bag until he opened it a day later. He said he attempted to return the bag but Bender refused to accept it.

A third witness said he took the bag at Bender's request, kept it for a couple of days and then turned it in to the Cumberland Police Department when he found out its contents.

Claims No Sale

Bender testified that he did not sell the cards and books to the first witness but admitted he had attempted to get rid of the suitcase full of literature which he said was left over from his previous "venture" into the business.

He told the judge the first witness tried to sell him the cards and books.

Judge Harris said he found Bender guilty from the evidence presented and commented that it was a difficult thing to sentence a man who is 68 years of age and who is not in good health.

However, he added, he couldn't have Bender continuing to sell this literature.

William L. Wilson was attorney for the defendant.

County Agrees To Furnish Pipe In Cresaptown Area

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday agreed to furnish pipe to carry off surface water in Cresaptown if the property owners affected install it at their own expense.

Paul Snyder, Mrs. Roy Bowman and J. Whitaker appeared before the board to complain that since the work done on a county road above their properties a large amount of drainage from the higher section has on occasion inundated their grounds.

The recent heavy rains have also caused damage to the county road upon which they live and for this reason the commissioners decided to alleviate the situation by furnishing the pipe. About 130 feet of 15-inch pipe will be used. A six-inch pipe carried off excess water prior to the work done on the county road above the protesting residents.

Whitaker said the water at one time was at least three feet deep in his yard. He and the other two persons told the board that some sewage has also seeped in from properties above them. They were told by the board that this matter has been placed before the Allegany County Health Department as a danger to public health.

William H. Johnston, district forester, appeared before the board concerning a complaint against the county in the cutting of brush and trees along a road adjacent to the Green Ridge State Forest. The foliage which was cut was left along the road contrary to forestry regulations.

J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of the County Roads Department, said it is the intention of his department workers to burn all brush and large trees or stumps are to be bulldozed off the right-of-way of roads. The comissioners and Johnson came to a general understanding of the problem and agreed to cooperate in the future.

RC Bloodmobile Unit Will Visit Here Next Week

The Red Cross mobile unit from the Johnstown Regional Blood Center will be here Monday and Tuesday to collect blood from local donors in the first two-day visit in Cumberland this year.

One-day stops were made here in January, February and March, with other county visits being made to Westernport, Lonaconing and Frostburg in those months.

Allegany County Red Cross Chapter officials yesterday morning pointed out that although contributions locally have exceeded the established quota for the three-month period, the amount of blood used at the local hospitals has been correspondingly heavy.

At the January visit, 101 pints of blood were processed, 49 pints less than the quota of 150 pints. A one-day record of 217½ pints of productive blood was established in the following month, boosting the amount donated by local residents for the two-month period to 318½ pints.

Even though this amount exceeded the set quota, chapter officials reported blood usage in both local hospitals was far in excess of the 318½ pints. During January, Memorial Hospital received 115 pints from the Johnstown Center, and Sacred Heart Hospital, 50 pints. For the following month, Memorial Hospital used 136 pints, and Sacred Heart Hospital, 52 pints. This brought local usage to 353 pints, 34½ less than was actually donated.

There were 194 pints processed here at the visit of the mobile unit earlier this month, again surpassing the 150-pint quota. The amount of blood used at the hospitals here during March was not available, but chapter officials reported it as being heavy.

In view of the heavy usage locally, the Red Cross has issued an appeal for all persons to keep scheduled appointments. Residents who wish to donate blood may call the Red Cross office for definite appointments or else report at the Eagles Home as "walk-ins" during the time of the visits—from noon to 6 p. m. on both days.

Harold R. Fletcher Opens Agency To Aid Homeowners

BEDFORD—A new home owners' and builders' service has been established in Bedford by Harold R. Fletcher, Bedford county native and former cashier and president of the People's Bank of Cumberland.

Fletcher has established offices at the Valley View Motel on Route 30 near the Narrows, which he and Mrs. Fletcher have operated since its construction last year.

The new organization will be known as the Harold R. Fletcher Company. It will offer a three-fold real estate sevice. A sales division will handle selling appraisal, rental and management of property. A loan division will arrange mortgages—conventional, FHA and GI for home purchases, construction and improvement. Fletcher has had wide experience in banking and mortgage financing. Born and reared near Everett, he graduated from the Bedford county schools and business college. He rose to the presidency of the Peoples Bank in Cumberland in 1945, having started with the institution as a messenger 21 years earlier. Under his administration, the bank came to be recognized as a leader in FHA and GI loan lending.

In 1944 Mr. Fletcher authorized the Home Ownership Savings Club plan which gained nationwide acceptance.

Fletcher resigned from the presidency of the Cumberland bank to become executive vice president of the Commercial and Savings Bank of Bel Air, Md., until 1953, when he moved with his wife, the former Hazel Kendall, and three children to the Valley View Motel.

The Fletchers have three children. A daughter, Dolores, R., is stationed at Hickam Field, Oahu, T. H., as a member of the Waves. Don R. and Patricia Ann both reside at home.

Jobless Claims Mount In State

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — New applications for jobless pay in Maryland took a big jump last week, mostly because of a srike which closed about 100 A. & P. food stores, the State Department of Employment Security said today.

There were 4,573 new claims, up 898 from the previous week. However, the total checks issued to jobless workers dropped slightly, going to 26,011. This figure probably will be higher this week as A. & P. workers start drawing their benefits.

The department attributed about 750 of the new claims to the strike. They are from workers in stores and warehouses closed down because picket lines prevent movement of stock.

New claims reached a peak of nearly 8,000 in mid-January, dropped steadily until they leveled off at 3,500 and 4,000 from mid-February and through March until last week.

Colorful Parade To Feature Maple Sugar Festival Friday

Coronation Scheduled For 2:15 P. M. With Grand Revue And Queen's Ball In Evening

MEYERSDALE — Under swaying colored maple leaves hanging overhead and with a background of beautifully decorated store fronts, the annual Maple Festival parade will take place Friday evening, beginning at 7:30 p. m.

Bands, drum corp and bugle corps, marching units and floats from far and wide will march in what will be one of the highlights of the seventh annual Somerset County Maple Festival.

Starting on Beachley Street on the southside of Meyersdale the parade will march to Center Street, continue to Broadway, thence to Grant and finally disband.

From early reports, indications are the parade will be one of the largest held in the history of the festival with the famed Shrine Band of Ali Ghan Temple, Cumberland, leading the spectacle. The Shrine band consists of approximately 100 pieces.

In order that the thousands of persons expected here on the night of April 2 will have the best possible chance of viewing the parade, 10 or 11 big floodlights are being erected on poles to better illuminate Center Street.

Competition will be keen among the various organizations participating this year.

Somerset county high school bands will compete for the big trophy to be awarded for the best majorette, which is furnished by Gimbel Brothers of Pittsburgh.

For high school bands outside of Somerset county two prizes first, $75 and second, $50, will be awarded to the best.

Drum and bugle corps from the area will compete for a first prize of $75 and a second of $50. There will also be similar prizes for all marching units, such as veterans' groups, fire departments and auxiliaries. To compete for prizes in this class, there must be 20 or more in the line of march.

The committee is working to have a number of floats entered in the parade, in which class the following prizes are to be given: first, $50; second, $25; third, $15 and fourth, $10.

Entries in the float division may depict the maple syrup industry and agriculture.

Big features of the Maple Festival parade will be the beautiful Queen's Float, on which Queen Maple VII will ride and the first showings of the Oldsmobile "98 Starfire" and the Chevrolet Corvette.

John Imhoff and Dan Critchfield are co-chairmen of the festival parade committee.

Miles Horst, Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture since 1943, will speak at the coronation ceremonies for Miss Florabelle Walker, Queen Maple VII, in Meyersdale Friday at 2:15 p. m.

Secretary Horst will also be the main speaker at the Meyersdale Rotary-Farmer's night, Thursday, at 6:30 p. m. in the Methodist Church.

The coronation program on Friday is scheduled to open with a band concert at 12:45 by the Berlin-Brothersvalley Joint High School Band under the direction of William Schaefer. Secretary Horst will give an address at approximately 1:25 p. m., shortly before the coronation.

Halt Production At Keyser Plant For Short Time

Lack Of Orders Causes Shut-Down

KEYSER — The Perfection Garmet Company will close its local plant, on West Piedmont and North Mineral Streets, for an indefinite period, according to a statement from the company yesterday.

Apple Growers Want Place In Price Supports

WASHINGTON, March 31 (AP) — Spokesmen for Eastern apple growers asked today that they be included in government price support programs in the future.

They asked, during a hearing by the Senate Agrriculture Committee, that the secretary of agriculture be given authority to buy or offer to buy apples whenever prices dropped below 60 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for assuring farmers a fair return in relation to the cost of things they must buy.

Carroll R. Miller of Martinsburg, W. Va., manager of the Appalachian Apple Service said the price protection was needed on the half of the apple crop processed into jellies, juices and similar products.

He said apple growers in Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland had gotten only about one third of the parity price in recent seasons because of large crops.

SRC To Ask Bids On Route 135 Job This Month

The Maryland State Roads Commission will advertise for bids on improvements to the Westernport-McCoole before the end of this month, State Senator Robert B. Kimble reported yesterday.

He said the SRC had planned to advertise the Route 135 project early in July, but has been able to expedite planning on the work.

Bids on the 4.84-mile project will be asked in two weeks, instead of the usual three, in order to get the job under way, the senator said.

The senator said the time advancement on the sorely needed improvement was sought in order to get the work underway this summer, and to add to county payrolls.

Three Dairies Open Eight Jug Stores In Cumberland Area

Three dairies have announced that eight more "jug stores" to dispense homogenized milk by the gallon will open in the area today.

Mason's Dairy, which already has a store at Greene and Lee streets, will open two more today. One will be located at 23rd Williams Street, formerly occupied by Clinebell's Bakery, and the second at 1120 Virginia Avenue (Lacy's Market).

Barton's Dairy announced two J&K Jug Stores, one at the corner of Centre and Valley streets here and another in Keyser at the corner of Piedmont and Orchard streets. The stores will be owned and operated by John W. Barton and K. O. Nelson, who also operate Barton's Dairy.

Dashiell Dairy's E&A Jug Stores will open at four Georges Creek locations as follows: 173 East Main Street, Frostburg; Filsinger Grocery Store, Eckhart; Herbert P. Staup Grocery, Lonaconing; and Westernport.

The dairies cited increasing demand and popularity of the milk-by-the-gallon program as the reason for the additional jug stores.

Milk by gallon sells at 75 cents with a 25-cent deposit for the container.

Dairy officials said the use of jugs has been very popular in the mid-West and that the new development is spreading rapidly over the country.

Harold J. Howard Is First President

A group of retired civil service employes has organized a Cumberland Chapter of the National Association of Retired Civil Employes.

At a meeting in the post office building Tuesday with Dr. George A. Flanagan, chapter supervisor of the Washington office, Harold J. Howard, 31 Weber Street was elected president.

Named to serve with him are Earl Connor, 917 Bedford Street, vice president, and James Webster, 103 Greene Street, secretary-treasurer.

The organization decided to meet once each month and the next session will be held April 12.

Dr. Flanagan, a retired federal employe, said there are 71,000 members of the organization in over 400 chapters in the United States, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands and Canal Zone.

National president is Frank J. Wilson of Chevy Chase, retired chief of the United States Secret Service. Wilson, it was recalled, was head of the Secret Service at the time that organization played an important part in the arrest and conviction of Bruno Hauptmann for kidnapping the Lindbergh baby.

Dr. Flanagan formerly worked with the Navy Department and the War Department. He started his governmental career as a stenographer and prior to his retirement was in California as director there of War Bond drives. Some years ago, he began the study of dentistry and until recently had been a practicing dentist in Washington.

He explained the purpose of this organization is to develop programs of interest to retired civil service workers, to encourage a broader financial coverage in pension programs, and to develop other activities of interest to retired people.

The organization was founded in 1921 for postal employes but in 1947 was reorganized to reach all retired civil employes.

Dr. Flanagan said that prior to coming to Cumberland, he had organized a chapter in Frederick on Monday.

Soil Meeting To Be Held Here Today

The Allegany County Agricultural Resources Conservation Committee will meet today at 1:30 p. m. in the Soil Conservation Office, 37 Washington Street, to discuss recommendations for 1955.

Miss Elizabeth Hoover, officer manager for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, yesterday said the recommendations include soil conservation, soil building and the operation of the county program for 1955.

Richard R. Carson, field representative from the Maryland State ASC office, will meet with the group to go over the recommendations for 1955.

4-H Tractor Club To Attend Banquet

More than 30 4-H Club boys who completed the annual tractor maintenance course will attend a banquet with their parents at Baltimore Pike Fire Hall at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, April 8, according to Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Chief speakers will be Sherard Wilson, state 4-H Club agent, and Guy Grenger, a graduate of Flintstone High School, who is an agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. A movie emphasizing petroleum safety will be shown.

population basis and considering economic conditions in these smaller towns where the chapter operates active branches, this was considered a fair quota. However, the branch volunteer solicitors ran into difficulty in several towns where quotas have always been met. A total of $5,655.62 has been collected. Only one or two small areas are to be heard from.

All in all, Red Cross officials are pleased with the charitable attitude and the loyalty of those who did contribute. Mrs. Lee Witherup executive director of the chapter said, "We must be grateful for what has been received, but it will be difficult to work out our full program with insufficient funds. The demand for services of the Red Cross increases steadily. The need is far greater than many people realize or admit. We do hope that those who have not contributed will help the situation by sending at least a dollar each.

"There must be that many people in our county who can afford it and who know that Red Cross has a solemn trust to our veterans, their families and to the general public with the blood program.

"We are also expected to stand ready to meet any emergency which may arise. I hope every worker who has not completed a solicitation will do so immediately. Reaching this year's minimum goal is almost imperative."

Workshop For Bible School Teachers To Be Held Here Today

A vacation Bible school workshop will be held this afternoon and tonight at the Salvation Army Citadel, North Mechanic Street.

Miss Margaret Graham, representing the Scripture Press of Chicago, will conduct the sessions at 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Miss Graham will outline methods of teaching, and visual aids will be used in connection with the lectures.

Churches of many denominations have been invited to send the teachers and staffs of their vacation Bible schools to the workshop, which is sponsored locally by the Christian Music and Book Store.

Railway Plans Reforestation

The Western Maryland Railway Company has announced plans for a reforestation program for company-owned land in Maryland and West Virginia.

Plans call for approximately 100,000 acres of forest land in the Upper Potomac Region of the two-state area to be placed under management. Company officials pointed out that the Western Maryland is controlling present timber removal by marking marketable trees and placing cutting to a diameter limit.

Not only is the company attempting to manage its existing stands of timber, but it is also spending money to reclaim strip mine spoil banks and reforesting idle land.

The railway company's forester, John Adams Jr., recently purchased a sled tree planter suited to reforest rough, steep land such as will be encountered on much of the strip mine spoil banks.

The Western Maryland has also appropriated money to purchase and plant 225,000 tree seedlings, with the planting scheduled for April and May. It is expected that the work will begin in the next two weeks.

Of the 225,000 seedlings to be planted, plans call for 50,000 to be planted on Dobbin Hill (Md.) and the remainder in the vicinity of Davis and Thomas, W. Va.

Harold R. Fletcher Opens Agency To Aid Homeowners

BEDFORD—A new home owners' and builders' service has been established in Bedford by Harold R. Fletcher, Bedford county native and former cashier and president of the People's Bank of Cumberland.

Fletcher has established offices at the Valley View Motel on Route 30 near the Narrows, which he and Mrs. Fletcher have operated since its construction last year.

The new organization will be known as the Harold R. Fletcher Company. It will offer a three-fold real estate sevice. A sales division will handle selling appraisal, rental and management of property. A loan division will arrange mortgages—conventional, FHA and GI for home purchases, construction and improvement. A construction and building supply division will offer technical and construction assistance to those wishing to build or remodel homes.

Fletcher has had wide experience in banking and mortgage financing. Born and reared near Everett, he graduated from the Bedford county schools and business college. He rose to the presidency of the Peoples Bank in Cumberland in 1945, having started with the institution as a messenger 21 years earlier. Under his administration, the bank came to be recognized as a leader in FHA and GI loan lending.

In 1944 Mr. Fletcher authorized the Home Ownership Savings Club plan which gained nationwide acceptance.

Fletcher resigned from the presidency of the Cumberland bank to become executive vice president of the Commercial and Savings Bank of Bel Air, Md., until 1953, when he moved with his wife, the former Hazel Kendall, and three children to the Valley View Motel.

The Fletchers have three children. A daughter, Dolores, R., is stationed at Hickam Field, Oahu, T. H., as a member of the Waves. Don R. and Patricia Ann both reside at home.

Fletcher is a member of Lions International and an ardent hunter. The family are members of the Methodist Church.

Jobless Claims Mount In State

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — New applications for jobless pay in Maryland took a big jump last week, mostly because of a srike which closed about 100 A. & P. food stores, the State Department of Employment Security said today.

There were 4,573 new claims, up 898 from the previous week. However, the total checks issued to jobless workers dropped slightly, going to 26,011. This figure probably will be higher this week as A. & P. workers start drawing their benefits.

The department attributed about 750 of the new claims to the strike. They are from workers in stores and warehouses closed down because picket lines prevent movement of stock.

New claims reached a peak of nearly 8,000 in mid-January, dropped steadily until they leveled off at 3,500 and 4,000 from mid-February and through March until last week.

Boost Cumberland And Join The Crowd

In the past few years there has been a tendency on the part of many people to do their city and themselves a disservice by speaking ill of Cumberland. There was a disturbing lack of civic pride.

From time to time a sort of organized campaign has been started to get Cumberland's people to boost their city instead of knocking it. This sort of effort generally did not work because it lacked the spontaneity so necessary to carry enthusiasm from one person to another.

But the spark that was lacking seems to have come alive in the past few weeks with more and more people disclosing their dislike of constant knocking and their desire to "talk Cumberland up."

Letters, some signed and some unsigned, have come to The Cumberland News. The writers tell why they like Cumberland and why they have continued confidenee in this city's future. A service club has embarked upon a program to boost Cumberland. More people are talking up the city's good points. It is an encouraging sign.

For example, a married man raising two children on $30 a week writes: "I've been asked time and again, 'Why don't you leave this town?' I was born and raised in Cumberland; I've seen good and bad times in Cumberland . . . Through the years Cumberland's ability to shake off bad times has instilled in me a faith that compels me to look with patience to a future of full and plenty for those I love."

Another correspondent writes "I'm sick of it" with regard to Cumberlanders running down their city. "Why don't we do a little bragging instead of so much running down?" she asks. "Have you ever seen a prettier race track? Have you ever seen any prettier little churches? Have you ever seen any prettier mountains? Have you ever seen any prettier girls? Have you ever seen any more handsome boys? We have a lovely town here and should rave about it. Tell a little child she is pretty and she will soon grow prettier . . . Let's get together and move ahead instead of backward . . . Let us all remember that we are Cumberlanders first . . ."

That is good advice for all of us.

Congressional Investigations

This much will come out of the McCarthy-Stevens conflict: the entire subject of congressional committees, their nature, purpose and procedures will have to be reviewed and decisions taken by the Congress itself concerning their future. Few congressional committees have ever functioned satisfactorily to those investigated. Putting a midget in the lap of J. P. Morgan did not prove anything.

Always important are the fundamental rights of citizens and while it is to be recognized that Communists are, by their disciplines, agents of a foreign power, nevertheless, as citizens of the United States, they enjoy constitutional rights which cannot be impaired. The conflict here is not only in the law but in the spirit of the times. No law exists, not even the Smith Act, which outlaws the Communist party and which makes it illegal for an American to accept the Marxist church as a way of life.

The confusions before congressional committees mirror the confusions in American thought from the impact of a new religion, the Marxist church, and a new universal state, Soviet Russia. Our thinking on the subject is limited to our small experience with social revolutions.

The Marxists divide themselves into many groups. Our difficulties arise from the tendency to throw them into one package and call them all Communists, which quickly translates itself into the word, spy. Let me differentiate these groups:

1. Intellectual Marxists: These are men and women who accept the doctrine of dialectical materialism as a suitable solution to man's problems. They reject the mystical concepts of Christianity, particularly the creation of man by God and the revelation of natural law by which a moral society exists not by human evolution and development but by the authority of the Creator.

Many such intellectual Marxists may be opposed to Soviet Russia as a universal state and to the Communist party as an agency of discipline. To outsiders, it would appear that they talk one way and act another and therefore in congressional investigations, they are often placed in an ambiguous and embarrassing position.

2. Anti-Communist Marxists: Since 1848, Marxist ideas have affected and influenced great numbers of persons in all countries. As a doctrine, Marxism has proved to be particularly attractive to social and natural scientists. The Social Democratic parties in all countries based themselves on Marxism. Until the organization of the disciplined Russian Bolshevik group in 1903, numerous interpretations of Marxism appeared. The Russian party was split on doctrine until Lenin took over in 1917 and established a rigid orthodoxy.

The turnover of supporters has been enormous, particularly among intellectuals. Many fled the orthodox Communist party because of its limitations upon the human spirit; nevertheless they did not desert the sociology of Marxism. Among such are to be found the most violent and effective anti-Communists.

3. The Communists: These are party members, accepting the rigid disciplines of revolutionary partisanship, never rejecting the absurdities of twisting party lines, devoting themselves to underground responsibilities even if they involve espionage and treason. Theirs but to obey in the hope that the revolution will ultimately free men from class, racial, national, religious distinctions, and that all men will eventually be brothers in the bosom of the Kremlin.

The difficulty has been that the American congressional committees investigating communism do not always make such distinctions. Too often, they do not know enough about the subject to understand how a scientist, for instance, can accept the environmentalist theories inherent in Marxism and not be a spy for Malenkov. It will be necessary for them to inform themselves on the subject, to differentiate between ideas and action if all anti-Communist efforts are not to become absurd.

Anti-Communism has suffered a setback in the United States during the past year because its broad generalizations, particularly concerning intellectuals, have been rejected as incredulous. As a matter of fact, if the capitalistic anti-Communists could make common cause with the Marxist anti-Communists, the small but hellish band of conspirators would be driven from our land.

"See, You Even Get Your Name On The Door"

Favored Treatment In Service Has Happened Before

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The worst scandal in the operations of the government of the United States has never been exposed by Congress, but public opinion may force it at last as a direct result of the recent disclosure by the Army that conversations occurred between the legal counsel for the secretary of the army and members of a Senate subcommittee staff with respect to "favored treatment" for a member of that staff who had been drafted into the Army.

Congress cannot very well confine itself to one case without revealing to the public all the facts concerning hundreds of other cases of a similar nature in the files. Plainly, since the Army kept such minute records in the case of Pvt. David Schine, it seems certain that equally minute records have been kept on the requests of members of the House and Senate and their staffs who asked "favored treatment" for the sons or relatives of their constituents.

Files Are Flagged

Almost everybody who is at all familiar with governmental operations, especially on Capitol Hill, knows that many a case is on file of boys who were kept from overseas service through political influence. But somehow this never gets written up and, despite the flare-up about Senator McCarthy's staff, very little has been written out of Washington about the big scandal which this episode may be said to typify.

The exposure of all the facts will show that the "favored treatment" practice has been so widespread that the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force are constantly being pressured by various members of Congress. Indeed, it is common knowledge that some of the bureaus of one of the armed services had a special marking during the war for such cases, and the record of the individual concerned was initialed with the letter "P. I.," which meant "political influence." This manner of flagging the file signified that, when it came to ordering those boys into other assignments, the fact that someone in Congress had a special interest in them had to be taken into account by the military officers in charge of personnel.

But who is to investigate the activities of members of Congress in these matters? What committee is to call for the records from the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, especially for the period during the war when most American boys didn't have any political "pull" to keep them from facing the enemy overseas?

Has Happened Before

In the last couple of weeks some newspaper editorials have declared that the Senate Committee on Government Operations, of which Senator McCarthy is chairman, is ineligible to investigate a row involving members of its own staff, and that the Senate armed services committee should take it over. Is it to be naively assumed that not one of the members of the armed services committees of Congress during this session, or when the Democrats were in control, ever got any favors from the armed services? Anyone who knows the facts of legislative life knows that these are the very committees in behalf of whose members the armed services themselves stretch a point as to the personal requests of congressmen and lean over backward in order to keep the senators and representatives in a good humor when they deal with Army, Navy or Air Force legislation. Each armed service actually maintains a "legislative liaison"—an officer or group of officers who often handle these delicate tasks.

Could the appropriations committees of Congress do the investigating job? Obviously not, if the "rules" of ethics which lately have been proclaimed are to be accepted as proper. Some of the members of these appropriations committees are beholden to the armed services for everything from the "favored treatment" of a constituent who wants a job or a commission or a better assignment, to the maintenance of an airport or an appropriation for a navy yard or for some other military installation that means a big payroll for the local merchants in the home town, district or state of the member of Congress. And home-town merchants often contribute to campaign funds.

Correction Would Be Demanded

When will some member of the Senate or House put an end to all the hypocrisy and, with the courage of his convictions, demand that each of the armed services send to the vice president in the Senate and to the speaker of the House the records of all conversations, monitored and unmonitored, all letters and documents and the file of every soldier, sailor or airman who at the request of a member of Congress or his staff got "favored treatment" during and since World War II? The mere publication of the records would be enough, and no further investigation by any committee would be needed to apply the corrective that would be demanded by an outraged public opinion.

Unless this is done, the members of the Senate in all fairness ought to admit publicly that what happened in the Schine case has been and still is common practice and is not deserving of prolonged attention just because Pvt. Schine was formerly a member of the staff of Senator McCarthy, who exposed the now admitted laxity of the Army in its methods of handling Communists.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Just heard officially on my suggestion that France make another Maginot Line out of champagne cellars and mushroom caves.

What a chance to double-mickey the invader. You know what you can do with toadstools.

History states it was the fermented caves of champagne that saved Paris in 1914. The clown prince of Germany's army exercised its stop-over options by swabbing up one million bottles of good old Piper-headache, 1904. A very good year for France.

When Kaiser Billhelm heard the score he was fit to be tied. He wired his potted geranium, "Since when have rathskellars been trenches?"

Sonny boy telegraphed back, "You ordered me to fight to the last man. He happens to be a head waiter."

The 30 days the prince wasted in the champagne underground enabled Paris to hype the meters on its taxicabs. They got to the Marne with a volunteer army of two-bottle men.

France is worried some more over the dubious encore of the Berlin kaffee-klatch. For once again the Saar is up for grabs.

In the last Saar plebiscite the French lost from here to the barn. The Germans packed the election like a protean actor's trunk.

There's iron in the Saar and coal to blast it. That's what red-lighted the agreement. France would rather see two Germans with bayonets than one with a shovel.

Holocaust Of H-Bomb Shown On Film Is Expected To Electrify The Public

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — On direct orders of President Eisenhower, the veil covering the H-bomb will be lifted next week and the public will get its first glimpse of a Hydrogen explosion. However, this column is able to give a word preview of the horrible holocaust, which must be seen in technicolor to be fully appreciated.

What the public will see is a tremendous fireball, filling the horizen with flame and smoke. This was the world's first hydrogen blast, the one that plunged a rocky atoll 175 feet down through the ocean floor on November 1, 1952. Yet it was a mere firecracker compared to the latest hydrogen explosion exactly one month ago today.

The public will be shown the feverish preparations for the first H-blast. They will see a black, two-story structure atop a lonely atoll. This was known as the H-house, which housed the hydrogen device.

Then the cameras will show a control ship about 10 miles out to sea from the archipelago, about 35 miles from the fateful atoll. The public will watch while the control switches are pulled.

The horizen flames up, and a monstrous fireball takes shape. The announcer explains that the fireball, alone, is three miles in diameter, though it is only the red eyeball of the blast. It is then superimposed over New York City, showing how the center of Manhattan from Washington Square to Central Park would be turned into a fiery furnace, and the rest of the city would be devastated by shock and heat waves.

Poisonous Geyser

The fireball finally erupts into a geyser of smoke 25 miles high and forms the familiar mushroom cloud. Some scientists have suggested that it ought to be called a toadstool cloud, because it is deadly poisonous.

Most fearful result of a hydrogen explosion, scientists say, is what they call a heavy "falling off." This means the shower of radioactive ash that rains down over the area. In an atomic explosion, the radioactive residue is scattered in a fine spray that has a tendency to stay up in the atmosphere until it dissipates. A hydrogen blast, however, not only throws the radioactive poison over a wider area, but the particles are heavier and fall as literal firedrops from the sky, searing whatever they touch.

As the final scene of the 28-minute hydrogen film, the camera returns to the site of the grim, black H-house. The atoll on which it once stood has disappeared, and the audience is told all that remains is a 175-foot hole in the ocean bottom. The announcer's voice describes the hole as large enough to swallow up 18 Pentagon buildings.

This sobering film was cleared by the Atomic Energy Commission six months ago. President Eisenhower, himself, approved of its release to the public. But the Army and Navy raised such a clamor that the President changed his mind and kept it classified. The generals and admirals didn't want it released before their appropriation hearings, for fear some congressmen might get the idea that the H-bomb had outmoded massive land armies and navy task forces. At the prodding of Civil Defense Boss Val Peterson, however, the President finally overruled the Army and Navy.

What makes the film shocking, however, is the fact that it shows only a baby H-bomb. The March 1 blast was four to five times more powerful with a fireball larger than the entire area of destruction at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

McCarthy-Go-Round

Despite his bland denials, Senator McCarthy has passed out political favors to Pvt. David Schine's millionaire papa, J. Myer Schine. For example, McCarthy interceded to expedite action on a construction permit for a Schine TV station in Albany, N. Y. In return, McCarthy has flown around in Schine's private plane and stayed at his fashionable hotels — without paying a dime. . . . . It used to be considered unethical for a government employe to accept a 12-pound ham. . . . . The State Department is sitting on a report more explosive than the 34-page Army document on Roy Cohn and David Schine. The State Department report gives the real lowdown on the strange adventures of McCarthy's two junior G-men during their whirlwind, amateur spy hunt through Europe, telling how they were taken in by Communist agents. Secretary of State Dulles is saving this as ammunition in case McCarthy decides to pick on him. . . . . Biggest mystery in Washington still is why the supposedly fearless McCarthy is deathly afraid of pint-sized, 27-year-old Roy Cohn. On several occasions, McCarthy called Schine a "Jew boy," a "pest" and a "nuisance" behind his pal Cohn's back, then literally begged his listeners not to tell Cohn about it. . . . . The Wisconsin Progressive magazine (no connection with the left-wing Progressive party) has put out a devastating booklet on Senator McCarthy's record, now hot off the press in Madison, Wis. . . . . McCarthy is frantically trying to head off the Senate showdown on his battle with the Army. First, he tried to sell fellow senators on getting rid of Roy Cohn and Army Counsel John Adams as convenient scapegoats, then quietly dropping the whole matter. The only senator who fell for this whitewash, however, was Nevada's GOP Sen. George "Molly" Malone. Next, McCarthy slipped around to see Brig Gen. Tom Biddle, who has been a special trouble-shooter for Army Chief of Staff Gen. Matt Ridgway. But Biddle also stuck pins into McCarthy's trial balloon.

"Limit Of Blow-Out" Near

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON.

According to advance estimates, the next hydorgen bomb in the current Pacific test series should develop a power of about 40 megatons. This means a bomb with some 2,000 times the power of the Hiroshima bomb, capable of laying waste an area of about a thousand square miles.

The test of this bomb had been delayed, while its probable power is recalculated, and the danger area extended. With so monstrous a force involved, this caution is understandable, especially in view of the fact that the scientists were wrong about the first bomb in the test series.

President Eisenhower himself is the authority for the statement that the scientists were "surprised and astonished" by the results of this first test. What surprised and astonished them was that the bomb developed a power of upwards of 14 megatons, almost twice the power they had estimated.

This miscalculation, which was wholly understandable in view of the incredible complexity of making such estimates, was almost fatal to the American crew of a B-36 heavy bomber. The bomber was flying some 18 miles from ground zero, the point where the bomb was exploded. This was entirely according to plan—according to prior calculations, the plane should have been safe at this distance from ground zero. But the shock wave from the explosion was so much greater than anticipated that the plane was actually turned over on its back in mid-air. The dazed crew was barely able to right the plane and avoid a crash.

Scientists Were Wrong

The fact is that the scientists have consistently underestimated the terrible forces whic hthey released when they opened the nuclear Pandora's box. At first, for example, they thought that the power of the original model of the atomic bomb could not be much increased. This was because a "critical amount" of fissionable material—just so much, no more, no less—is required to start the chain reaction. Yet President Eisenhower has stated that an atomic bomb with fully 25 times the power of the Hiroshima model has now been developed.

The scientists were even more strikingly wrong about the hydrogen bomb. It is not generally realized that President Truman gave the green light to the super-bomb project against a great weight of scientific opinion. Among those who expressed strong doubts about the project were Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, Dr. Robert Bacher, and Dr. Vannevar Bush, to name only three of the many distinguished scientists who shared such doubts.

These doubts may have been motivated in part by an emotional and moral reaction. But the main arguments against the super-bomb project were technical and scientific. A hydrogen bomb, it was believed, would be "tritium-limited"—it could derive its power only from a man-made element called tritium, which is immensely difficult and immensely expensive to make. Making trituim, moreover, requires the same plant and equipment as making fissionable materitl for atomic bombs.

The scientists calculated that the actual return on investment, in terms of destruction of enemy targets, would be far greater if the United States forgot about hydrogen bombs and concentrated on atomic bombs alone. The scientists were wrong. The technical reasons why they were wrong do not matter to the layman.

Practical Limit

What does matter is that the hydrogen bomb is clearly not tritium-limited after all. Hydrogen bombs can be built in large numbers quite cheaply and easily. Moreover, there is no theoretical limit whatever to the power which can be built into these horrible weapons.

Nevertheless, it is important to understand that there is a practical limit of sorts. Fortunately for mankind, the area destroyed by a bomb does not increase in direct proportion to the bomb's power. The forthcoming 40 megaton bomb, for example, although it will have 2,000 times the power of the Hiroshima bomb, will have only a bit over 10 times the radius of destruction—16 miles as against a mile and a half.

Moreover, the area destroyed increases more and more slowly as the bomb becomes more powerful, until finally there is no increase at all. This is explained by a phenomenon known as "the limit of blow-out." Because of air resistance to lateral blast, after a certain point any increase in power is dissipated in the relatively non-resistant upper atmosphere, so that there is no increase in lateral destruction at all.

The physicists calculate that the limit of blow-out should be reached at about 50 megatons. In short, for what consolation it may provide, with the 40 megaton bomb we should be approaching the limit of blow-out—provided the scientists have not underestimated again.

Use Of Enzymes Is Helpful In Kidney Stone Attacks

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Kidney stones may be present for years without causing symptoms. At any time during this period, however, they can kick over the traces and produce such severe colic or backache that several hypodermics of morphine are needed for relief. Few conditions are as painful as renal colic. The individual usually is awakened at night with marked pain in the back, side, or front of the abdomen in the region of the affected kidney.

The bout represents an attempt by the calculus to escape from the kidney, via the ureter, into the bladder. This channel often is too small for the stone and, as a result, it becomes stuck somewhere between the kidney and the bladder. Distress is due partly to obstruction and partly to scratching and irritation of the delicate lining of the ureter by the moving stone.

Pain is sharp, cramplike, and gripping in character and may be constant or intermittent. The victim twists and squirms, hoping to find a comfortable position. Larger rocks prove less troublesome because they cannot escape from the confines of the kidney. The weight of the stone causes aching varying from a stabbing sensation to a feeling of pressure or fullness. Should infection intervene, symptoms are intensified.

Kidney stones have no regard for age but are most common during the third and fourth decades. Both kidneys are involved in 10 per cent of all cases. Stones form because chemical substances have crystallized in the urine but the details of this process are not known. Ultramicroscopic studies have demonstrated that the urine sediment of susceptible people lack a jelly-like, protective, colliod material that envelops the various chemical compounds and prevents them from forming stones. Concentration of these colloid material that envelops the when infection occurs, colloids may disappear entirely.

Dr. Arthur J. Butt of Pensacola, Fla., discovered that injections of the enzyme hyaluronidase (a normal constituent of the body) increased the concentration of these colloids in the urine. Hyaluronidase is now manufactured commercially and is used in controlling the formation and growth of renal calculi. It works best in men and women who tend to develop one stone after another.

Can kidney stones be dissolved? Yes, but only those consisting of calcium phosphate, calcium carbonate, and magnesium phosphate. This is done with solvents such as Suby Solution B and is a long and tedious process. Stones other than renal must be removed by different means.

MEAT AND COLD

B. P. writes: Someone told me that if I ate more meat I would not feel the cold so much in the winter time. Is there any truth to this statement?

REPLY

Yes, because all foods add fuel to the human furnace. In this respect, meat is not unique because calories count in the production of heat. Eskimos, for example, eat blubber as well as meat which increases their intake of fat. Lumberjacks shovel in bacon, eggs, fried potatoes and pancakes by the ton to supply their energy needs and to stay warm.

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS

M. M. C. writes: What is the difference between hardening and shrinking of the arteries?

REPLY

Both are lay terms for arteriosclerosis. In this degenerative disorder, the walls of the arteries lose their elasticity and become brittle and thickened. As a result, the size of the opening is decreased, which reduces the flow of blood.

DON'T NEGLECT BLEEDING

J. S. writes: Should the appearance of a trace of blood in the movements approximately four times a year be investigated?

REPLY

Yes, because the causes of bleeding from the rectum vary from hemorrhoids to cancer. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this topic.

The boy peeled two bills off a sizeable roll, handed them to the teacher, and said, "I'm in a hurry today, sir; do you mind if I pay the difference?"

SRC To Ask Bids On Route 135 Job This Month

The Maryland State Roads Commission will advertise for bids on improvements to the Westernport-McCoole before the end of this month, State Senator Robert B. Kimble reported yesterday.

He said the SRC had planned to advertise the Route 135 project early in July, but has been able to expedite planning on the work.

Bids on the 4.84-mile project will be asked in two weeks, instead of the usual three, in order to get the job under way, the senator said.

The senator said the time advancement on the sorely needed improvement was sought in order to get the work underway this summer, and to add to county payrolls.

Three Dairies Open Eight Jug Stores In Cumberland Area

Three dairies have announced that eight more "jug stores" to dispense homogenized milk by the gallon will open in the area today.

Mason's Dairy, which already has a store at Greene and Lee streets, will open two more today. One will be located at 230 Williams Street, formerly occupied by Clinebell's Bakery, and the second at 1120 Virginia Avenue (Lacy's Market).

Barton's Dairy announced two J&K Jug Stores, one at the corner of Centre and Valley streets here and another in Keyser at the corner of Piedmont and Orchard streets. The stores will be owned and operated by John W. Barton and K. O. Nelson, who also operate Barton's Dairy.

Dashiell Dairy's E&A Jug Stores will open at four Georges Creek locations as follows: 173 East Main Street, Frostburg; Filsinger Grocery Store, Eckhart; Herbert P. Staup Grocery, Lonaconing; and Westernport.

The dairies cited increasing demand and popularity of the milk-by-the-gallon program as the reason for the additional jug stores.

Milk by gallon sells at 75 cents with a 25-cent deposit for the container.

Dairy officials said the use of jugs has been very popular in the mid-West and that the new development is spreading rapidly over the country.

Retired Civil Service Group Organized Here

Harold J. Howard Is First President

A group of retired civil service employes has organized a Cumberland Chapter of the National Association of Retired Civil Employes.

At a meeting in the post office building Tuesday with Dr. George A. Flanagan, chapter supervisor of the Washington office, Harold J. Howard, 31 Weber Street was elected president.

Named to serve with him are Earl Connor, 917 Bedford Street, vice president, and James Webster, 103 Greene Street, secretary-treasurer.

The organization decided to meet once each month and the next session will be held April 12.

Dr. Flanagan, a retired federal employe, said there are 71,000 members of the organization in over 400 chapters in the United States, Hawaiian Islands, Philippine Islands and Canal Zone.

National president is Frank J. Wilson of Chevy Chase, retired chief of the United States Secret Service. Wilson, it was recalled, was head of the Secret Service at the time that organization played an important part in the arrest and conviction of Bruno Hauptmann for kidnapping the Lindbergh baby.

Dr. Flanagan formerly worked with the Navy Department and the War Department. He started his governmental career as a stenographer and prior to his retirement was in California as director there of War Bond drives. Some years ago, he began the study of dentistry and until recently had been a practicing dentist in Washington.

He explained the purpose of this organization is to develop programs of interest to retired civil service workers, to encourage a broader financial coverage in pension programs, and to develop other activities of interest to retired people.

The organization was founded in 1921 for postal employes but in 1947 was reorganized to reach all retired civil employes.

Dr. Flanagan said that prior to coming to Cumberland, he had organized a chapter in Frederick on Monday.

Soil Meeting To Be Held Here Today

The Allegany County Agricultural Resources Conservation Committee will meet today at 1:30 p. m. in the Soil Conservation Office, 37 Washington Street, to discuss recommendations for 1955.

Miss Elizabeth Hoover, officer manager for Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, yesterday said the recommendations include soil conservation, soil building and the operation of the county program for 1955.

Richard R. Carson, field representative from the Maryland State ASC office, will meet with the group to go over the recommendations for 1955.

4-H Tractor Club To Attend Banquet

More than 30 4-H Club boys who completed the annual tractor maintenance course will attend a banquet with their parents at Baltimore Pike Fire Hall at 6:30 p. m. Thursday, April 8, according to Assistant County Agent Joseph M. Steger.

Chief speakers will be Sherard Wilson, state 4-H Club agent, and Guy Gienger, a graduate of Flintstone High School, who is an agricultural engineer at the University of Maryland. A movie emphasizing petroleum safety will be shown.

population basis and considering economic conditions in these smaller towns where the chapter operates active branches, this was considered a fair quota. However, the branch volunteer solicitors ran into difficulty in several towns where quotas have always been met. A total of $5,655.62 has been collected. Only one or two small areas are to be heard from.

All in all, Red Cross officials are pleased with the charitable attitude and the loyalty of those who did contribute. Mrs. Lee Witherup executive director of the chapter said, "We must be grateful for what has been received, but it will be difficult to work out our full program with insufficient funds. The demand for services of the Red Cross increases steadily. The need is far greater than many people realize or admit. We do hope that those who have not contributed will help the situation by sending at least a dollar each.

"There must be that many people in our county who can afford it and who know that Red Cross has a solemn trust to our veterans, their families and to the general public with the blood program.

"We are also expected to stand ready to meet any emergency which may arise. I hope every worker who has not completed a solicitation will do so immediately. Reaching this year's minimum goal is almost imperative."

Workshop For Bible School Teachers To Be Held Here Today

A vacation Bible school workshop will be held this afternoon and tonight at the Salvation Army Citadel, North Mechanic Street.

Miss Margaret Graham, representing the Scripture Press of Chicago, will conduct the sessions at 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Miss Graham will outline methods of teaching, and visual aids will be used in connection with the lectures.

Churches of many denominations have been invited to send the teachers and staffs of their vacation Bible schools to the workshop, which is sponsored locally by the Christian Music and Book Store.

Railway Plans Reforestation

The Western Maryland Railway Company has announced plans for a reforestation program for company-owned land in Maryland and West Virginia.

Plans call for approximately 100,000 acres of forest land in the Upper Potomac Region of the two-state area to be placed under management. Company officials pointed out that the Western Maryland is controlling present timber removal by marking marketable trees and placing cutting to a diameter limit.

Not only is the company attempting to manage its existing stands of timber, but it is also spending money to reclaim strip ine spoil banks and reforesting idle land.

The railway company's forester, John Adams Jr., recently purchased a sled tree planter suited to reforest rough, steep land such as will be encountered on much of the strip mine spoil banks.

The Western Maryland has also appropriated money to purchase and plant 225,000 tree seedlings, with the planting scheduled for April and May. It is expected that the work will begin in the next two weeks.

Of the 225,000 seedlings to be planted, plans call for 50,000 to be planted on Dobbin Hill (Md.) and the remainder in the vicinity of Davis and Thomas, W. Va.

• Boost Cumberland And Join The Crowd

In the past few years there has been a tendency on the part of many people to do their city and themselves a disservice by speaking ill of Cumberland. There was a disturbing lack of civic pride.

From time to time a sort of organized campaign has been started to get Cumberland's people to boost their city instead of knocking it. This sort of effort generally did not work because it lacked the spontaneity so necessary to carry enthusiasm from one person to another.

But the spark that was lacking seems to have come alive in the past few weeks with more and more people disclosing their dislike of constant knocking and their desire to "talk Cumberland up."

Letters, some signed and some unsigned, have come to The Cumberland News. The writers tell why they like Cumberland and why they have continued confidenee in this city's future. A service club has embarked upon a program to boost Cumberland. More people are talking up the city's good points. It is an encouraging sign.

For example, a married man raising two children on $30 a week writes: "I've been asked time and again, 'Why don't you leave this town?' I was born and raised in Cumberland; I've seen good and bad times in Cumberland . . . Through the years Cumberland's ability to shake off bad times has instilled in me a faith that compels me to look with patience to a future of full and plenty for those I love."

Another correspondent writes "I'm sick of it" with regard to Cumberlanders running down their city. "Why don't we do a little bragging instead of so much running down?" she asks. "Have you ever seen a prettier race track? Have you ever seen any prettier little churches? Have you ever seen any prettier mountains? Have you ever seen any prettier girls? Have you ever seen any more handsome boys? We have a lovely town here and should rave about it. Tell a little child she is pretty and she will soon grow prettier . . . Let's get together and move ahead instead of backward . . . Let us all remember that we are Cumberlanders first . . ."

That is good advice for all of us.

Congressional Investigations

This much will come out of the McCarthy-Stevens conflict: the entire subject of congressional committees, their nature, purpose and procedures will have to be reviewed and decisions taken by the Congress itself concerning their future. Few congressional committees have ever functioned satisfactorily to those investigated. Putting a midget in the lap of J. P. Morgan did not prove anything.

Always important are the fundamental rights of citizens and while it is to be recognized that Communists are, by their disciplines, agents of a foreign power, nevertheless, as citizens of the United States, they enjoy constitutional rights which cannot be impaired. The conflict here is not only in the law but in the spirit of the times. No law exists, not even the Smith Act, which outlaws the Communist party and which makes it illegal for an American to accept the Marxist church as a way of life.

The confusions before congressional committees mirror the confusions in American thought from the impact of a new religion, the Marxist church, and a new universal state, Soviet Russia. Our thinking on the subject is limited to our small experience with social revolutions.

The Marxists divide themselves into many groups. Our difficulties arise from the tendency to throw them into one package and call them all Communists, which quickly translates itself into the word, spy. Let me differentiate these groups:

1. Intellectual Marxists: These are men and women who accept the doctrine of dialectical materialism as a suitable solution to man's problems. They reject the mystical concepts of Christianity, particularly the creation of man by God and the revelation of natural law by which a moral society exists not by human evolution and development but by the authority of the Creator.

Many such intellectual Marxists may be opposed to Soviet Russia as a universal state and to the Communist party as an agency of discipline. To outsiders, it would appear that they talk one way and act another and therefore in congressional investigations, they are often placed in an ambiguous and embarrassing position.

2. Anti-Communist Marxists: Since 1848, Marxist ideas have affected and influenced great numbers of persons in all countries. As a doctrine, Marxism has proved to be particularly attractive to social and natural scientists. The Social Democratic parties in all countries based themselves on Marxism. Until the organization of the disciplined Russian Bolshevik group in 1903, numerous interpretations of Marxism appeared. The Russian party was split on doctrine until Lenin took over in 1917 and established a rigid orthodoxy.

The turnover of supporters has been enormous, particularly among intellectuals. Many fled the orthodox Communist party because of its limitations upon the human spirit; nevertheless they did not desert the sociology of Marxism. Among such are to be found the most violent and effective anti-Communists.

3. The Communists: These are party members, accepting the rigid disciplines of revolutionary partisanship, never rejecting the absurdities of twisting party lines, devoting themselves to underground responsibilities even if they involve espionage and treason. Theirs but to obey in the hope that the revolution will ultimately free men from class, racial, national, religious distinctions, and that all men will eventually be brothers in the bosom of the Kremlin.

The difficulty has been that the American congressional committees investigating communism do not always make such distinctions. Too often, they do not know enough about the subject to understand how a scientist, for instance, can accept the environmentalist theories inherent in Marxism and not be a spy for Malenkov. It will be necessary for them to inform themselves on the subject, to differentiate between ideas and action if all anti-Communist efforts are not to become absurd.

Anti-Communism has suffered a setback in the United States during the past year because its broad generalizations, particularly concerning intellectuals, have been rejected as incredulous. As a matter of fact, if the capitalistic anti-Communists could make common cause with the Marxist anti-Communists, the small but hellish band of conspirators would be driven from our land.

"See, You Even Get Your Name On The Door"

Favored Treatment In Service Has Happened Before

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The worst scandal in the operations of the government of the United States has never been exposed by Congress, but public opinion may force it at last as a direct result of the recent disclosure by the Army that conversations occurred between the legal counsel for the secretary of the army and members of a Senate subcommittee staff with respect to "favored treatment" for a member of that staff who had been drafted into the Army.

Congress cannot very well confine itself to one case without revealing to the public all the facts concerning hundreds of other cases of a similar nature in the files. Plainly, since the Army kept such minute records in the case of Pvt. David Schine, it seems certain that equally minute records have been kept on the requests of members of the House and Senate and their staffs who asked "favored treatment" for the sons or relatives of their constituents.

Files Are Flagged

Almost everybody who is at all familiar with governmental operations, especially on Capitol Hill, knows that many a case is on file of boys who were kept from overseas service through political influence. But somehow this never gets written up and, despite the flare-up about Senator McCarthy's staff, very little has been written out of Washington about the big scandal which this episode may be said to typify.

The exposure of all the facts will show that the "favored treatment" practice has been so widespread that the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force are constantly being pressured by various members of Congress. Indeed, it is common knowledge that some of the bureaus of one of the armed services had a special marking during the war for such cases, and the record of the individual concerned was initialed with the letter "P. I.," which meant "political influence." This manner of flagging the file signified that, when it came to ordering those boys into other assignments, the fact that someone in Congress had a special interest in them had to be taken into account by the military officers in charge of personnel.

But who is to investigate the activities of members of Congress in these matters? What committee is to call for the records from the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, especially for the period during the war when most American boys didn't have any political "pull" to keep them from facing the enemy overseas?

Has Happened Before

In the last couple of weeks some newspaper editorials have declared that the Senate Committee on Government Operations, of which Senator McCarthy is chairman, is ineligible to investigate a row involving members of its own staff, and that the Senate armed services committee should take it over. Is it to be naively assumed that not one of the members of the armed services committees of Congress during this session, or when the Democrats were in control, ever got any favors from the armed services? Anyone who knows the facts of legislative life knows that these are the very committees in behalf of whose members the armed services themselves stretch a point as to the personal requests of congressmen and lean over backward in order to keep the senators and representatives in a good humor when they deal with Army, Navy or Air Force legislation. Each armed service actually maintains a "legislative liaison"—an officer or group of officers who often handle these delicate tasks.

Could the appropriations committees of Congress do the investigating job? Obviously not, if the "rules" of ethics which lately have been proclaimed are to be accepted as proper. Some of the members of these appropriations committees are beholden to the armed services for everything from the "favored treatment" of a constituent who wants a job or a commission or a better assignment, to the maintenance of an airport or an appropriation for a navy yard or for some other military installation that means a big payroll for the local merchants in the home town, district or state of the member of Congress. And home-town merchants often contribute to campaign funds.

Correction Would Be Demanded

When will some member of the Senate or House put an end to all the hypocrisy and, with the courage of his convictions, demand that each of the armed services send to the vice president in the Senate and to the speaker of the House the records of all conversations, monitored and unmonitored, all letters and documents and the file of every soldier, sailor or airman who at the request of a member of Congress or his staff got "favored treatment" during and since World War II? The mere publication of the records would be enough, and no further investigation by any committee would be needed to apply the corrective that would be demanded by an outraged public opinion.

Unless this is done, the members of the Senate in all fairness ought to admit publicly that what happened in the Schine case has been and still is common practice and is not deserving of prolonged attention just because Pvt. Schine was formerly a member of the staff of Senator McCarthy, who exposed the now admitted laxity of the Army in its methods of handling Communists.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Just heard officially on my suggestion that France make another Maginot Line out of champagne cellars and mushroom caves.

What a chance to double-mickey the invader. You know what you can do with toadstools.

History states it was the fermented caves of champagne that saved Paris in 1914. The clown prince of Germany's army exercised its stop-over options by swabbing up one million bottles of good old Piper-headache, 1904. A very good year for France.

When Kaiser Billhelm heard the score he was fit to be tied. He wired his potted geranium, "Since when have rathskellars been trenches?"

Sonny boy telegraphed back, "You ordered me to fight to the last man. He happens to be a head waiter."

The 30 days the prince wasted in the champagne underground enabled Paris to hype the meters on its taxicabs. They got to the Marne with a volunteer army of two-bottle men.

France is worried some more over the dubious encore of the Berlin kaffee-klatch. For once again the Saar is up for grabs.

In the last Saar plebiscite the French lost from here to the barn. The Germans packed the election like a protean actor's trunk.

There's iron in the Saar and coal to blast it. That's what red-lighted the agreement. France would rather see two Germans with bayonets than one with a shovel.

Holocaust Of H-Bomb Shown On Film Is Expected To Electrify The Public

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — On direct orders of President Eisenhower, the veil covering the H-bomb will be lifted next week and the public will get its first glimpse of a Hydrogen explosion. However, this column is able to give a word preview of the horrible holocaust, which must be seen in technicolor to be fully appreciated.

What the public will see is a tremendous fireball, filling the horizen with flame and smoke. This was the world's first hydrogen blast, the one that plunged a rocky atoll 175 feet down through the ocean floor on November 1, 1952. Yet it was a mere firecracker compared to the latest hydrogen explosion exactly one month ago today.

The public will be shown the feverish preparations for the first H-blast. They will see a black, two-story structure atop a lonely atoll. This was known as the H-house, which housed the hydrogen device.

Then the cameras will show a control ship about 10 miles out to sea from the archipelago, about 35 miles from the fateful atoll. The public will watch while the control switches are pulled.

The horizen flames up, and a monstrous fireball takes shape. The announcer explains that the fireball, alone, is three miles in diameter, though it is only the red eyeball of the blast. It is then superimposed over New York City, showing how the center of Manhattan from Washington Square to Central Park would be turned into a fiery furnace, and the rest of the city would be devastated by shock and heat waves.

Poisonous Geyser

The fireball finally erupts into a geyser of smoke 25 miles high and forms the familiar mushroom cloud. Some scientists have suggested that it ought to be called a toadstool cloud, because it is deadly poisonous.

Most fearful result of a hydrogen explosion, scientists say, is what they call a heavy "falling off." This means the shower of radioactive ash that rains down over the area. In an atomic explosion, the radioactive residue is scattered in a fine spray that has a tendency to stay up in the atmosphere until it dissipates. A hydrogen blast, however, not only throws the radioactive poison over a wider area, but the particles are heavier and fall as literal firedrops from the sky, searing whatever they touch.

As the final scene of the 28-minute hydrogen film, the camera returns to the site of the grim, black H-house. The atoll on which it once stood has disappeared, and the audience is told all that remains is a 175-foot hole in the ocean bottom. The announcer's voice describes the hole as large enough to swallow up 18 Pentagon buildings.

This sobering film was cleared by the Atomic Energy Commission six months ago. President Eisenhower, himself, approved of its release to the public. But the Army and Navy raised such a clamor that the President changed his mind and kept it classified. The generals and admirals didn't want it released before their appropriation hearings, for fear some congressmen might get the idea that the H-bomb had outmoded massive land armies and navy task forces. At the prodding of Civil Defense Boss Val Peterson, however, the President finally overruled the Army and Navy.

What makes the film shocking, however, is the fact that it shows only a baby H-bomb. The March 1 blast was four to five times more powerful with a fireball larger than the entire area of destruction at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

McCarthy-Go-Round

Despite his bland denials, Senator McCarthy has passed out political favors to Pvt. David Schine's millionaire papa, J. Myer Schine. For example, McCarthy interceded to expedite action on a construction permit for a Schine TV station in Albany, N. Y. In return, McCarthy has flown around in Schine's private plane and stayed at his fashionable hotels — without paying a dime. . . . . It used to be considered unethical for a government employe to accept a 12-pound ham. . . . . The State Department is sitting on a report more explosive than the 34-page Army document on Roy Cohn and David Schine. The State Department report gives the real lowdown on the strange adventures of McCarthy's two junior G-men during their whirlwind, amateur spy hunt through Europe, telling how they were taken in by Communist agents. Secretary of State Dulles is saving this as ammunition in case McCarthy decides to pick on him. . . . . Biggest mystery in Washington still is why the supposedly fearless McCarthy is deathly afraid of pint-sized, 27-year-old Roy Cohn. On several occasions, McCarthy called Schine a "Jew boy," a "pest" and a "nuisance" behind his pal Cohn's back, then literally begged his listeners not to tell Cohn about it. . . . . The Wisconsin Progressive magazine (no connection with the left-wing Progressive party) has put out a devastating booklet on Senator McCarthy's record, now hot off the press in Madison, Wis. . . . . McCarthy is frantically trying to head off the Senate showdown on his battle with the Army. First, he tried to sell fellow senators on getting rid of Roy Cohn and Army Counsel John Adams as convenient scapegoats, then quietly dropping the whole matter. The only senator who fell for this whitewash, however, was Nevada's GOP Sen. George "Molly" Malone. Next, McCarthy slipped around to see Brig Gen. Tom Biddle, who has been a special trouble-shooter for Army Chief of Staff Gen. Matt Ridgway. But Biddle also stuck pins into McCarthy's trial balloon.

"Limit Of Blow-Out" Near

Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON.

According to advance estimates, the next hydorgen bomb in the current Pacific test series should develop a power of about 40 megatons. This means a bomb with some 2,000 times the power of the Hiroshima bomb, capable of laying waste an area of about a thousand square miles.

The test of this bomb had been delayed, while its probable power is recalculated, and the danger area extended. With so monstrous a force involved, this caution is understandable, especially in view of the fact that the scientists were wrong about the first bomb in the test series.

President Eisenhower himself is the authority for the statement that the scientists were "surprised and astonished" by the results of this first test. What surprised and astonished them was that the bomb developed a power of upwards of 14 megatons, almost twice the power they had estimated.

This miscalculation, which was wholly understandable in view of the incredible complexity of making such estimates, was almost fatal to the American crew of a B-36 heavy bomber. The bomber was flying some 18 miles from ground zero, the point where the bomb was exploded. This was entirely according to plan—according to prior calculations, the plane should have been safe at this distance from ground zero. But the shock wave from the explosion was so much greater than anticipated that the plane was actually turned over on its back in mid-air. The dazed crew was barely able to right the plane and avoid a crash.

Scientists Were Wrong

The fact is that the scientists have consistently underestimated the terrible forces whic hthey released when they opened the nuclear Pandora's box. At first, for example, they thought that the power of the original model of the atomic bomb could not be much increased. This was because a "critical amount" of fissionable material—just so much, no more, no less—is required to start the chain reaction. Yet President Eisenhower has stated that an atomic bomb with fully 25 times the power of the Hiroshima model has now been developed.

The scientists were even more strikingly wrong about the hydrogen bomb. It is not generally realized that President Truman gave the green light to the super-bomb project against a great weight of scientific opinion. Among those who expressed strong doubts about the project were Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, Dr. Robert Bacher, and Dr. Vannevar Bush, to name only three of the many distinguished scientists who shared such doubts.

These doubts may have been motivated in part by an emotional and moral reaction. But the main arguments against the super-bomb project were technical and scientific. A hydrogen bomb, it was believed, would be "tritium-limited"—it could derive its power only from a man-made element called tritium, which is immensely difficult and immensely expensive to make. Making trituim, moreover, requires the same plant and equipment as making fissionable materitl for atomic bombs.

The scientists calculated that the actual return on investment, in terms of destruction of enemy targets, would be far greater if the United States forgot about hydrogen bombs and concentrated on atomic bombs alone. The scientists were wrong. The technical reasons why they were wrong do not matter to the layman.

Practical Limit

What does matter is that the hydrogen bomb is clearly not tritium-limited after all. Hydrogen bombs can be built in large numbers quite cheaply and easily. Moreover, there is no theoretical limit whatever to the power which can be built into these horrible weapons.

Nevertheless, it is important to understand that there is a practical limit of sorts. Fortunately for mankind, the area destroyed by a bomb does not increase in direct proportion to the bomb's power. The forthcoming 40 megaton bomb, for example, although it will have 2,000 times the power of the Hiroshima bomb, will have only a bit over 10 times the radius of destruction—16 miles as against a mile and a half.

Moreover, the area destroyed increases more and more slowly as the bomb becomes more powerful, until finally there is no increase at all. This is explained by a phenomenon known as "the limit of blow-out." Because of air resistance to lateral blast, after a certain point any increase in power is dissipated in the relatively non-resistant upper atmosphere, so that there is no increase in lateral destruction at all.

The physicists calculate that the limit of blow-out should be reached at about 50 megatons. In short, for what consolation it may provide, with the 40 megaton bomb we should be approaching the limit of blow-out—provided the scientists have not underestimated again.

Use Of Enzymes Is Helpful In Kidney Stone Attacks

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Kidney stones may be present for years without causing symptoms. At any time during this period, however, they can kick over the traces and produce such severe colic or backache that several hypodermics of morphine are needed for relief. Few conditions are as painful as renal colic. The individual usually is awakened at night with marked pain in the back, side, or front of the abdomen in the region of the affected kidney.

The bout represents an attempt by the calculus to escape from the kidney, via the ureter, into the bladder. This channel often is too small for the stone and, as a result, it becomes stuck somewhere between the kidney and the bladder. Distress is due partly to obstruction and partly to scratching and irritation of the delicate lining of the ureter by the moving stone.

Pain is sharp, cramplike, and gripping in character and may be constant or intermittent. The victim twists and squirms, hoping to find a comfortable position. Larger rocks prove less troublesome because they cannot escape from the confines of the kidney. The weight of the stone causes aching varying from a stabbing sensation to a feeling of pressure or fullness. Should infection intervene, symptoms are intensified.

Kidney stones have no regard for age but are most common during the third and fourth decades. Both kidneys are involved in 10 per cent of all cases. Stones form because chemical substances have crystallized in the urine but the details of this process are not known. Ultramicroscopic studies have demonstrated that the urine sediment of susceptible people lack a jelly-like, protective, colliod material that envelops the various chemical compounds and prevents them from forming stones. Concentration of these colloid material that envelops the when infection occurs, colloids may disappear entirely.

Dr. Arthur J. Butt of Pensacola, Fla., discovered that injections of the enzyme hyaluronidase (a normal constituent of the body) increased the concentration of these colloids in the urine. Hyaluronidase is now manufactured commercially and is used in controlling the formation and growth of renal calculi. It works best in men and women who tend to develop one stone after another.

Can kidney stones be dissolved? Yes, but only those consisting of calcium phosphate, calcium carbonate, and magnesium phosphate. This is done with solvents such as Suby Solution B and is a long and tedious process. Stones other than renal must be removed by different means.

MEAT AND COLD

B. P. writes: Someone told me that if I ate more meat I would not feel the cold so much in the winter time. Is there any truth to this statement?

REPLY

Yes, because all foods add fuel to the human furnace. In this respect, meat is not unique because calories count in the production of heat. Eskimos, for example, eat blubber as well as meat which increases their intake of fat. Lumberjacks shovel in bacon, eggs, fried potatoes and pancakes by the ton to supply their energy needs and to stay warm.

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS

M. M. C. writes: What is the difference between hardening and shrinking of the arteries?

REPLY

Both are lay terms for arteriosclerosis. In this degenerative disorder, the walls of the arteries lose their elasticity and become brittle and thickened. As a result, the size of the opening is decreased, which reduces the flow of blood.

DON'T NEGLECT BLEEDING

J. S. writes: Should the appearance of a trace of blood in the movements approximately four times a year be investigated?

REPLY

Yes, because the causes of bleeding from the rectum vary from hemorrhoids to cancer. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on this topic.

Try And Stop Me

Manges, after six futile explosion shots in a deep trap at the Century Golf Club, exclaimed loudly, "The traps on this course are mighty annoying, aren't they?" Young, trying to line up a putt on an adjoining green, called over, "They certainly are. And I'd appreciate your closing yours."

One pupil missed on a simple arithmetic problem, and the teacher told him he'd have to stay after school. "How far out was I?" asked the boy. "Two dollars," said the teacher. The boy peeled two bills off a sizeable roll, handed them to the teacher, and said, "I'm in a hurry today, sir; do you mind if I pay the difference?"

Motorcycle Hill Climb Program Is Set For April 25

Riders To Vie On Kline Farm Near Airport

Potomac Valley Club Revives Sport After Two Years' Absence

Slant riding, once a magnet for big crowds because of its thrills and spills, will essay a comeback in this section the latter part of April.

The Potomac Valley Motorcycle Club announces that it will sponsor a one star, Class A hill climbing program on the Kline Farm, back of the Cumberland Airport, on Sunday, April 25 at 2 p. m.

Last Meet Held In 1951

It will mark the return of motorcycle hill climbing to the area after an absence of two years. The last event was staged in September 1951 on the Kline farm.

The program will consist of four events, two amateur (for 45 cubic inch motors) and two professional (up to 72 cubic inch motors).

Local Aces To Ride

Cumberland will be represented by Joe Hemmis, professional, and Howard "Chick" Grimm, amateur, and proprietor of the Blue Room on the Oldtown Road. Hemmis won a national title as an amateur in 1948 at Port Jervis, N. Y. He was second in 1947 as a amateur and third in 1951, second in 1952 and fifth in 1953 as a professional. Grimm made his debut on the hill-climbing circuit last year and participated in about eight out-of-town meets.

Riders participating in the local climb will be battling for points so as to qualify for the national championship events that will be staged at Muskegon, Mich., in August. Last year the blue ribbon events were held at Bethlehem, Pa.

Bengals Rough Phils' Robin Roberts, 7-2

LAKELAND, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's ace righthander, pitched the full nine innings today but was raked for 13 hits and the Phillies dropped a 7-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers roughed up Roberts for all their runs in the first four innings, the last three coming on Charlie Kress' home run over the centerfield fence with two mates aboard.

Righthander Steve Gromek shut-out the Phils for the first seven innings. Dick Marlowe worked the last two innings and lost the shut-out in the ninth when Stan Jok hit a home run with Bobby Morgan on base.

Trainer's Attorneys Ask For Dismissal

COLUMBUS, O., March 31 (AP)—Attorneys for Wyane (Curly) Smart, Delaware, Ohio, harness horse driver, have filed an entry of dismissal in Franklin County Common Pleas Court in their injunction suit against the United States Trotting Assn.

The USTA had suspended Smart from driving in a case in which stemmed from use of narcotics in treating a horse for which Smart was responsible as a trainer.

As a result of the dismissal of Smart's action against the USTA, a one-year suspension of the reinsman handed down by the New York State Harness Racing Commission last Sept. 30 is automatically invoked under the USTA reciprocity rules, a USTA spokesman said.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 31 (AP)—Tom Wright homered and Pete Runnels tripled in a big, five-run sixth inning outburst as Washington blasted Cincinnati 9-2 today for the American Leaguers' second win in as many days over the Reds.

Frank Shea, working the first six innings for the Senators, puzzled the Cincinnati batters, who socked only four hits. Sonny Dixon hurled the last three, allowing five safeties and two ninth-inning runs.

Amazing Bucs Defeat Yanks

Rookie Pitchers Hurl 9-3 Victory

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 31 (AP)—The upstart Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the world champion New York Yankees 9-3 today, ending the Yank's worst Florida showing in the six years of Casey Stengel's reign.

Today's loss was the 16th in 24 Florida games for the New Yorkers. Pittsburgh, a good bet to finish last in the National League, has a 12-6 record, best of any of the 12 Florida-based clubs.

The Pirates put the game out of reach in the first inning when they scored five times against Bob Wiesler, a young lefthander. Wiesler walked four and allowed up two hits in the inning.

Jim McDonald gave up three runs over six innings and Tom Gorman was touched for the final tally in the ninth.

Bob Purkey, a righthander, and lefty Fred Green, both rookies, blanked the Bombers on six hits over eight innings. Green, who pitched the last four, walked the first three men in the ninth and Elston Howard, the Yanks' Negro catcher, pinch singled two home. A third scored on a bad hop hit by Joe Collins.

Braves Stop All Advance Ticket Sales

Cut In Excise Tax Creates Confusion

MILWAUKEE, March 31 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, faced with baseball's biggest ticket tangle in the wake of the excise tax cut, today shut down all advance sale operations.

"We're awaiting clarification," explained Joseph Cirnes, executive vice-president of the club. "Until we find out just what the government is going to require of us in the matter of refunds and reprinting of tickets, we're not going to sell any more."

At the moment the Braves have an advance sale of well over one million tickets, far greater than any other club in the major leagues. The new tax bill, signed by President Eisenhower this afternoon, abolishes the federal fee on tickets of 50 cents or less and cuts from 20 to 10 per cent the tax on admissions over that amount.

"I think our first step will be an inventory of the tickets we have on hand," Cairnes said. "Although we know roughly how many tickets we've sold, there are close to 300,000 at out-of-town outlets where we're stopping sales, too.

"The tickets we have on hand, I understand, will have to be re-identified in some way, I don't know how as yet, to show that the tax has been cut. Maybe they'll have to be reprinted or punched or something.

"On those that are out already, I don't know what we'll do, either. I'm told the government will require proof that we've refunded the 10 per cent before returning the amount of the refund to us. If we do that by cancelled check, I'm afraid it will cost us more than the refund."

The Braves' price scale ranges from 80 cents, including 13 cents tax, for bleacher seats, to $3.60, including 60 cents tax, for mezzanine boxes.

Dodgers Top Braves, 10-7

Mathews, Hodges, Logan Hit Homers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Brooklyn's defending National League champions and their most feared challengers from Milwaukee opened their homeward series today with the Dodgers slugging out a 10-7 victory before a crowd of 7,995.

The game was called at the end of the eighth to permit the clubs to make a train.

With ground rules prevailing, the Dodgers made good use of doubles into the overflow crowd as they scored two runs in each of the fifth, sixth and seventh innings and then piled on three more in the eighth.

Gil Hodges also contributed a homer to Brooklyn's 12-hit attack, connecting in the second with Ray Crone hurling for the Braves.

Staley Hurls Cards To 6-3 Victory Over White Sox

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 31 (AP)—Star righthander Gerald Staley yielded only two hits in seven innings to help the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox in an exhibition today.

Al Brazle, the Cardinals' ancient bullpen ace, preserved the Cards' third straight triumph and 14th in 22 games by choking off a ninth-inning rally by the White Sox.

Staley now has given up only seven hits and one run in his last 30 innings of exhibition pitching.

MILWAUKEE'S RAY CRONE

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

Ray Crone

BRADENTON, Fla.—It was a good thing the Braves brought up Ray Crone for a look in the spring practice last year. It was a good thing for Ray and will be for the Milwaukee club if the 22-year-old righthander makes the grade as a member of the pitching staff.

Ray came up with a lot of promise last spring but his whole outlook on pitching, he admitted in camp this year, was wrong.

He figured then that he would have to throw that ball past the batters to make an impression. But watching some of the other Brave pitchers in camp he found that the important thing was to concentrate on control.

He was farmed out to Jacksonville of the Salley league and worked on his control. As a result he came in with a fine season, winning 19 games against 11 losses and walked but 104 men while striking out 174. He continued his fine work in the Puerto Rican winter league where he won 6 and lost 1 and then won an important game in the playoffs.

The Braves brought him back again this spring.

ALREADY RAY is hailed as a definite big leaguer. Manager Charlie Grimm thinks the boy will do well. He did do well in his first two training camp games, well enough to force the front office and the bench bosses to take especial notice.

One of those helping him in camp is Bucky Walters, a pretty fair sort of pitcher himself when he was an active player. Walters told this reporter that Crone has it, and that all he needs now is to know the batters in the big leagues.

Two other top-flight pitchers in their day, Ernie White and Whit Wyatt, also have worked with this youngster, who is as modest as they come.

Ray is a product of Memphis, Tenn. He attended school at Christian Brothers College, which also has a preparatory school, and in school ball and on the Legion diamond Ray was a star. He hurled several no-hitters and his Legion team won the state title three times.

Several clubs were after him but he liked the Braves' scout, Bill Maugham, and he signed with the Braves for $6,000 bonus.

The same year he finished high school he played pro ball with Owensboro of the Kitty League and had a 9-3 record. The next year, 1950, he was moved up to Evansville where he had 11-9.

It was Hartford in Eastern League in 1951 and his mark was 12-9. After a short period with Atlanta in 1952 he was returned to Hartford and there won 12 while losing 11. His earned-run average with Jacksonville last season was a fine 2.38.

Ray comes from a large and Catholic family. One of his brothers is a Franciscan priest, Father Raymond. A sister is a nun.

Ray is single and lives at home with his parents in Memphis. He has seen only three major league games in his life and never has been inside the Milwaukee ball park.

Henry Block, Camden, N. J., apprentice who led the jockeys during the Charles Town meeting, is riding at Atlantic City. He's 19.

West Virginia Deaf Hosts Capon Bridge In PVC Game Today

Capon Bridge High School, coached by Clifford H. Towles will launch its 10-game schedule in the Potomac Valley Conference when it plays West Virginia School for the Deaf today in Romney.

This is the first schoolboy contest scheduled in the area this season.

Capon Bridge posted an 8-2 record last season, including an even break with Romney High which went to the state finals. However, the team's two star pitchers, Wendell Ullery and Larry Saville, have graduated and Coach Towles must find a pair of hurlers to replace them.

West Virginia School for the Deaf lost eight straight in the conference and finished with a 0-11 record in 1953.

Never Too Old

Ben Jones once observed that if you send a horse to the post often enough he'll be beaten. Freeman Keyes, owner of Reverie Knoll Farm, might paraphrase Trainer Jones and say "if you send them out often enough they'll win a stakes". His MonPharo, a 7-year-old gelded son of Easy Mon was making his 47th start when he won the Anthony Pelleteri Handicap at the recent Fair Grounds meeting at New Orleans.

Parolee Given Term Of Year

A parole violator was given a term of not to exceed one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Males yesterday when he pleaded guilty to failing to observe the stipulations of his probation imposed in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Carl Raymond Rice, 18, 200 block Harrison Street, pleaded guilty yesterday before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris to a charge of siphoning gas from a truck parked on the Novick Transfer property.

Assistant State's Attorney James Getty, in citing the facts in the case, revealed Rice had signed a statement confessing participation in theft of the gas.

He told how Rice and a companion, Walter F. Perry, on the night of March 12, took the gas and were caught in the act by police in a cruiser who chased and apprehended them on a dead end street.

David Steele, state probation officer, testified that Rice had been given a one-year suspended sentence in Prince Georges County for auto larceny prior to his conviction in October in Circuit Court here for purse snatching. He received a three-year suspended sentence.

Orioles Are New, To Be Sure, But Have Several Old Faces

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By S. D. ROCKWELL
Central Press Correspondent

YUMA, Ariz. — You browse around the Baltimore Orioles' training camp here in this dusty desert land and out of an unwieldy squad of 54 players you see a number of faces you've seen somewhere before.

Let's see, there's Vic Wertz. And Don Lenhardt. And Billy Hunter. And Bobby Young. And Junior Stephens. And Clint Courtney.

Then you walk over to the dugout where Manager James J. Dykes is holding court and you say, "Jimmy, are these the Baltimore Orioles or the St. Louis Browns?"

"They're the Baltimore Orioles and don't you forget it," Dykes snaps. "And what's more, they're a pretty good ball club."

You say they look a lot like the St. Louis Browns and even if they are the Orioles, how can they be such a good ball club? Didn't the Browns finish last last year?

"Yes, but as the Orioles they're a better club," Dykes says. "Baltimore has been so starved for big league baseball that the people of that city are simply going wild. Why, a lot of them have even come all the way out here just to see us train.

"That civic spirit is going to mean a lot. You can't play your best ball day after day when the stands are empty and that's what

Catcher Clint Courtney

Outfielder Don Lenhardt

the Browns were up against last year."

THIS IS ALL very interesting, you say, but how about naming names. Start with the pitching staff.

"Well, I'll admit we're going to need pitching," Dykes says. "We've got a flock of good young pitchers here, but how soon they'll develop I don't know."

He went on to point out that in Bob Turley and Don Larsen the Orioles have two of the best young pitchers in the business. Turley, in particular, has been very impressive this spring. The six-four, 215-pounder has displayed a sizzling fast ball.

"Turley is going to be one of greatest," Dykes says. "Maybe not this year, but someday. I think he'll even win his share this year, green as he is."

Dykes is also counting heavily on such former Brownies as Southpaw Dick Littlefield, Duane Pillette and Reliefer Marlin Stewart. He has high hopes for the veteran Joe Coleman, who followed him from Philadelphia.

Then there's Lou Kretlow, who needs only to control a blazing fast ball; Howard Fox, a former National leaguer; Vern Bickford, former star for the Braves, and Jehosie Heard, a 16-game winner at Portland.

"PITCHING is a problem, all right," Dykes says, "but I know this club has good power. And not bad defense, either."

Flashy Billy Hunter is back at shortstop and Dykes says there isn't a better glove man anywhere. He also thinks highly of the capable second baseman, Bobby Young. They formed a fine doubleplay team last year for the Browns.

Vernon Stephens, a spry 33, is the No. 1 candidate at third base with Jim Dyck held in reserve. Dick Kryhoski was the leading first base contender until the Orioles bought smooth fielding Eddie Waitkus from the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Im glad we got Waitkus," Dyckes says. "I think he's the best fielding first baseman in either league and he always hits around .290. I know a lot of other clubs would like to have him."

THE ORIOLE leader is satisfied that he has a dependable catching corps in scrappy Clint Courtney, Less Moss and Darrell Johnson. There was some talk that the Birds might trade Courtney to Cleveland, but Dykes claims he won't part with the Yankee-baiter now.

"Courtney is having a fine spring," Dykes says. "He's hitting like he was two years ago."

As for reserves, the Orioles have ex-National Leaguer Chuck Diering, Don Lenhardt, Dick Kokos and Jim Fridley in the outfield. Fridley, a Cleveland Indian castoff, hit 26 home runs last season for San Antonio and was the camp sensation early this spring.

Reserve infielders include draftee Vinicio Garcia, a Mexican up from Shreveport; Dyck, the regular third baseman last season, and Kryhoski, who is now on the sidelines with a fractured left wrist. He was hit by a pitched ball in an exhibition game.

"RIGHT NOW," Dykes says, "this club is 20 games better than it was last year. That's because of fan support in Baltimore. You saw what that support did to the Braves after they moved from Boston to Milwaukee.

"In Baltimore they say if we climb to sixth they'll be satisfied, but I've got a hunch we can even go higher. I have a feeling this club will surprise a lot of people."

OGLING THE ORIOLES

Tribe's Errors Beat Newhouser

Giants Win 4 To 2 On Only Four Hits

HOUSTON, Tex., March 31 (AP)—The New York Giants regained their winning touch before a crowd of 8,232 in Buff Stadium today, 4-2 to make their record nine out of 12 in their spring barnstorming defeating the Cleveland Indians tour with the Tribe.

The Giants who lost to Cleveland yesterday, collected only four hits, but received help from the Indians, who made four errors. Three of the New York runs were unearned.

Second baseman Rudy Regalado, the Tribe's rookie hitting sensation, committed two of the miscues, while first baseman Rocky Nelson and third baseman Al Rosen contributed one apiece.

Hal Newhouser, 32-year-old former Detroit ace southpaw who is trying a comeback, worked the first five innings for the Indians and was charged with the defeat. He yielded three of the Giant hits and all of their runs.

Potomac State Nine Opens With 9-1 Win Over Wesleyan

Lyons Twirls 4-Hitter At Ohio Tossers

Gorman Brothers Top 16-Hit Cat Attack; Teams To Meet Today

KEYSER, W. Va., March 31—Righthander Dick Lyons, formerly of Fort Ashby, tossed a four-hitter here today as Potomac State's Catamounts opened their 1954 baseball season with a 9-1 triumph over Ohio Wesleyan of Delaware, Ohio.

Except for the sixth inning when the Battling Bishops tallied their only run Lyons was in complete command. He walked three and struck out nine.

Potomac's 16-hit attack was paced by the Gorman brothers, Jay and Gene who play the left and right side of the outfield for Coach John Maiden's tossers, and Harry "Tucker" Cain. All collected two hits including doubles and each drove in two runs for the Catamounts. Both of Cain's bingles were two-base blows.

The Cats, who will host the Bishops again tomorrow at 2 p. m. on Stayman Field, took a 4-0 lead in the first five innings, scored twice more in the sixth and added a trio of tallies in the eighth off Bill Popp, another righthander, who went the distance for the Ohioans.

Wesleyan's only tally came when Dave Arnold opened the sixth with a single, Jim Hibbetts walked and Paul Kessebeth was safe on shortstop Ed Egan's bobble to load the bases. Arnold came home on Bob Hancher's deep sacrifice fly to left field.

Lyons then pitched out of trouble by getting Diamond Economy, Ohio first baseman, to hit into a force play and fanning Jed Weisman.

Ohio threatened in the first inning when Arnold was hit by a pitch and Hibbetts strolled. But after Kissebeth's ground out advanced the runners Lyons bore down and struck out Hancher and Economy.

AS HOT STOVE LEAGUE CHAMPS WERE HONORED — The Times-News baseball team, pennant and playoff winners in the 1953 Cumberland Hot Stove League, received two trophies at the dinner given the champions last night at the Loyal Order of Moose Home. The trophies shown above are the Arthur Gehauf and the Ed Hoey. Each must be won three times by the same team to be retired. The Times-News team has two legs on the Ed Hoey Trophy and one leg on the Gehauf Trophy. Those pictured, left to right, are: Robert O. Collins, league president; Lonnie Jackson, vice president; Arthur Washington, pitching ace of the Times-News team, who was presented a baseball autographed by Sal Maglie of the New York Giants, for good sportsmanship; Mal "The Vest" Campbell, of Radio Station WCUM, who acted as toastmaster; Howard "Farmer" Northcraft, manager of the Times-News, league champions of 1952 and 1953, and his most able assistants, Lloyd "Pete" Deremer and Paul Cioni.

Times-News Tossers Honored, Champions Get Two Trophies

Washington Receives Award; Northcraft Is Praised; 50 At Dinner

Howard "Farmer" Northcraft was described as a "fighting manager" and was praised for his competitive spirit as the "Reynolds Street agriculturist" and his Times-News champions of the 1953 Cumberland Hot Stove League were honored at a dinner given by the Times and Alleganian Company last night at the Loyal Order of Moose Home.

The words of praise were delivered by Robert O. Collins, president of the league, who told the players present that "what you do as youngsters you'll never forget in years to come."

Lonnie Jackson, league vice president, offered his congratulations to "Farmer and his boys" and added that Northcraft was "one of the greatest competitors he ever faced." Jackson managed the Rotary Club team in the Hot Stove League and is bowing out as a pilot in the loop this year as is Collins.

"Farmer" Praises Players

In response to the many nice things said about him and his team, Northcraft expressed thanks and said he was sorry to see Collins and Jackson give up the managerial reins after having rounded out several successful seasons in the league. The Times-News manager also praised the players on his squad and stated that he hated to lose many of his stars for the 1954 race but he always will remember them.

Mal "The Vest" Campbell, sports expert of Radio Station WCUM, who, as usual, hit a home run with the bases loaded in the role of toastmaster, paid a fitting tribute to Mrs. Northcraft as the "lady behind the scenes" and laughingly remarked that "Farmer's" wife probably knows as much about the game as the manager himself.

Mrs. Sidna Northcraft, who, incidentally, pinch-hit for "Farmer" several times and walked off the field with a winner, recalled one game in which the Optimists were leading the Newsies, 2-0. In the presence of the players she remarked that "it will be kind of rough to go home tonight if we lose this game." In the late innings the Times-News tied the score at 2-2 and Arthur Washington came to her and said: "Mrs. Northcraft, I think we're gonna make it all right for you to go home tonight." Art shut out the opposition in the next inning and then delivered the hit that won the ball game. In conclusion, the lady manager said: "I hope we get the third leg on that trophy this year."

Washington Given Trophy

Washington was the recipient of a baseball autographed by Sal Maglie, pitching star of the New York Giants. The trophy was presented to him by Lonnie Jackson, who described the Negro lad as the "best sportsman in the Hot Stove League and a real gentleman on and off the field."

Campbell introduced Washington as the "boy in the snazzy, white turtle neck sweater" and the winner of 26 out of 31 games in four years of pitching for the Phillies in the Little League and the Times-News. Sir Malcolm also cited the performances of Ronnie Diehl who hit .473, hit 14 home runs and fielded .974; Bill Hanekamp, whose batting and fielding averages were .374 and .977 and Mike Collins who batted .310 and fielded .814.

Washington got a chuckle out of those present when he said that "it took a lot of patience from the managers to go along with the boys" and he added he was sorry to leave the Hot Stove League.

Praising the pitching feats of Washington, Campbell remarked that "Big Newk got out of the service just in time to save his job."

Joseph K. Mooney told the boys to "let's keep winning, just like the Yankees."

Others who spoke briefly were Lloyd Deremer and Paul Cioni, assistant managers; Clifton Van Roby, introduced as a "great competitor at the dinner table"; and Christ Charuhas, the "Golden Greek," who told those present to "pray to God to continue to keep our country strong."

Earl M. Nonnenmann presented a cash prize of $6 to Bill Powell who sold the most tickets for the Hot Stove League's all-star game.

Two Trophies Presented

The Times-News teams received two trophies, the Arthur Gehauf, won in 1952 by the Optimist Club and in 1953 by the Times-News, and the Ed Hoey, won in 1951 by the Lions Club and in 1952 and 1953 by the Times-News.

Joseph K. Mooney invoked the blessing before the guests put away a turkey dinner.

Those present included:

Collins, Christ Charuhas, Glenwood "Tag" Reel, Mal Campbell, Clifton Van Roby, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cioni and son Phil, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd "Pete" Deremer and son Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Northcraft and daughters, Linda and Donna; Joseph K. The Trotters were paced to an easy 42-13 triumph over the Alcoettes by Jeanne Clontz True who scored 21 points in the opener of last night's triple header.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 31 (INS)—Although Lana Turner is on a paid vacation until April 26, she's getting very impatient about not working.

Said Lana, "Out of eight pictures planned at MGM, not one is for me. I love my salary, but I would rather work. I wish I could be loaned out if MGM hasn't anything ready."

I can tell Lana now that Dore Schary has bought "The Cobweb" for her. It's a current novel by William Gibson, which John Houseman will produce as soon as it's scripted.

Now it looks as if Joan Crawford is set—and all but delivered—to play the charity racketeer who "befriends" the blind deaf-mute in "The Story of Esther Costello."

The role has been rumored for Barbara Stanwyck or Bette Davis. But Sam Fuller, who will direct and write the screenplay for the Woolf brothers, says Joan has been his choice from the start.

The drama has a June 1 starting date in London. By this time, Joan should have cleared her TV shows and be free to leave for England.

"Dead Pigeon," a play by Leonard Kanton, which lived but briefly in New York, but has a story that could be made into a really good picture, has been bought by Columbia. The suggestion came from Jerry Wald, who saw a very good motion picture in it. Bobby Cohn will produce it.

When I was in Phoenix I visited Scottsdale, a nearby town with a set-up ready for movie cameras. It's advertised as the most western town in the west.

Cowboys in full regalia ride down the streets which are patterned after the early western towns. Tony Longinotti designed the stores, as well as the Lulubelle, a cafe done in authentic 1890 period.

Love seats from the old Palmer House in Chicago, plus photographs of Diamond Jim Brady and celebrities of that day adorn the walls. Over 500 visitors on a Saturday crowd into the small cafe.

There was certainly a great reunion when Richard Barthelmess got together with his old pals, William Powell and Ronald Colman. Dick, Bill and Ronnie used to be called "The Three Musketeers."

Dick is the house guest of Bill Powell and he has been at the Harlequin several times for dinner with some friends of Mousie and Bill's.

Riders To Vie On Kline Farm Near Airport

Potomac Valley Club Revives Sport After Two Years' Absence

Slant riding, once a magnet for big crowds because of its thrills and spills, will essay a comeback in this section the latter part of April.

The Potomac Valley Motorcycle Club announces that it will sponsor a one star, Class A hill climbing program on the Kline Farm, back of the Cumberland Airport, on Sunday, April 25 at 2 p. m.

Last Meet Held In 1951

It will mark the return of motorcycle hill climbing to the area after an absence of two years. The last event was staged in September 1951 on the Kline farm.

The program will consist of four events, two amateur (for 45 cubic inch motors) and two professional (up to 72 cubic inch motors).

Local Aces To Ride

Cumberland will be represented by Joe Hemmis, professional, and Howard "Chick" Grimm, amateur, and proprietor of the Blue Room on the Oldtown Road. Hemmis won a national title as an amateur in 1948 at Port Jervis, N. Y. He was second in 1947 as a amateur and third in 1951, second in 1952 and fifth in 1953 as a professional. Grimm made his debut on the hill-climbing circuit last year and participated in about eight out-of-town meets.

Riders participating in the local climb will be battling for points so as to qualify for the national championship events that will be staged at Muskegon, Mich., in August. Last year the blue ribbon events were held at Bethlehem, Pa.

Bengals Rough Phils' Robin Roberts, 7-2

LAKELAND, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's ace righthander, pitched the full nine innings today but was raked for 13 hits and the Phillies dropped a 7-2 decision to the Detroit Tigers.

The Tigers roughed up Roberts for all their runs in the first four innings, the last three coming on Charlie Kress' home run over the centerfield fence with two mates aboard.

Righthander Steve Gromek shut-out the Phils for the first seven innings. Dick Marlowe worked the last two innings and lost the shut-out in the ninth when Stan Jok hit a home run with Bobby Morgan on base.

Trainer's Attorneys Ask For Dismissal

COLUMBUS, O., March 31 (AP)—Attorneys for Wyane (Curly) Smart, Delaware, Ohio, harness horse driver, have filed an entry of dismissal in Franklin County Common Pleas Court in their injunction suit against the United States Trotting Assn.

The USTA had suspended Smart from driving in a case in which stemmed from use of narcotics in treating a horse for which Smart was responsible as a trainer.

As a result of the dismissal of Smart's action against the USTA, a one-year suspension of the reinsman handed down by the New York State Harness Racing Commission last Sept. 30 is automatically invoked under the USTA reciprocity rules, a USTA spokesman said.

Wright, Runnels Pace Nats Win

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 31 (AP)—Tom Wright homered and Pete Runnels tripled in a big, five-run sixth inning outburst as Washington blasted Cincinnati 9-2 today for the American Leaguers' second win in as many days over the Reds.

Frank Shea, working the first six innings for the Senators, puzzled the Cincinnati batters, who socked only four hits. Sonny Dixon hurled the last three, allowing five safeties and two ninth-inning runs.

Amazing Bucs Defeat Yanks

Rookie Pitchers Hurl 9-3 Victory

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 31 (AP)—The upstart Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the world champion New York Yankees 9-3 today, ending the Yank's worst Florida showing in the six years of Casey Stengel's reign.

Today's loss was the 16th in 24 Florida games for the New Yorkers. Pittsburgh, a good bet to finish last in the National League, has a 12-6 record, best of any of the 12 Florida-based clubs.

The Pirates put the game out of reach in the first inning when they scored five times against Bob Wiesler, a young lefthander. Wiesler walked four and allowed up two hits in the inning.

Jim McDonald gave up three runs over six innings and Tom Gorman was touched for the final tally in the ninth.

Bob Purkey, a righthander, and lefty Fred Green, both rookies, blanked the Bombers on six hits over eight innings. Green, who pitched the last four, walked the first three men in the ninth and Elston Howard, the Yanks' Negro catcher, pinch singled two home. A third scored on a bad hop hit by Joe Collins.

NEW HAVEN, March 31 (AP)—About 200 of the country's top swimmers, collegiate and otherwise, are entered in the national A.A.U. men's indoor swimming championships which get under way Thursday night in the Yale University pool.

Heading the entries representing 46 organizations is a powerful delegation of Ohio State University swimmers and divers who pooled their talents last weekend to win the national collegiate championship at Syracuse. The New Haven Swim Club, composed of Yale varsity and freshman swimmers, is the defending team champion.

Braves Stop All Advance Ticket Sales

Cut In Excise Tax Creates Confusion

MILWAUKEE, March 31 (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, faced with baseball's biggest ticket tangle in the wake of the excise tax cut, today shut down all advance sale operations.

"We're awaiting clarification," explained Joseph Cirnes, executive vice-president of the club. "Until we find out just what the government is going to require of us in the matter of refunds and reprinting of tickets, we're not going to sell any more."

At the moment the Braves have an advance sale of well over one million tickets, far greater than any other club in the major leagues. The new tax bill, signed by President Eisenhower this afternoon, abolishes the federal fee on tickets of 50 cents or less and cuts from 20 to 10 per cent the tax on admissions over that amount.

"I think our first step will be an inventory of the tickets we have on hand," Cairnes said. "Although we know roughly how many tickets we've sold, there are close to 300,000 at out-of-town outlets where we're stopping sales, too.

"The tickets we have on hand, I understand, will have to be re-identified in some way, I don't know how as yet, to show that the tax has been cut. Maybe they'll have to be reprinted or punched or something.

"On those that are out already, I don't know what we'll do, either. I'm told the government will require proof that we've refunded the 10 per cent before returning the amount of the refund to us. If we do that by cancelled check, I'm afraid it will cost us more than the refund."

Dodgers Top Braves, 10-7

Mathews, Hodges, Logan Hit Homers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 31 (AP)—Brooklyn's defending National League champions and their most feared challengers from Milwaukee opened their homeward series today with the Dodgers slugging out a 10-7 victory before a crowd of 7,995.

The game was called at the end of the eighth to permit the clubs to make a train.

With ground rules prevailing, the Dodgers made good use of doubles into the overflow crowd as they scored two runs in each of the fifth, sixth and seventh innings and then piled on three more in the eighth.

Gil Hodges also contributed a homer to Brooklyn's 12-hit attack, connecting in the second with Ray Crone hurling for the Braves.

Staley Hurls Cards To 6-3 Victory Over White Sox

COLUMBUS, Ga., March 31 (AP)—Star righthander Gerald Staley yielded only two hits in seven innings to help the St. Louis Cardinals to a 6-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox in an exhibition today.

Al Brazle, the Cardinals' ancient bullpen ace, preserved the Cards' third straight triumph and 14th in 22 games by choking off a ninth-inning rally by the White Sox.

Staley now has given up only seven hits and one run in his last 30 innings of exhibition pitching.

Orioles Ticket Sale To Begin Today

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles will hold their first and probably only sale of general admission tickets tomorrow for the opening game here April 15 with the Chicago White Sox.

The 7,636 tickets available at the general admission price of $1.50 are expected to be snapped up on a first-come-first-served basis and limit of two a customer.

The 3,406 bleacher seats for 75 cents will be sold the day of the game.

Watch This One!

MILWAUKEE'S RAY CRONE

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

BRADENTON, Fla.—It was a good thing the Braves brought up Ray Crone for a look in the spring practice last year. It was a good thing for Ray and will be for the Milwaukee club if the 22-year-old righthander makes the grade as a member of the pitching staff.

Ray came up with a lot of promise last spring but his whole outlook on pitching, he admitted in camp this year, was wrong.

He figured then that he would have to throw that ball past the batters to make an impression. But watching some of the other Brave pitchers in camp he found that the important thing was to concentrate on control.

He was farmed out to Jacksonville of the Salley league and worked on his control. As a result he came in with a fine season, winning 19 games against 11 losses and walked but 104 men while striking out 174. He continued his fine work in the Puerto Rican winter league where he won 6 and lost 1 and then won an important game in the playoffs.

The Braves brought him back again this spring.

ALREADY RAY is hailed as a definite big leaguer. Manager Charlie Grimm thinks the boy will do well. He did do well in his first two training camp games, well enough to force the front office and the bench bosses to take especial notice.

One of those helping him in camp is Bucky Walters, a pretty fair sort of pitcher himself when he was an active player. Walters told this reporter that Crone has it, and that all he needs now is to know the batters in the big leagues.

Two other top-flight pitchers in their day, Ernie White and Whit Wyatt, also have worked with this youngster, who is as modest as they come.

Ray is a product of Memphis, Tenn. He attended school at Christian Brothers College, which also has a preparatory school, and in school ball and on the Legion diamond Ray was a star. He hurled several no-hitters and his Legion team won the state title three times.

Several clubs were after him but he liked the Braves' scout, Bill Maugham, and he signed with the Braves for $6,000 bonus.

Ray Crone

The same year he finished high school he played pro ball with Owensboro of the Kitty League and had a 9-3 record. The next year, 1950, he was moved up to Evansville where he had 11-9.

It was Hartford in Eastern League in 1951 and his mark was 12-9. After a short period with Atlanta in 1952 he was returned to Hartford and there won 12 while losing 11. His earned-run average with Jacksonville last season was a fine 2.38.

Ray comes from a large and Catholic family. One of his brothers is a Franciscan priest, Father Raymond. A sister is a nun.

Ray is single and lives at home with his parents in Memphis. He has seen only three major league games in his life and never has been inside the Milwaukee ball park.

Henry Block, Camden, N. J., apprentice who led the jockeys during the Charles Town meeting, is riding at Atlantic City. He's 19.

West Virginia Deaf Hosts Capon Bridge In PVC Game Today

Capon Bridge High School, coached by Clifford H. Towles will launch its 10-game schedule in the Potomac Valley Conference when it plays West Virginia School for the Deaf today in Romney.

This is the first schoolboy contest scheduled in the area this season.

Capon Bridge posted an 8-2 record last season, including an even break with Romney High which went to the state finals. However, the team's two star pitchers, Wendell Ullery and Larry Saville, have graduated and Coach Towles must find a pair of hurlers to replace them.

West Virginia School for the Deaf lost eight straight in the conference and finished with a 0-11 record in 1953.

Never Too Old

Ben Jones once observed that if you send a horse to the post often enough he'll be beaten. Freeman Keyes, owner of Reverie Knoll Farm, might paraphrase Trainer Jones and say "if you send them out often enough they'll win a stakes". His MonPharo, a 7-year-old gelded son of Easy Mon was making his 47th start when he won the Anthony Pelleteri Handicap at the recent Fair Grounds meeting at New Orleans.

Daily Bridge Lesson

ONLY YOU CAN SIGN OFF

MAYBE your partner considers a particular bid of his as a "sign-off," indicating the end of the line. That may be all well and good, as far as he is concerned. But not necessarily for you. If you have more strength than so far shown, it is incumbent on you to consider going higher. That applies just as definitely to a bid of 3-No Trumps, after the side had reached three of a suit, as to any other call. In such a situation, nobody can sign you off except yourself.

	♠ 8 6 ♥ Q J 10 9 2 ♦ J 9 ♣ 10 5 4 2
♠ 5 ♥ K 4 ♦ A K Q 8 4 3 ♣ A J 7 3	N W E S	♠ K Q 7 ♥ A 7 6 5 ♦ 7 6 ♣ K Q 8 6
	♠ A J 10 9 4 3 2 ♥ 8 3 ♦ 10 5 2 ♣ 9

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	6 NT

You might find it hard to believe, but nearly half of the West players in a sizeable social duplicate game, among players of assorted skill, considered East's 3-No Trumps as a signoff, indicating that was as far as the bidding should go, so passed. It was indeed a signoff for East, who by then had shown the full strength of his hand. But it certainly should not have silenced West.

Where sounder players sat in the West position, it was realized that six tricks in diamonds plus one in clubs, in a No Trump contract, made that holding much better than the minimum strength already indicated. Also the heart K and club J might be very valuable. So they had a chance to make a most informative bid when they called 4-Clubs. First of all, that told East the diamonds were at least six cards in length and the clubs at least four, also that West had more strength than previously advertised, as he surely did, and was probing for a possible slam.

East welcomed the sound of the 4-Clubs and showed it by his 5-Clubs call. Since West had clearly shown only a four-carder in that suit, he knew his partner had four too. The 6-Clubs bid was then easy for West to make. In rubber bridge that should have been passed. But this was match-point tournament play, so East shifted to 6-No Trumps to eke out the slightly larger point total which might mean the difference between tying the top-scorers or being out-tallied by them.

What is correct defense against South's 5-Diamonds, reached after normal bidding?

Orioles Are New, To Be Sure, But Have Several Old Faces

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By S. D. ROCKWELL
Central Press Correspondent

YUMA, Ariz. — You browse around the Baltimore Orioles' training camp here in this dusty desert land and out of an unwieldy squad of 54 players you see a number of faces you've seen somewhere before.

Let's see, there's Vic Wertz. And Don Lenhardt. And Billy Hunter. And Bobby Young. And Junior Stephens. And Clint Courtney.

Then you walk over to the dugout where Manager James J. Dykes is holding court and you say, "Jimmy, are these the Baltimore Orioles or the St. Louis Browns?"

"They're the Baltimore Orioles and don't you forget it," Dykes snaps. "And what's more, they're a pretty good ball club."

You say they look a lot like the St. Louis Browns and even if they are the Orioles, how can they be such a good ball club? Didn't the Browns finish last last year?

"Yes, but as the Orioles they're a better club," Dykes says. "Baltimore has been so starved for big league baseball that the people of that city are simply going wild. Why, a lot of them have even come all the way out here just to see us train.

"That civic spirit is going to mean a lot. You can't play your best ball day after day when the stands are empty and that's what

Catcher Clint Courtney

Outfielder Don Lenhardt

the Browns were up against last year."

THIS IS ALL very interesting, you say, but how about naming names. Start with the pitching staff.

"Well, I'll admit we're going to need pitching," Dykes says. "We've got a flock of good young pitchers here, but how soon they'll develop I don't know."

He went on to point out that in Bob Turley and Don Larsen the Orioles have two of the best young pitchers in the business. Turley, in particular, has been very impressive this spring. The six-four, 215-pounder has displayed a sizzling fast ball.

"Turley is going to be one of greatest," Dykes says. "Maybe not this year, but someday. I think he'll even win his share this year, green as he is."

Dykes is also counting heavily on such former Brownies as Southpaw Dick Littlefield, Duane Pillette and Reliefer Marlin Stewart. He has high hopes for the veteran Joe Coleman, who followed him from Philadelphia.

Then there's Lou Kretlow, who needs only to control a blazing fast ball; Howard Fox, a former National leaguer; Vern Bickford, former star for the Braves, and Jehosie Heard, a 16-game winner at Portland.

"PITCHING is a problem, all right," Dykes says, "but I know this club has good power. And not bad defense, either."

Flashy Billy Hunter is back at shortstop and Dykes says there isn't a better glove man anywhere. He also thinks highly of the capable second baseman, Bobby Young. They formed a fine doubleplay team last year for the Browns.

Vernon Stephens, a spry 33, is the No. 1 candidate at third base with Jim Dyck held in reserve. Dick Kryhoski was the leading first base contender until the Orioles bought smooth fielding Eddie Waitkus from the Philadelphia Phillies.

"Im glad we got Waitkus," Dyckes says. "I think he's the best fielding first baseman in either league and he always hits around .290. I know a lot of other clubs would like to have him."

THE ORIOLE leader is satisfied that he has a dependable catching corps in scrappy Clint Courtney, Less Moss and Darrell Johnson. There was some talk that the Birds might trade Courtney to Cleveland, but Dykes claims he won't part with the Yankee-baiter now.

"Courtney is having a fine spring," Dykes says. "He's hitting like he was two years ago."

As for reserves, the Orioles have ex-National Leaguer Chuck Diering, Don Lenhardt, Dick Kokos and Jim Fridley in the outfield. Fridley, a Cleveland Indian castoff, hit 26 home runs last season for San Antonio and was the camp sensation early this spring.

Reserve infielders include draftee Vinicio Garcia, a Mexican up from Shreveport; Dyck, the regular third baseman last season, and Kryhoski, who is now on the sidelines with a fractured left wrist. He was hit by a pitched ball in an exhibition game.

"RIGHT NOW," Dykes says, "this club is 20 games better than it was last year. That's because of fan support in Baltimore. You saw what that support did to the Braves after they moved from Boston to Milwaukee.

"In Baltimore they say if we climb to sixth they'll be satisfied, but I've got a hunch we can even go higher. I have a feeling this club will surprise a lot of people."

OGLING THE ORIOLES

Tribe's Errors Beat Newhouser

Giants Win 4 To 2 On Only Four Hits

HOUSTON, Tex., March 31 (AP)—The New York Giants regained their winning touch before a crowd of 8,232 in Buff Stadium today, 4-2 to make their record nine out of 12 in their spring barnstorming defeating the Cleveland Indians tour with the Tribe.

The Giants who lost to Cleveland yesterday, collected only four hits, but received help from the Indians, who made four errors. Three of the New York runs were unearned.

Second baseman Rudy Regalado, the Tribe's rookie hitting sensation, committed two of the miscues, while first baseman Rocky Nelson and third baseman Al Rosen contributed one apiece.

Hal Newhouser, 32-year-old former Detroit ace southpaw who is trying a comeback, worked the first five innings for the Indians and was charged with the defeat. He yielded three of the Giant hits and all of their runs.

Two Colt Players Retire From Game

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP)—Two Baltimore Colts of last year, tackle Ernie Blandin and Halfback Tom Kalmanir, announced today their retirement from professional football.

It's the second retirement for Blandin. The 35-year-old former Tulane collegian came back last season after a one-year layoff.

Kalmanir, a graduate of Nevada, played five years in the National Football League. He was with the Los Angeles Rams before the Colts.

MONUMENTS and

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, March 31 (INS)—Although Lana Turner is on a paid vacation until April 26, she's getting very impatient about not working.

Said Lana, "Out of eight pictures planned at MGM, not one is for me. I love my salary, but I would rather work. I wish I could be loaned out if MGM hasn't anything ready."

I can tell Lana now that Dore Schary has bought "The Cobweb" for her. It's a current novel by William Gibson, which John Houseman will produce as soon as it's scripted.

Now it looks as if Joan Crawford is set—and all but delivered—to play the charity racketeer who "befriends" the blind deaf-mute in "The Story of Esther Costello."

The role has been rumored for Barbara Stanwyck or Bette Davis. But Sam Fuller, who will direct and write the screenplay for the Woolf brothers, says Joan has been his choice from the start.

The drama has a June 1 starting date in London. By this time, Joan should have cleared her TV shows and be free to leave for England.

"Dead Pigeon," a play by Leonard Kanton, which lived but briefly in New York, but has a story that could be made into a really good picture, has been bought by Columbia. The suggestion came from Jerry Wald, who saw a very good motion picture in it. Bobby Cohn will produce it.

When I was in Phoenix I visited Scottsdale, a nearby town with a set-up ready for movie cameras. It's advertised as the most western town in the west.

Cowboys in full regalia ride down the streets which are patterned after the early western towns. Tony Longinotti designed the stores, as well as the Lulubelle, a cafe done in authentic 1890 period.

There was certainly a great reunion when Richard Barthelmess got together with his old pals, William Powell and Ronald Colman. Dick, Bill and Ronnie used to be called "The Three Musketeers."

Dick is the house guest of Bill Powell and he has been at the Harlequin several times for dinner with some friends of Mousie and Bill's.

Rails Stand Out As Market Reaches New 24-Year High

NEW YORK, March 31 (AP)—The Stock Market raced ahead today to new peaks for the past 24 years in a strong drive spearheaded by railroads.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained $1.20, an amount that has been equalled but not surpassed since mid-October of last year.

The average now stands at $117.00, a new high for the year and the best since June 2 of 1930.

Prices were higher at the start of trading with the aircrafts active and strong. Glenn Martin was in such demand that its opening was delayed. It first appeared on the tape in a block of 30,000 shares up 1⅛ at 24¾.

While the aircrafts were shooting up, the rest of the market was only mildly improved. It was in the early afternoon when the railroads started ahead.

Gains went to between 1 and 3 points in many key sections, and some aircrafts exceeded that range at times. Losses were small and scattered.

Marching ahead with the rails and aircrafts were the steels, motors, rubbers, radio-televisions, utilities, chemicals, electrical equipments, oils, airlines, and the motion pictures.

Keeping Up

They are all planning a reunion party to which Charlie Farrell and Tim McCoy will be added.

On Eddie Cantor's Colgate Comedy Hour TV show Sunday night, the finale will be a tribute to Jimmy McHugh, with Connie Russell singing "Sunny Side of the Street." It will be done in the best tradition of the Broadway Eddie and Jimmy know so well.

Elaine Stewart and Dr. Herman Platt, young Santa Monica physician, have discovered each other. They were introduced by one of Dr. Platt's patients.

The father of the Gabor sisters is reported very ill in Budapest, but the family cannot go to him behind the Iron Curtain.

Fans of William S. Hart, Charlie Ray, Florence Vidor and others of the silent screen era, will be seeing their favorites again on TV. The Hillman-Oakley TV organization bought the films from the Thomas Ince estate at a price of $100,000

ONLY YOU CAN SIGN OFF

MAYBE your partner considers a particular bid of his as a "sign-off," indicating the end of the line. That may be all well and good, as far as he is concerned. But not necessarily for you. If you have more strength than so far shown, it is incumbent on you to consider going higher. That applies just as definitely to a bid of 3-No Trumps, after the side had reached three of a suit, as to any other call. In such a situation, nobody can sign you off except yourself.

West	North	East	South
1 ♦	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	6 NT

You might find it hard to believe, but nearly half of the West players in a sizeable social duplicate game, among players of assorted skill, considered East's 3-No Trumps as a signoff, indicating that was as far as the bidding should go, so passed. It was indeed a signoff for East, who by then had shown the full strength of his hand. But it certainly should not have silenced West.

Where sounder players sat in the West position, it was realized that six tricks in diamonds plus one in clubs, in a No Trump contract, made that holding much better than the minimum strength already indicated. Also the heart K and club J might be very valuable. So they had a chance to make a most informative bid when they called 4-Clubs. First of all, that told East the diamonds were at least six cards in length and the clubs at least four, also that West had more strength than previously advertised, as he surely did, and was probing for a possible slam.

East welcomed the sound of the 4-Clubs and showed it by his 5-Clubs call. Since West had clearly shown only a four-carder in that suit, he knew his partner had four too. The 6-Clubs bid was then easy for West to make. In rubber bridge that should have been passed. But this was match-point tournament play, so East shifted to 6-No Trumps to eke out the slightly larger point total which might mean the difference between tying the top-scorers or being out-tallied by them.

39,040 Voters Now Registered In This County

Slight Increase Occurs In February

Registration activity this month is expected to boost the number of qualified voters decidedly. So far this month there have been 114 new registrants, 64 of them Republicans and 50 Democrats. The Republicans added in March included 35 men, all but one white, and 29 white women. All of the Democrats who have registered this month are white. Among them are 32 men and 18 women.

195 Independents

The 39,040 qualified to cast ballots as of March 1 include 38,590 white persons and 450 Negroes. By political parties they included 22,074 Republicans, 16,703 Democrats, 195 Independents, 23 Socialists and 45 members of other parties.

The Republicans include 11,394 men and 10,680 women, the Democrats included 8,640 men and 8,063 women, the independents 151 men and 44 women, the Socialists 15 men and eight women and those in other parties 29 men and 16 women.

Added during February were 35 Republicans, 16 Democrats and one independent. Among the new Republicans were 20 men and 15 women, the Democrats included 11 men and five women and the one independent was a man.

43 Stricken Off

Stricken off in February because of death were 29 Republicans (21 men and eight women) and 14 Democrats (nine men and five women). One other Republican man was taken off the books at his own request so he could register elsewhere in Maryland.

Besides the deletions the names of 70 voters were transferred from one precinct or election district to another, 13 others changed their names and 78 more changed their addresses from one place to another within the same precinct.

Citizens have until Saturday, May 29, to register in order to vote in the state and county primary elections June 28. They may register any week day at the Board of Election Supervisors' office at the Court House.

Labor Political Meeting Planned Here Tomorrow

Additional plans for taking an active part in all phases of the 1954 elections will be made at a meeting planned Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Rubber Workers Hall, under the sponsorship of Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference.

Edwin C. Hoffman, president of the conference representing AFL, CIO, Brotherhoods and independent unions of this area, will preside.

Special speakers are being secured for the meeting, officials said.

Labor's 1954 political drive here, according to Paul L. Burley, secretary, is to have three main objectives.

The first is to make sure that all citizens eligible to cast ballots are placed on the city and county registration rolls.

May 29 is the deadline for registration prior to the county primary election June 28, and May 11 is the deadline for registration to be eligible to vote in the city primary on June 1.

Special registration drives will be conducted in communities throughout the county as registrars begin touring the county on April 12.

The second part of the drive will be to endorse and support candidates in both the city and county elections. The conference at its last meeting urged State Senator Robert B. Kimble to seek re-election. Other endorsements, will be made in future meetings.

Climaxing the campaign will be "get out the vote" drives, at the precinct level, to secure the biggest vote cast in all of the elections.

Wheat Growers Get Compliance Advice

Wheat growers in Allegany County and elsewhere in Maryland who have overplanted their wheat acreage allotments may comply with the 1954 wheat allotment program by turning under for green manure, pasturing off or cutting for hay or silage their excess acreage by May 31, according to Albert O'Neal, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Wheat still standing after May 31 will be counted as "wheat" under the program and will be checked against the wheat acreage allotment of the farm. Wheat from any farm on which the wheat acreage allotment is exceeded will not be eligible for price support.

All of the "excess" wheat from the farm with a wheat allotment of more than 15 acres will be subject to 45 per cent of the wheat parity price as of May 1. Farmers with an acreage allotment of 15 acres or less may produce as much as 15 acres without incurring marketing penalties.

Business Lessons

Business Information Cited As Enlightenment To Public

Misinformation — or lack of information — is responsible for much of the anti-business attitudes held by people, declared a representative of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States last night.

This view was expressed by D. Fred Blackwell, manager of the Roanoke district of the national Chamber, in a talk to the Economics Discussion Group of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Blackwell was a guest at the 11th session of the group, which meets each Wednesday night in the conference room of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. The subject discussed last night was "Understanding the Economic System and Its Functions." The discussion leader was Walter N. Hedrick, assistant to the Amcelle plant manager of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Blackwell asserted that the remedy for widespread misunderstanding of business and industry lies in the dissemination of accurate information. He cited the results of various surveys to show that people's opinions change "when they get the facts."

One of these surveys involved 10,000 employes in seven different companies. After the survey was taken, the employes participated in a planned economic education program using the discussion technique.

Upon the completion of the program, a second survey was made to discover what changes, if any, had occurred in the opinions and attitudes of the employes.

The first question was "What would you say has done most to improve living standards in this country?"

On the first survey, 60 per cent of the employes said better tools and machines. "After a series of discussions in which they were given the facts about the part new and better tools play in making more things available to more people," said Blackwell, "89 per cent agreed that better tools and machines are primarily responsible for improving our living standards."

The second question was, "After a company has paid for materials, taxes and other costs, who would you say gets the largest share of the money that's left over?"

Seventy-five per cent thought employes received the greatest share. "But after they got the facts, 85 per cent agreed," said Blackwell. "Given the facts, employes will realize that stories of exorbitant profits are not true."

When first asked if they thought new and better machinery reduced the number of jobs, 47 per cent said "yes," but after proper explanation, only 21 per cent thought new machines put people out of work.

"The historical facts," said Blackwell, "show that new and better machinery increases employment, and result in greater productivity and upgrading of living standards."

At first, only 44 per cent of the employes felt that the best way to improve their standard of living was for everybody to produce more. "After greater productivity and its influence on costs, sales and wages were explained, 72 per cent felt that the best way to receive more is to produce more," Blackwell said.

Pointing to specific groups, Blackwell said that a majority of students hold views directly opposite to those of business. A student survey, for example, revealed that six out of ten students, when asked if a worker should produce all he can, answered "no." Fifty-six per cent of the senior students said that the way to raise living standards is to "get more of the company's income." Only 39 per cent of the seniors felt that keeping the profit incentive alive is essential to the American economic system.

Many farmers, surveys revealed, feel that they are caught in a squeeze between the low prices they get for food and the high prices they pay for goods and services. As a consequence, they feel

April Fool Joker Jumps Gun On Tip

An anonymous tipster jumped the gun on April Fool jokes yesterday afternoon, reporting a grim search was under way for a gorilla which had escaped from a circus train in the B & O yards.

Calling from a pay phone, he reported the animal was cornered near a South End establishment, and was defying the efforts of authorities to return it to its cage.

Both city and railroad authorities said they had heard nothing of the incident. Nobody volunteered to start searching.

Nobody seems to know just where the April Fool joke started, but it probably came over on the Mayflower too. An English almanac of 1706 said "The first day of April, some do say, is set apart for All Fool's Day."

In France, victims are called "April Fish" and in Scotland, "April gowks" or "April cookoos."

But an April ape is something else again.

Wandering Sea Gulls Pay Visit To Wills Creek

There wasn't any salt water within a hundred miles as the albatross flies, but there they were.

Sea gulls. On Wills Creek.

An attorney whose rear office window faces on the creek said he'd been watching the birds for an hour yesterday afternoon before deciding to say anything about it. He was afraid people would think he was playing an early April Fool joke.

He wasn't. A mother gull was roaming placidly around the creek, her brood of three little gulls frolicking behind her. Nobody was sure whether the family was lost or just sightseeing, but there they were. Having fun, too.

Firemen Answer Four Calls Here

Four calls, including two false alarms, were answered by city firemen early yesterday morning and afternoon.

At 12:39 a.m. coal gas which had accumulated in the furnace at the home of Fred Potts, 482 Baltimore Avenue, caused an explosion which blew off the coal and ash doors.

No other damage was reported. The call was answered by East Side firemen.

Two false alarms were answered within six minutes early yesterday morning. At 1:18 a.m. Box 63 was pulled at the corner of Virginia Avenue and Third Street, sending South End firemen to the scene.

The pumper and aerial ladder truck of Central Station reported to the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and Second Street when Box 64 was pulled at 1:24 a.m.

At 1:26 p.m. East Side answered a call at 11 Altamont Terrace when a furnace pipe fell off and filled the residence with smoke. No damage was reported.

Market Street Bridge Plans Are Progressing

Conference Is Held On Approach Grade

Plans for the proposed Market Street bridge are about 60 per cent complete, city officials were told yesterday.

The progress report was presented by J. W. Hughen, of the J. E. Greiner Company, which is designing replacements for the Valley, Market and Baltimore Street bridges across Wills Creek.

Hughen was here yesterday to confer with officials of the Queen City Brewery and the Gulf and Esso service stations in connection with a new grade which must be established on the Mechanic Street approach to the Market Street span.

The grade of the approach must be increased to meet minimum requirements set by the Corps of Engineers on clearance between the bed of Wills Creek and the bottom of the steel span.

Present plans call for beginning the construction of the Market Street bridge as soon as the new Valley Street span is opened for traffic early in 1955.

Construction of the Valley Street span was slated to get under way in February and be completed by November.

Negotiations for the last piece of property needed for the span are in the final stage and city officials hope to get the job under way next week.

The $280,777.65 contract was awarded to the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, which is awaiting the go-ahead signal.

Bowling Green Firemen To Get New Apparatus

The new fire truck for Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company is expected to be delivered by the Howe Fire Apparatus Company of Anderson, Ind., this June.

Three members of the department, Chief Calvin R. Ayers and Assistant Chiefs Allan Deffinabugh and Clayton Gillum, recently returned from the Indiana factory where they saw various parts of the new truck being constructed.

While there, they were guests of Thomas A. Karkalla, sales manager of the Pittsburgh area. The truck, according to Chief Ayers, is being built on a 454 GMC chassis.

Included in the equipment are a three-stage centrifugal 500-gallon-per-minute Class A pump, capable of delivering pressures up to 800 pounds per square inch; a 500-gallon booster tank; two top-mounted hose reels and two high-pressure fog guns.

The hose bed of the new truck is large enough for 1,.500 feet of 2½-inch hose and 500 feet of 1½-inch hose. The apparatus also has a portable pump compartment in the rear and two side compartments, among other equipment.

At present the volunteer fire company numbers about 68 members. Organized in July 1947, the company now has a one-story concrete block fire hall which houses its 1928 American LaFrance 500-gallon pumper and also has facilities for a social room for the members.

Drop In Excise Tax Reduces Train Fares

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad begins today to reduce passenger fares by five per cent as a result of a cut in federal excise taxes.

The lower rail fares apply on all B & O trains, and became effective at midnight.

The reduction results from a federal measure, signed yesterday by President Eisenhower, which cut the excise tax on rail transportation from 15 to 10 per cent.

In all cases, federal taxes are added to the basic rates.

Marriage Licenses Drop

The number of marriage licenses issued at the Allegany County Court House during March of this year totaled 180, which was a noticeable drop in comparison to the same period last year, when 206 licenses were issued.

College To Hold Conference On World Problems

Two-Day Meeting Set In Frostburg

A two-day Appalachian Intercollegiate Conference on world affairs, first gathering of its kind ever to be held in this area, will open April 30 at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Sponsored by the college International Relations Club, the program will include addresses by several nationally known speakers.

Students and faculty members from several colleges in the Eastern United States are expected to attend, and official representatives of at least three other nations will participate.

World Outlook Is Theme

Keyed to the theme, "A New Outlook on a U. N. World," the conference wil feature two opening-day addresses by Dr. Eddy Asirvatham of Madras, India.

Dr. Asirvatham, author of several books and a former professor at Boston University, will speak at a banquet in the college dining room at 6:15 p. m. Friday on "Free India's Attitude to the West." At 8 p. m., he will talk on "India's Place in Asia and a Free World." Open discussion of both talks will follow.

Foreign Officials To Attend

Highlights of the second day will be an "Ambassadors' Panel during the Saturday morning session, with representatives from the French, Turkish and Nationalist Chinese embassies taking part. A student seminar will follow.

The afternoon session will be devoted largely to a panel discussion by representatives of the United World Federalists, the AFL and CIO, and of the World University Service.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde have accepted invitations to attend.

Snow, Fog Continue To Harass Area

Rain, light snow flurries and fog continued to plague the area as winter weather made a last-ditch stand in the current cold snap, which is expected to be on hand again today and tonight.

Snow, turning to a misty rain, began falling yesterday evening throughout the area as the mercury registered in the low 30s. Motorists in some sections were harassed by fog in the mountains.

However the highways were reported to be clear but wet. State Police at Romney, W. Va., reported a light snow was falling and temperatures were about 38 degrees last night.

At Bedford, Pa., State Police said some rain and light snow were falling in the western portion, although roads were clear for travel.

Continued rain or snow and fog were forecast for the state during the early hours of this morning with a partial clearing and windy weather this afternoon and continued cold.

The official high temperature recorded here yesterday was 41 degrees with a low reading of 33 degrees, which was also noted at 7:30 p. m.

Humidity at 6 p. m. was 60 per cent, with a trace of light rain and snow.

Clinic Is Planned

The Health Department will hold a child hygiene conference today at 10 a.m. in Corriganville, and a pediatric clinic in City Hall today from 9 a.m. to noon.

Red Cross Campaign Will Be Extended

Fund Drive Falls Short Of Quota

Allegany County fell short of its $35,000 quota for the Red Cross as three divisions failed to reach their assigned quotas. Towns outside Cumberland also came up short.

The total raised by closing time last night in the month-long campaign is $32,128.13. This is $2,771.87 short of the county quota.

According to C. Walter Haschert Jr., general chairman, the drive will be extended a few days in an effort to make up the difference so that work of the chapter will not be curtailed during the next 12 months.

The total goal is a minimum needed for full operation of all Red Cross services, including continuation of the local blood bank program, direct relief, aid to servicemen, veterans and their families, and emergency assistance.

Advance Gifts High

The Advance Gifts section, headed by Matthew J. Mullaney, did a most outstanding job in the drive, Haschert commented. This group, with a limited number of contributors to approach, had a goal of $11,000. The goal was exceeded by $732.50 as Advance Gifts collected $11,732.50.

The Classified Section started out with a goal of $9,500. To date a total of $7,169.97 has been collected. The Classified Section for the campaign is made up of employe groups in all business and industry. Some of this section is to be surveyed and an effort made to reach the quota, which was reduced from last year's.

Some Reports Still Due

The worst loss was felt in the $1,000 goal assigned to clubs and organizations in the county. Some 200 organizations were asked to contribute a total of $1,000. To date, $471 has been received. Leaders in the drive point out that some of these may still mail checks as many groups meet only once each month and may not have met since letters asking for contributions were mailed.

The Women's Section, which is usually the first to meet its quota in most local drives, experienced some difficulty in the house-to-house solicitation of the city's 12,000 homes. The goal assigned was $6,500. The total reported was $6,053.54. Leaders said a couple of workers have not yet made their reports, so this quota has a slim chance of being met.

National firms, made up of all chain stores, had a goal of $1,000 and contributed a total of $1,045.50. This is considered an excellent showing since most national firms contribute to the Red Cross on a national basis, or are asked to contribute in every community where they have an operation. Thus, many of them pro-rate what they can budget for charity.

New Appeal Issued

In the county towns outside Cumberland, a goal of $6,000 was assigned by campaign leaders. On a

Daylight Saving Time Will Begin Here On April 25

Daylight Saving Time will go into effect in Cumberland on April 25, according to Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk.

Fast time will become effective here automatically as a result of a referendum passed by the citizens of Cumberland in 1952.

A similar referendum, approved by the voters of Allegany County in 1952, will make the observance uniform throughout the county.

Ullery said the law under which DST was established calls for fast time to begin at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of April, when clocks are advanced one hour, and to end at 1 a.m. on the last Sunday of September, when clocks are to be returned to Standard Time.

15,044 Auto Licenses Are Sold Here

The busiest place in town yesterday was the office of Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat in the Court House as some 1,100 motorists purchased their new Maryland auto license tags on the final day, topping the 1953 mark of 14,775 by 269.

Treat, who kept his office open two hours after the normal closing time of 4 p. m., reported that a number of late, late, comers arrived at the office to beat the midnight deadline after which the old tags were no longer valid.

He pointed out that since the sale of tags began on February 23, a total of 15,044 were purchased by motorists of Allegany County. During yesterday's sale, a steady stream of residents arrived at the Court House and jammed the corridor.

Treat pointed out that as of midnight yesterday it is illegal to display 1953-54 tags.

Vet Bonus Bill To Be Vetoed By Gov. McKeldin

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin said tonight he will veto the veterans bonus bill and the bill to postpone until 1956 increases in motor vehicle registration fees when they cross his desk tomorrow.

He also said he would sign a bill which for the first time puts ceilings on finance charges when motor vehicles are bought on time.

The three bills are among 32 which the governor hopes to clean up in his Baltimore office tomorrow. He already has signed 54 of the 86 acts of the 1954 Legislature into law.

McKeldin said he would veto the bill to delay increasing motor vehicle registration fees on the ground the loss in revenue would hamper the State's ambitious roads building program. Without his signature on the bill to delay the increase the higher fees will become effective next year.

He gave no reason why he plans to withhold his signature from the bonus measure which was botched up in passing the General Assembly.

Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins has said he will have by tomorrow an opinion on whether the bonus bill is legally proper.

McKeldin apparently isn't going to wait to find out. He said earlier this week he would veto the measure if Rollins held the bonus passed through questionable procedure.

Pair Sentenced In Theft; Will Face Grand Jury

Hines And Casteel Get 6-Month Terms

Two local men were sentenced to six-month terms in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in connection with the theft of a radio from a Homewood Addition home last week, and will be held without bond in the County Jail for action of the April grand jury on a number of other breaking-and-entering charges.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason imposed the sentences yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrates Court on Everett Lloyd Hines, 30, of 700-block Baker Street, and Frank Leroy Casteel, 32, of 300-block Cecelia Street, as a result of guilty pleas entered on the charge of taking the $80 radio from the home of Mrs. Thelma Lockard last week. The sentences will run from March 26, the date of the original hearing.

Asks Jury Trial

The state, represented by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya, asked a jury trial on the additional charges which were placed against the men as a result of an investigation conducted by county and city authorities.

Five warrants were issued by Magistrate Mason following sentencing on the radio theft charge.

Hines was charged with burglary — a felony — in connection with breaking-and-entering the home of Earl John Diehl, Braddock Farms, on March 15, and taking $140 in cash, two topcoats and a jacket valued at $100; with breaking into the pool room of William F. Leake, 526 Pine Avenue, the Betz beer parlor, 143 North Mechanic Street, and the tavern of Harry Young, Bedford Road.

Waive Hearing

Lilya told Magistrate Mason the men have signed statements in all of the charges.

The men waived a preliminary hearing, admitting the state had sufficient evidence to hold them for the grand jury. He said no bond was being set, since they are already under sentence, and will be held in the County Jail until the grand jury acts on the charges.

Mahoney, Dorsey Here Today To Open Campaign

George P. Mahoney, Baltimore, Democratic aspirant for governor of Maryland, and his running mate, Phillip H. Dorsey Jr., St. Mary's County attorney and candidate for attorney general, will visit Allegany County today and Garrett County tomorrow.

Mahoney advised local Democratic leaders and supporters yesterday that he expects to arrive here with Dorsey this morning and to meet as many people as they can during the day.

At 8 p.m. a reception will be held for all registered Democrats to meet Mahoney and Dorsey at Room 204, Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Dorsey is a former member of the Public Service Commission, a former member of the House of Delegates and a former state senator from St. Mary's County.

Mahoney, in letters to his leaders here, said he will be happy to welcome all the Democrats in the county to this reception and hopes that many will attend to meet his running mate who is making his first campaign trip to Western Maryland.

On Friday morning, the two candidates will leave early for Garrett County and expect to stop at Oakland, Grantsville, Deer Park, Mountain Lake, Friendsville, Accident, Kitzmiller and other areas, as time permits.

Mahoney also said this is the first of several planned visits to Western Maryland during the campaign.

Radio Amateurs To Meet Tonight

The Mountain Amateur Radio Club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the regular meeting room of the American Legion home on Harrison Street, Walter S. Gatrell, president announces.

A film, "Principles of the Vacuum Tube," will be shown by the C&P Telephone Company and a discussion of electronics will follow.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion led by Ralph Brown on construction of direction-finding antennae.

4-H Recreation Event Moved To Allegany

The annual recreation night for 4-H members of Allegany County slated at Fort Hill High School gymnasium Saturday at 7:30 p.m. will be held at Allegany High School, since the floor of the Fort Hill gym is being repaired.

Eugene Hopkins, assistant athletic director at Allegany High School, will be in charge and over 100 members are expected to attend.

Keeping Up

They are all planning a reunion party to which Charlie Farrell and Tim McCoy will be added.

On Eddie Cantor's Colgate Comedy Hour TV show Sunday night, the finale will be a tribute to Jimmy McHugh, with Connie Russell singing "Sunny Side of the Street." It will be done in the best tradition of the Broadway Eddie and Jimmy know so well.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Elaine Stewart and Dr. Herman Platt, young Santa Monica physician, have discovered each other. They were introduced by one of Dr. Platt's patients.

The father of the Gabor sisters is reported very ill in Budapest, but the family cannot go to him behind the Iron Curtain.

Fans of William S. Hart, Charlie Ray, Florence Vidor and others of the silent screen era, will be seeing their favorites again on TV. The Hillman-Oakley TV organization bought the films from the Thomas Ince estate at a price of $100,000.

Gloria Stewart is taking French lessons to be ready to parlez Francais when she and Jimmy go to Europe.

Margaret Ettinger's party for the Chrysler biggies of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. James Cope and the Al Scalpones, came on the rainiest night of the year. But all was gay and cheerful with the fireplaces going and such nice friends as Jane Wyman, Irene Dunne, Dorothy Lamour and the Bill Bendixes rallying round.

Got a wonderful diet recipe when I visited Elizabeth Arden's Main Chance in Phoenix—baked potato with cottage cheese and chives. It's very filling and non-fattening.

Dorothy Shay plus 18 Loper gowns and John O'Brien (her girl Friday) go to London April 21 for a five week singing engagement.

That's all today. See you tomorrow! (Copyright 1954 by INS)

39,040 Voters Now Registered In This County

Slight Increase Occurs In February

Allegany County had 39,040 registered voters as of March 1, the County Board of Election Supervisors reported yesterday, noting a slight upswing during February.

Registration activity this month is expected to boost the number of qualified voters decidedly. So far this month there have been 114 new registrants, 64 of them Republicans and 50 Democrats. The Republicans added in March included 35 men, all but one white, and 29 white women. All of the Democrats who have registered this month are white. Among them are 32 men and 18 women.

195 Independents

The 39,040 qualified to cast ballots as of March 1 include 38,590 white persons and 450 Negroes. By political parties they included 22,074 Republicans, 16,703 Democrats, 195 Independents, 23 Socialists and 45 members of other parties.

The Republicans include 11,394 men and 10,680 women, the Democrats included 8,640 men and 8,063 women, the independents 151 men and 44 women, the Socialists 15 men and eight women and those in other parties 29 men and 16 women.

Added during February were 35 Republicans, 16 Democrats and one independent. Among the new Republicans were 20 men and 15 women, the Democrats included 11 men and five women and the one independent was a man.

43 Stricken Off

Stricken off in February because of death were 29 Republicans (21 men and eight women) and 14 Democrats (nine men and five women). One other Republican man was taken off the books at his own request so he could register elsewhere in Maryland.

Besides the deletions the names of 70 voters were transferred from one precinct or election district to another, 13 others changed their names and 78 more changed their addresses from one place to another within the same precinct.

Citizens have until Saturday, May 29, to register in order to vote in the state and county primary elections June 28. They may register any week day at the Board of Election Supervisors' office at the Court House.

Labor Political Meeting Planned Here Tomorrow

Additional plans for taking an active part in all phases of the 1954 elections will be made at a meeting planned Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Rubber Workers Hall, under the sponsorship of Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference.

Edwin C. Hoffman, president of the conference representing AFL, CIO, Brotherhoods and independent unions of this area, will preside.

Special speakers are being secured for the meeting, officials said.

Labor's 1954 political drive here, according to Paul L. Burley, secretary, is to have three main objectives.

The first is to make sure that all citizens eligible to cast ballots are placed on the city and county registration rolls.

May 29 is the deadline for registration prior to the county primary election June 28, and May 11 is the deadline for registration to be eligible to vote in the city primary on June 1.

Special registration drives will be conducted in communities throughout the county as registrars begin touring the county on April 12.

The second part of the drive will be to endorse and support candidates in both the city and county elections. The conference at its last meeting urged State Senator Robert B. Kimble to seek re-election. Other endorsements, will be made in future meetings.

Climaxing the campaign will be "get out the vote" drives, at the precinct level, to secure the biggest vote cast in all of the elections.

Wheat Growers Get Compliance Advice

Wheat growers in Allegany County and elsewhere in Maryland who have overplanted their wheat acreage allotments may comply with the 1954 wheat allotment program by turning under for green manure, pasturing off or cutting for hay or silage their excess acreage by May 31, according to Albert O'Neal, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Wheat still standing after May 31 will be counted as "wheat" under the program and will be checked against the wheat acreage allotment of the farm. Wheat from any farm on which the wheat acreage allotment is exceeded will not be eligible for price support.

All of the "excess" wheat from the farm with a wheat allotment of more than 15 acres will be subject to 45 per cent of the wheat parity price as of May 1. Farmers with an acreage allotment of 15 acres or less may produce as much as 15 acres without incurring marketing penalties.

Business Lessons

Business Information Cited As Enlightenment To Public

Misinformation — or lack of information — is responsible for much of the anti-business attitudes held by people, declared a representative of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States last night.

This view was expressed by D. Fred Blackwell, manager of the Roanoke district of the national Chamber, in a talk to the Economics Discussion Group of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Blackwell was a guest at the 11th session of the group, which meets each Wednesday night in the conference room of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. The subject discussed last night was "Understanding the Economic System and Its Functions." The discussion leader was Walter N. Hedrick, assistant to the Amcelle plant manager of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Blackwell asserted that the remedy for widespread misunderstanding of business and industry lies in the dissemination of accurate information. He cited the results of various surveys to show that people's opinions change "when they get the facts."

One of these surveys involved 10,000 employes in seven different companies. After the survey was taken, the employes participated in a planned economic education program using the discussion technique.

Upon the completion of the program, a second survey was made to discover what changes, if any, had occurred in the opinions and attitudes of the employes.

The first question was "What would you say has done most to improve living standards in this country?"

On the first survey, 60 per cent of the employes said better tools and machines. "After a series of discussions in which they were given the facts about the part new and better tools play in making more things available to more people," said Blackwell, "89 per cent agreed that better tools and machines are primarily responsible for improving our living standards."

The second question was, "After a company has paid for materials, taxes and other costs, who would you say gets the largest share of the money that's left over?"

Seventy-five per cent thought employes received the greatest share. "But after they got the facts, 85 per cent agreed," said Blackwell. "Given the facts, employes will realize that stories of exorbitant profits are not true."

When first asked if they thought new and better machinery reduced the number of jobs, 47 per cent said "yes," but after proper explanation, only 21 per cent thought new machines put people out of work.

"The historical facts," said Blackwell, "show that new and better machinery increases employment, and result in greater productivity and upgrading of living standards."

At first, only 44 per cent of the employes felt that the best way to improve their standard of living was for everybody to produce more. "After greater productivity and its influence on costs, sales and wages were explained, 72 per cent felt that the best way to receive more is to produce more," Blackwell said.

Pointing to specific groups, Blackwell said that a majority of students hold views directly opposite to those of business. A student survey, for example, revealed that six out of ten students, when asked if a worker should produce all he can, answered "no." Fifty-six per cent of the senior students said that the way to raise living standards is to "get more of the company's income." Only 39 per cent of the seniors felt that keeping the profit incentive alive is essential to the American economic system.

Many farmers, surveys revealed, feel that they are caught in a squeeze between the low prices they get for food and the high prices they pay for goods and services. As a consequence, they feel

April Fool Joker Jumps Gun On Tip

An anonymous tipster jumped the gun on April Fool jokes yesterday afternoon, reporting a grim search was under way for a gorilla which had escaped from a circus train in the B & O yards.

Calling from a pay phone, he reported the animal was cornered near a South End establishment, and was defying the efforts of authorities to return it to its cage.

Both city and railroad authorities said they had heard nothing of the incident. Nobody volunteered to start searching.

Nobody seems to know just where the April Fool joke started, but it probably came over on the Mayflower too. An English almanac of 1706 said "The first day of April, some do say, is set apart for All Fool's Day."

In France, victims are called "April Fish" and in Scotland, "April gowks" or "April cookoos."

But an April ape is something else again.

Wandering Sea Gulls Pay Visit To Wills Creek

There wasn't any salt water within a hundred miles as the albatross flies, but there they were.

Sea gulls. On Wills Creek.

An attorney whose rear office window faces on the creek said he'd been watching the birds for an hour yesterday afternoon before deciding to say anything about it. He was afraid people would think he was playing an early April Fool joke.

He wasn't. A mother gull was roaming placidly around the creek, her brood of three little gulls frolicking behind her. Nobody was sure whether the family was lost or just sightseeing, but there they were. Having fun, too.

Firemen Answer Four Calls Here

Four calls, including two false alarms, were answered by city firemen early yesterday morning and afternoon.

At 12:39 a.m. coal gas which had accumulated in the furnace at the home of Fred Potts, 482 Baltimore Avenue, caused an explosion which blew off the coal and ash doors.

No other damage was reported. The call was answered by East Side firemen.

Two false alarms were answered within six minutes early yesterday morning. At 1:18 a.m. Box 63 was pulled at the corner of Virginia Avenue and Third Street, sending South End firemen to the scene.

The pumper and aerial ladder truck of Central Station reported to the corner of Pennsylvania Avenue and Second Street when Box 64 was pulled at 1:24 a.m.

At 1:26 p.m. East Side answered a call at 11 Altamont Terrace when a furnace pipe fell off and filled the residence with smoke. No damage was reported.

Market Street Bridge Plans Are Progressing

Conference Is Held On Approach Grade

Plans for the proposed Market Street bridge are about 60 per cent complete, city officials were told yesterday.

The progress report was presented by J. W. Hughen, of the J. E. Greiner Company, which is designing replacements for the Valley, Market and Baltimore Street bridges across Wills Creek.

Hughen was here yesterday to confer with officials of the Queen City Brewery and the Gulf and Esso service stations in connection with a new grade which must be established on the Mechanic Street approach to the Market Street span.

The grade of the approach must be increased to meet minimum requirements set by the Corps of Engineers on clearance between the bed of Wills Creek and the bottom of the steel span.

Present plans call for beginning the construction of the Market Street bridge as soon as the new Valley Street span is opened for traffic early in 1955.

Construction of the Valley Street span was slated to get under way in February and be completed by November.

Negotiations for the last piece of property needed for the span are in the final stage and city officials hope to get the job under way next week.

The $280,777.65 contract was awarded to the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, which is awaiting the go-ahead signal.

Bowling Green Firemen To Get New Apparatus

The new fire truck for Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company is expected to be delivered by the Howe Fire Apparatus Company of Anderson, Ind., this June.

Three members of the department, Chief Calvin R. Ayers and Assistant Chiefs Allan Deffinabugh and Clayton Gillum, recently returned from the Indiana factory where they saw various parts of the new truck being constructed.

While there, they were guests of Thomas A. Karkalla, sales manager of the Pittsburgh area. The truck, according to Chief Ayers, is being built on a 454 GMC chassis.

Included in the equipment are a three-stage centrifugal 500-gallon-per-minute Class A pump, capable of delivering pressures up to 800 pounds per square inch; a 500-gallon booster tank; two top-mounted hose reels and two high-pressure fog guns.

The hose bed of the new truck is large enough for 1,500 feet of 2½-inch hose and 500 feet of 1½-inch hose. The apparatus also has a portable pump compartment in the rear and two side compartments, among other equipment.

At present the volunteer fire company numbers about 68 members. Organized in July 1947, the company now has a one-story concrete block fire hall which houses its 1928 American LaFrance 500-gallon pumper and also has facilities for a social room for the members.

Drop In Excise Tax Reduces Train Fares

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad begins today to reduce passenger fares by five per cent as a result of a cut in federal excise taxes.

The lower rail fares apply on all B & O trains, and became effective at midnight.

The reduction results from a federal measure, signed yesterday by President Eisenhower, which cut the excise tax on rail transportation from 15 to 10 per cent.

In all cases, federal taxes are added to the basic rates.

Marriage Licenses Drop

The number of marriage licenses issued at the Allegany County Court House during March of this year totaled 180, which was a noticeable drop in comparison to the same period last year, when 206 licenses were issued.

College To Hold Conference On World Problems

Two-Day Meeting Set In Frostburg

A two-day Appalachian Intercollegiate Conference on world affairs, first gathering of its kind ever to be held in this area, will open April 30 at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Sponsored by the college International Relations Club, the program will include addresses by several nationally known speakers.

Students and faculty members from several colleges in the Eastern United States are expected to attend, and official representatives of at least three other nations will participate.

World Outlook Is Theme

Keyed to the theme, "A New Outlook on a U. N. World," the conference wil feature two opening-day addresses by Dr. Eddy Asirvatham of Madras, India.

Dr. Asirvatham, author of several books and a former professor at Boston University, will speak at a banquet in the college dining room at 6:15 p. m. Friday on "Free India's Attitude to the West." At 8 p. m., he will talk on "India's Place in Asia and a Free World." Open discussion of both talks will follow.

Foreign Officials To Attend

Highlights of the second day will be an "Ambassadors' Panel during the Saturday morning session, with representatives from the French, Turkish and Nationalist Chinese embassies taking part. A student seminar will follow.

The afternoon session will be devoted largely to a panel discussion by representatives of the United World Federalists, the AFL and CIO, and of the World University Service.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde have accepted invitations to attend.

Snow, Fog Continue To Harass Area

Rain, light snow flurries and fog continued to plague the area as winter weather made a last-ditch stand in the current cold snap, which is expected to be on hand again today and tonight.

Snow, turning to a misty rain, began falling yesterday evening throughout the area as the mercury registered in the low 30s. Motorists in some sections were harassed by fog in the mountains.

However the highways were reported to be clear but wet. State Police at Romney, W. Va., reported a light snow was falling and temperatures were about 38 degrees last night.

At Bedford, Pa., State Police said some rain and light snow were falling in the western portion, although roads were clear for travel.

Continued rain or snow and fog were forecast for the state during the early hours of this morning with a partial clearing and windy weather this afternoon and continued cold.

The official high temperature recorded here yesterday was 41 degrees with a low reading of 33 degrees, which was also noted at 7:30 p. m.

Humidity at 6 p. m. was 60 per cent, with a trace of light rain and snow.

Clinic Is Planned

The Health Department will hold a child hygiene conference today at 10 a.m. in Corriganville, and a pediatric clinic in City Hall today from 9 a.m. to noon.

Red Cross Campaign Will Be Extended

Fund Drive Falls Short Of Quota

Allegany County fell short of its $35,000 quota for the Red Cross as three divisions failed to reach their assigned quotas. Towns outside Cumberland also came up short.

The total raised by closing time last night in the month-long campaign is $32,128.13. This is $2,771.87 short of the county quota.

According to C. Walter Haschert Jr., general chairman, the drive will be extended a few days in an effort to make up the difference so that work of the chapter will not be curtailed during the next 12 months.

The total goal is a minimum needed for full operation of all Red Cross services, including continuation of the local blood bank program, direct relief, aid to servicemen, veterans and their families, and emergency assistance.

Advance Gifts High

The Advance Gifts section, headed by Matthew J. Mullaney, did a most outstanding job in the drive, Haschert commented. This group, with a limited number of contributors to approach, had a goal of $11,000. The goal was exceeded by $732.50 as Advance Gifts collected $11,732.50.

The Classified Section started out with a goal of $9,500. To date a total of $7,169.97 has been collected. The Classified Section for the campaign is made up of employe groups in all business and industry. Some of this section is to be surveyed and an effort made to reach the quota, which was reduced from last year's.

Some Reports Still Due

The worst loss was felt in the $1,000 goal assigned to clubs and organizations in the county. Some 200 organizations were asked to contribute a total of $1,000. To date, $471 has been received. Leaders in the drive point out that some of these may still mail checks as many groups meet only once each month and may not have met since letters asking for contributions were mailed.

The Women's Section, which is usually the first to meet its quota in most local drives, experienced some difficulty in the house-to-house solicitation of the city's 12,000 homes. The goal assigned was $6,500. The total reported was $6,053.54. Leaders said a couple of workers have not yet made their reports, so this quota has a slim chance of being met.

National firms, made up of all chain stores, had a goal of $1,000 and contributed a total of $1,045.50. This is considered an excellent showing since most national firms contribute to the Red Cross on a national basis, or are asked to contribute in every community where they have an operation. Thus, many of them pro-rate what they can budget for charity.

New Appeal Issued

In the county towns outside Cumberland, a goal of $6,000 was assigned by campaign leaders. On a

Daylight Saving Time Will Begin Here On April 25

Daylight Saving Time will go into effect in Cumberland on April 25, according to Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk.

Fast time will become effective here automatically as a result of a referendum passed by the citizens of Cumberland in 1952.

A similar referendum, approved by the voters of Allegany County in 1952, will make the observance uniform throughout the county.

Ullery said the law under which DST was established calls for fast time to begin at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of April, when clocks are advanced one hour, and to end at 1 a.m. on the last Sunday of September, when clocks are to be returned to Standard Time.

15,044 Auto Licenses Are Sold Here

The busiest place in town yesterday was the office of Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat in the Court House as some 1,100 motorists purchased their new Maryland auto license tags on the final day, topping the 1953 mark of 14,775 by 269.

Treat, who kept his office open two hours after the normal closing time of 4 p. m., reported that a number of late, late, comers arrived at the office to beat the midnight deadline after which the old tags were no longer valid.

He pointed out that since the sale of tags began on February 23, a total of 15,044 were purchased by motorists of Allegany County. During yesterday's sale, a steady stream of residents arrived at the Court House and jammed the corridor.

Treat pointed out that as of midnight yesterday it is illegal to display 1953-54 tags.

Vet Bonus Bill To Be Vetoed By Gov. McKeldin

BALTIMORE, March 31 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin said tonight he will veto the veterans bonus bill and the bill to postpone until 1956 increases in motor vehicle registration fees when they cross his desk tomorrow.

He also said he would sign a bill which for the first time puts ceilings on finance charges when motor vehicles are bought on time.

The three bills are among 32 which the governor hopes to clean up in his Baltimore office tomorrow. He already has signed 54 of the 86 acts of the 1954 Legislature into law.

McKeldin said he would veto the bill to delay increasing motor vehicle registration fees on the ground the loss in revenue would hamper the State's ambitious roads building program. Without his signature on the bill to delay the increase the higher fees will become effective next year.

He gave no reason why he plans to withhold his signature from the bonus measure which was botched up in passing the General Assembly.

Atty. Gen. Edward D. E. Rollins has said he will have by tomorrow an opinion on whether the bonus bill is legally proper.

McKeldin apparently isn't going to wait to find out. He said earlier this week he would veto the measure if Rollins held the bonus passed through questionable procedure.

Pair Sentenced In Theft; Will Face Grand Jury

Hines And Casteel Get 6-Month Terms

Two local men were sentenced to six-month terms in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in connection with the theft of a radio from a Homewood Addition home last week, and will be held without bond in the County Jail for action of the April grand jury on a number of other breaking-and-entering charges.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason imposed the sentences yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrates Court on Everett Lloyd Hines, 30, of 700-block Baker Street, and Frank Leroy Casteel, 32, of 300-block Cecelia Street, as a result of guilty pleas entered on the charge of taking the $80 radio from the home of Mrs. Thelma Lockard last week. The sentences will run from March 26, the date of the original hearing.

Asks Jury Trial

The state, represented by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya, asked a jury trial on the additional charges which were placed against the men as a result of an investigation conducted by county and city authorities.

Five warrants were issued by Magistrate Mason following sentencing on the radio theft charge.

Hines was charged with burglary — a felony — in connection with breaking-and-entering the home of Earl John Diehl, Braddock Farms, on March 15, and taking $140 in cash, two topcoats and a jacket valued at $100; with breaking into the pool room of William F. Leake, 526 Pine Avenue, the Betz beer parlor, 143 North Mechanic Street, and the tavern of Harry Young, Bedford Road.

Waive Hearing

Casteel was charged with breaking-and-entering the Leake pool room and the Young tavern.

Lilya told Magistrate Mason the men have signed statements in all of the charges.

The men waived a preliminary hearing, admitting the state had sufficient evidence to hold them for the grand jury. He said no bond was being set, since they are already under sentence, and will be held in the County Jail until the grand jury acts on the charges.

Mahoney, Dorsey Here Today To Open Campaign

George P. Mahoney, Baltimore, Democratic aspirant for governor of Maryland, and his running mate, Phillip H. Dorsey Jr., St. Mary's County attorney and candidate for attorney general, will visit Allegany County today and Garrett County tomorrow.

Mahoney advised local Democratic leaders and supporters yesterday that he expects to arrive here with Dorsey this morning and to meet as many people as they can during the day.

At 8 p.m. a reception will be held for all registered Democrats to meet Mahoney and Dorsey at Room 204, Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Dorsey is a former member of the Public Service Commission, a former member of the House of Delegates and a former state senator from St. Mary's County.

Mahoney, in letters to his leaders here, said he will be happy to welcome all the Democrats in the county to this reception and hopes that many will attend to meet his running mate who is making his first campaign trip to Western Maryland.

On Friday morning, the two candidates will leave early for Garrett County and expect to stop at Oakland, Grantsville, Deer Park, Mountain Lake, Friendsville, Accident, Kitzmiller and other areas, as time permits.

Mahoney also said this is the first of several planned visits to Western Maryland during the campaign.

Radio Amateurs To Meet Tonight

The Mountain Amateur Radio Club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the regular meeting room of the American Legion home on Harrison Street, Walter S. Gatrell, president announces.

A film, "Principles of the Vacuum Tube," will be shown by the C&P Telephone Company and a discussion of electronics will follow.

Also on the agenda will be a discussion led by Ralph Brown on construction of direction-finding antennae.

4-H Recreation Event Moved To Allegany

The annual recreation night for 4-H members of Allegany County slated at Fort Hill High School gymnasium Saturday at 7:30 p.m. will be held at Allegany High School, since the floor of the Fort Hill gym is being repaired.

Eugene Hopkins, assistant athletic director at Allegany High School, will be in charge and over 100 members are expected to attend.
